THE HISTORY

OFTHE

University of CAMBRIDGE.

AVING treated of the County of Cambridge, &c. in a former work, I shall now proceed to give my readers an account of that famous UNIVERSITY, which is equaled by none in Europe, except it be by her Sister Oxford; and, even of ber, she has the seniority by 265 years.

Her first original is said to be about A. D. 536, when one Cantabers a Spaniard, was a governor under Arthur, king of the South Britains. He fortified it with a strong castle (the ruins of which are still to be found at the south end of Grandchester) some say he fortified it with two castles, and walled it round also. Afterwards he procured Philistophers from Athens (where in his youth he had been a student) and placed them therein, by whose great care and diligence, it was shortly after much noted for learned men: But this place was so ruined by the invasions and barbarities of the Sixons, that it soon became (what it still remains) a small village, called by its ancient name Grantcester or Granchester. But near to the former, and on the opposite bank of the river, out of the ruins thereof (under the Saxon kings) arose another large town called Grantbridge; where king Sigebert, by the advice of Felix a Burgundian, then bishop of Dunwich, erected a school, about the year of our Lord 630; and from that time it slourished in peace, till A. D. 876; when part of the Danish army remained here a whole year, and supplied the place of the students, who then sled.

Observations on the University of CAMBRIDGE.

In order to form a just idea of an University, I apprehend it necessary to observe, that the term University is a derivative of the Latin word Universitas, which is a noun collective, applied to an assemblage of several colleges, halls, &c. established under one government, in a certain place, and set apart for the instruction of students in the several sciences, under learned professors, and to confer degrees, or to grant certificates of study or proficiency in the different faculties; by which the graduates of everyUniversity, arere ceived with that honour, in every place, as they have acquired amongst their own body: Yet it may be observed, that this does not entitle any one to the privileges appertaining to such a graduate, in another University, till he is admitted ad eundem. Hence also we may collect the reason of this appellation, University, which may be properly called a universal school, not only by reason of divinity, medicine, law, arts and sciences, which faculties are taught therein, and are supposed to include the whole compass of study; but also, because the students, who proceed in the degrees of one of those nurseries of learning are honoured throughout the whole world.

These communities, as now established, consist partly of ecclesiastics or clergymen, and partly of laymen. And the Greece was samous for its Albens, and other nations boasted of their schools of the Prophets and Philosophers in the world; I am warranted by the authority of pure history, to give the university of Cambridge the preference, to all others, at least, to all foreign Universities, of the modern establiment.

For Paris, that claims the precedency, is at the most, no older than the reign of Charlemagn, and sounded by sour disciples of venerable Bede, who, in the year of our Lord 689, by the consent of the clergy and prelates of the kingdom, was, for his many learned disputations against the heathens, raised to the chair of the Elders, with the mantle of honour, and cap of dignity, in the university of Cambridge, after the manner of the Albenians. To which, if we add the letter of the renowned Alcuinus, to the scholars of this University, where he had been educated; it will both point out it's antiquity, and recommend a diligent improvement of our time in a collegiate life.

ALCUINUS to the CAMBRIDGE Schalors;

To the discreet heirs of Christ, the Scholars of the unspotted Mother Cambridge, ALCUINUS, by life a Sinner, greeting; and glorying in the Virtues of Learning.

Forasmuch as ignorance is the mother of error, "I earnest y entreat, that Youths among you, be " used to be present, at the praises of the Supreme 66 ling; not to unearth Foxes, or to hunt Hares; " let them now learn the holy Scriptures, having obtained knowledge of the Science of Truth, to " the end, that in their p reect age they may teach others. But no one will question Cambridge's being the seat of the learned in the reign of king Alfred, the Solomon of the Saxon-line. And at the Norman invasion, it was become so famous, that the Conqueror committed the instruction of his youngest son, afterwards king Henry I. to the governors of this learned body, who improved so much under his Cambridge tutors, that he ever after obtained the additional name of Beauclerk, or the learned student.

Yet do I not pretend to affert, nor do I believe, that Cambridge-University was then endowed, or that it was under the same regulation, or that its members were as yet settled in a collegiate way, or distinguished by those particular habits, as they now enjoy. In aftertimes, some encouragers of learning built houses to live in society, only each to be at his own charges, as now is seen and practiced in the inns of court in Landon: and these houses were therefore called called inns; tho' now they are known only by the name of Halls. At length the Monks, and different orders of Friars, finding their account in planting fome of their young branches, in this learned foil; procured ample foundations for their maintenance in diet, apparel, &c. as well as lodging. And this proved fo great an encouragement of learning, that in a fhort time all the other Inns or Halls were also plentifully endowed by the lovers of knowledge. Upon this, these houses were called colleges.

Nevertheless, if we may be determined by the Statutes of the University, there were some Provosts and Scholars maintained on their own lands and revenues before the name of College prevailed; and these Students took scholastic degrees in each faculty, and went thro' all offices and dignities in it, as if they had been of the same Academic-Body; in the same manner, I suppose as practised in the Dutch, and some other foreign Universities.

The Colleges and Halls, as now established, entertain three forts of Students: the first fort are the greater Pensioners, commonly called Lellow-Commoners, who are most commonly Gentlemen of Quarlity, or at least large fortunes. The second fort are lesser Pensioners, who are dieted as scholars, but both of them live at their own expences. The third fort are Sizars, poor-scholars, or servitors, who may receive some inconsiderable matter from their friends, or exhibitions less for that purpose; but are chiefly maintained at the charge of the soundation, and by the benevolence of the richer fort of their fellow-collegians.

The Students according to their flandings, and their proficiency in learning, are intituled to the Degrees of Bachelor and Valter of Art., Bachelor and Dosor in Divinity, Physic and Law. The time required by the Statutes for studying in the University, before they can be qualified for taking the said degrees, is four years for a Backelor of Arts, and three more for a Master of Arts; seven years after that he may commence Backelor of Divinity, and then seven years more are required to take the degree of Dostor in Divinity. But in Law and Physic, you may commence Backelor after sive years study, and Dostor, after the end of sive years more.

The proper times in this University for confering these Degrees, are called the Commencement, on the sirst Tuesday in July, when the Masters of Arts, and Dostors of all faculties, compleat their Degrees respectively, and the whole time of Lent, in which the Backelors of Arts compleat theirs, (if found qualified) beginning on Ash-Wednesday. Which occasions are always attended, with a pretty deal of charge, and much folemnity.

Every one of these degrees have their particular distinction of dress, which intitle those that wear them to certain privileges, precedencies, &c. The Bachelor, which is the first Degree taken in this and every other Univ. rsity, is derived from BACCHA LAURI; because these students are looked upon as budding flowers of the University, to which they belong, as the small PILLULE or BACCHA of the Laurel, indicate the flowering of that tree, which has been fo generally used in the crowns of those that have deserved well both of the military state, and of the republic of learning. As for the degree of Master and Dottor, this fignification wants no illustration. But I must observe, that the beginning of these honourable rewards and badges of our studies, do no where appear amongst authors, being, as I believe, as ancient as learning itself. Nor will it be an easy task to afcertain the original appointment of the feveral veral forts of dress, which have from time to time been appropriated to each degree. I am of opinion, that Academical, or graduate habits of Universities. are much more ancient than those used by Monastic orders; yet, at the same time, it must be allowed, that the present set of Academical-habits, are much altered from those worn by the Greeks, Romans, or ancient Jews, or by the Magi in Persia, or by the Druids in our own Nation. Nor was it possible for them almost to escape the general alteration, which was made by the long dominion of the Monks, Friars, and Can'n-Regulars, over the minds, persons and constitutions of this land. Thus it is we see an Undergraduate, in the gown of a novice of the Friars-Preachers; the Masters of Arts in the habit of a Canon-Regular of St. Agustine, a Doctor of Divinity, nearly approaching to the dress of a Benedictine Monk. The cap is exactly borrowed from the faid Canons; and the colour of all those habits that are not black, and the shape of the hoods belonging to the several degrees, are only small variations from the dress; and the large Coul, which, to this day some of the Monastics wear, more for ornament than for use. But in this thing we are very happy, we use these distinctions as the most pure ages have set us an example, for the well ordering the body politic, and not superstitiously to persuade the people they contain any merit in themselves, or convey any virtue or grace. Some badges of honour and ornament of learning have always been allowed of, amongst the most conscientious: and as the present habits of our graduates ferve only to convey an immediate idea of their standing in the University upon fight, they are not to be confidered evil in themselves, nor as conveying any of those superstitions, which the Reformation has banished from our Universities.

Being now speaking of the University Degrees, I could not omit adding in this place, a remark out of Dr. Knight's life of Dean Colet, p. 121. To set the matter of Po t-Laureat in a true light, (most people being at a loss in that point;) as it will alto shew the great regard had formerly to these Studies by the University, whose Students took their Degrees in Rhetoric and Grammar. In the beginning of the year 1513 (fays Wood) an eminent Grammarian, supplicated the venerable Congregation of Regents, under the name and title of Robert Whytington, a fecular Chaplain, and a Scholar of the Art of Rheteric; that whereas he had spent 14 years in the study of the said Art, &c. he thought it su cient for him to be Laureated. Which petition being granted he was fafter he had composed 100 verses, which were stuck up on the door of St. aris-church, and other public places) very folemnly crowned, or his Temples adorned with a wreath of Laurel, that is Doctorated in the Arts of Rhetoric and Grammar.

The Unite fity is a corporation in itself, and governed by a Chanceller, which (till the year 1504) was chosen annually; but from that time (the Unitersity finding it both troublesome and chargeable to chuse one yearly) he was chosen for life. He has under him a commissary, who holds a court of record of civil causes for all privileged persons, and scholars under the degree of Master of Arts; and in this court, all causes are tried and determined by the Civil and Statute Laws, and by the customs of the University. The next Officer is the High-Steward; he is chosen by the Senate, for life; the sometimes (as in the year 1749) he is made Chancellor, and holds his office by patent from the University. There is also a Vice-Chancellor, who is sworn into his Office by the Proctors, and is always the head of some College, and is annually chose on the 4th of November, by the body of the University, out of two perfons returned by the heads of Colleges. He is a justice of the peace for town and country, and sometimes visits the taverns and other public places perfonally; but that is more properly the business of the next Officers, who are called Proctors. are two Proctors chose annually on the 10th of Oct. who must be Masters of Arts, and in Orders; whose office empowers them to punish offending scholars, to appoint them exercises, either for their punishment for small offences, or for not keeping their acts, before they take a degree; to fine public-houses for harbouring scholars after eight at night in winter, and nine in fummer; and also to feek for, and apprehend lewd Women, to carry them before the Vice-Chancellor, and from thence (if not acquitted by him) to Bridewell; they also, with two other Officers, called Taxers, chosen at the same time, are Clerks of the Market; and have cognizance of weights and measures.

All these Officers, with several other inserior ones, are regulated in the execution of their Office by the special grants, at sundry times given the University, by our Kings; as you will find in the following part of this work.

The University, as being a Corporation, sends two Members to Parliament, who at present are, the Hon. Edward Finch, and the Hon. Thomas Townshend, Esqrs.

There are certain days in the Univerfity, called Scarlet-days, on which all Doctors wear their Scarlet Robes; which are those in the following Catalogue.

Eafter-Day.
Twenty-ninth of May.
Ascension-Day.

Whitfunday. Trinity-Sunday.

Commencement-Sunday.

The King's Accession.

Proclamation of Midsummer and Sturbridge Fairs.

Michaelmas-Day.

All-Saints.

Fifth of November.

Christmas-Day.

Thanksgivings for Peace.

Their Terms begin, divide, and end, thus; Lent-Term begins January the 13th, (unless it be Sunday, then next day) division uncertain, ends the Friday before Palm-Sunday.

Easter-Term begins the Wednesday se'nnight after Easter, division uncertain, and ends the Friday after the Commencement.

October-Term begins October the 10th, divides November the 13th, and ends December the 16th. But whether these days will be altered, by reason of the regulation of the style, I must leave that learned body to determine.

I shall next describe the public buildings of the University: And first, the Senate-house, situate near the middle of the Town, which forms the North-side of an intended Quadrangle, as the Schools and public Library do the West-side. On the South another building is designed of the like form to the said Senate-house, and directly opposite to it, in which are to be the Consistory and Register's Office, and over them the Printing-House; and St. Mary's Church makes the East-side of the Quadrangle. The Senate-house is a very elegant and magnificent building; in length 100 soot, breadth 43, and 33 high: the galleries and wainscot with which it is ornamented are of Norway Oak, and beautifully carved: the gallery it supported by sluted pillars, and the cicling adorned with Stucko-work. There is a fine statue of King GEORGE I, in the middle of the North-side, and on the South-side opposite to it, is another statute of Gloria, given the University by Peter Burrel, Esq; Fellow-Commoner of St. John's College, Anno 1748.

The Vice Chancellor's Chair is at the West-end fronting the entrance, having semi-circular seats on the right and left hand of it for the heads, Noblemen, and Doctors: Below them sit the Regents, or White-hoods, and at the East the Non-Regents, or Black-hoods: Near the right side of the Vice-Chancellor's chair, is a robing-room for the Doctors, and, on the left, a stair case to ascend the gallery; and at the East-end, are two other stair-cases to ascend the same gallery, which will contain 1100 people; and here persons of distinction are admitted with the Scholars, or Undergraduates, when degrees are conferred at the Commencement by the Vice-Chancellor, and on other public occasions.

The foundation of the Senate-house was begun fune 22, 1722, and the Vice-Chancellor Dr. Cross, laid the foundation thereof in four stones, the sirst in honour of the King, the second of the Prince, the third of our Chancellor, and the fourth of our Benefactors.

The Undergraduates were fo troublesome to the Workmen in finishing the inside work of the Theatre, as to cause the following Advertisement to be published.

Whereas complaint has been made of numbers of Scholars going into the New Senate-house to the very great hindrance of the work for the public Com nencement, I do hereby strictly charge and forbid all Scholars from going there, and if any presume to the contrary, be shall upon notice be punish'd for contempt and violation of this Order.

June 18, 1730.

R. LAMBERT, Vice-Chancellor.

It is built of white Portland-stone, adorned with Pilasters, between the double rows of Sash-windows; the Chapiters whereof are curiously carved, and a stone Balustrade surrounds the top of it: In the middle of the grand front towards the South, is a magnificent door and pediment supported by four fluted pillars, the chapiters beautifully carved: At the East end is another gand door and pediment supported by the like number of fluted pillars, which is the usual entrance at present; the whole being a finish'd piece within and without, and allowed by all good judges, one of the most elegant rooms in the kingdom.

All graces intended to be proposed to the Senate, must first pass the Caput, consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, and five others at least, viz. One Doctor of Divinity, One Doctor of Law, One Doctor of Physic, a Master of Arts of the Regent, and a Master of Arts of the Non-Regents, who are appointed yearly to confider and determine what graces are proper to be brought before the Body of the Univerfity; and every one of the Caput have a negative voice.

On the 3d of November the Vice-Chancellor lays down his Office, and the Proctors take his place till a new one is chosen, which is usually the day following.

II. The public Schools, which were begun to be built A. D. 1443, where they now stand, and at the charge charge of the Uuniversity, and the following benefactors; and the several parts each erected, take in the following order, viz.

1. The west-side of the court, opposite the entrance, was built by the whole University: Containing below, the Philosophy, (commonly called the Bachelor's: Above, the Physic and Law schools.

2. The north-side, on the right hand as you enter the said court, was erected at the charge of Sir William Thorpe, a Lincolnshire knight: Containing below the Divinity schools; above, the Regent, and Non-Regent houses, which was thought to contain something of Chapel character, and said formerly to have been consecrated as such, and used as a place of worship on particular occasions.

3. The fouth-fide facing King's-Chapel, was built by Lawrence Booth, Bishop of Durham, Chancellor of the University, at the charge of graduates and others, as you'll see presently: Containing below, the Logic-schools, where in Term time were held daily disputations: Above the Greek-schools.

A. The east-side, or the front next the Regent-walk, where we enter by a beautiful porch or portico, built A. D. 1475, by Rotheram, Archbishop of York; ornamented with the arms of the several Colleges, and that of the University: Containing below on the right hand as you enter, a room where the Doctors Robe themselves; on the left the Consistory, where the Vice-Chancellor keeps his Courts: Above, a Fair Library.

This was the ancient state of that building, till the aforesaid Senate-house or Theatre was similarly, where are kept many of the forementioned and other exercises: So that now the whole upper part of the said schools is one entire room, and used for the Public-Library of the University, and is allowed at this day to be exceeded by sew (if any) in Europe, both as to MSS. printed Books, and other Curiosities; the east and south sides, called the old Library were handsomely classed by John Woollaston, Alderman of London, and the north and west-sides called the Royal Library, so called from its Royal Benefactor King George I, (who made the University a present of 30,000 Volumes, he purchased of the heirs of bishop Moore, late bishop of Ely, for 12,000l.) was most beautifully classed at the charge of the University.

Anno Dom. 1457. Lawrence Booth, aforesaid, caused a general collection to be made throughout the University, viz.

1. From fuch as hired chairs of Canon and Civil Law.

2. From those who break their words in taking their Degrees.

3. From every religious person a property of goods, ten marks.

4. From every begging Friar, eight marks.

5. From every rich Parson, a third of his Parsonage.

6. From Bishops and Prelates, what they freely gave.

With which fums he built the fouth-fide of the fchools as aforefaid.

But before I proceed to the buildings of the feveral Colleges and Halls, I will give the reader a list of fuch Inns and Hostles as were in Cambridge (before there were any Colleges built or endowed in the University) wherein Students lived and studied on their own charges, and under the rule of a principal.

1. Augustine's-Hostle, where now King's-College-Lodge, the Grammar-School, and the houses to the east thereof stand.

2. Bernard's-Hostle, where now is the garden of

I. Peter-house-College, 1257.

H gb de Bullbam, Sub-Prior (afterwards Bishop) of Ely, A. D 1257; purchased two Hostles in Trumping ton-street, without the Gates of Cambridge, called the Hoftles of the Brothers of Penance, and of Yesus Christ, situated near St. Peter's-Church; which, having united, he gave them to certain Scholars' to fludy, in Rent free.

The fame Hugh de Balfham, being made Bishop of Ely, is to be reckoned one of the first Patrons of the Colleges, now in being; intending thereby to promote the Knowledge of the Sciences in this part of his Diocese; and for the Improvement of the Univerfity; founded this College, A. D. 1280, on the Ruins of the two most ancient Hostles aforefaid, having been Monuments of the greatest Antiquity. To increase the Number of those, he had placed there 23 Years before, this Reve. Prelate translated hither, the Sicular Brothers of the Order of St. John the Evangelist; from their House in the Jewry, (now St. John's-College) because they could not agree with the Regulars of that Place. When he had carried it on about half way, in the Year 1284, fix Years before his Death, and affigned to it the Patronage of the Living of Triplow, in this County, he appointed the Bishops of Ely, its nursing Patrons; and there are at this Day maintained, upon the old Foundation, a Mafter, 14 Fellows, 2 Students in Divinity, and 8 poor Scholars. This Number was to be increased or diminished according to the yearly Revenue of the College, and dearness of Provisions. It obtained the Name of St. Peterhouse, now commonly called Peterbouse, from its being built on the Burying-place of St. Peter's-Church. As this Church about, A. D. 1352, lost its Name, for that of St. Mary's, on account of its Chancel, being dedicated to the bleffed Virgin Mary; fo this House underwent the same Fortune, being in the Writings of its own Members, about 50 Years after the Foundation; fometimes called St. Mary's-College, formetimes the Hall of St. Mary of Grace, fometimes St. Mary's, and fometimes St. Peter'sboule. But to return to the faid Founder; he gave to this House, the Church of St. Peter aforesaid, with all the Rights, and Tithes belonging to the same. With his last Breath, he bequeathed 300 Marks, for railing new Structures; with which Sum they purchased a Piece of Ground, on the South fide of the faid Church, whereon they built the Hall, Kitchen, and Butteries. He also gave them a large Collection of MSS. For this great Generotity of the faid Hugh; Geoffry Pakenham, Chancellor of the Univerfity, and all the Mafters, &c. by their Degrees, in a full Affembly, on the 7th Day, before the Calends of June, A. D. 1291; granted, that there should be a solemn Congregation, of all the Regents, in their Robes, yearly, on the Vigil, or Eve, of the Saints, Virtus and Modestus, (which is June 14) after Dinner, in the Church of St. Peter, for the Soul of the Lord Hugh; who, as the Register of Peterbouse reports, entirely devoted himself to the Scholars, and diligently promoted their Interest, Conveniency, and Honour; with charitable Lyes, and a pious Mind; bestowing many Benefits, on the Regents and poor Scholars, and adorning the University with many l'rivileges.

The Lands, Possessions, &c. of this House, have been very much increased, thro' the Genero-fity of the following

He gave his House opposite the College, for a Master's Lodge.

Sir Robert Wiseman, Knt. gave the Chapel Doors, which have the Date 1632; with this a Motto, alluding to Wise-man.

SAPIT QUI DEUM SAPIT.

The Glass in the East Window, was hid in the troublesome Times, in those very Boxes that now surround the Altar, instead of Rails: the Chapel is paved with black and white Marble, beautified with many Sentences, an Organ, and two brass Branches.

Dr. Beaumont the Master, drew with Chalk and Charcoal, those two pieces by the Altar: the Wise-men's Offering on the North Side is exceeding fine, and the Star is very admirable.

All which pious Benefactions, amount to the Sum of Fifteen Hundred Pounds and upwards.

N. B. Before this Chapel was built, the Society made use of the Chancel of the adjacent Church, of little St. Mary's, into which there is a door out of the College.

The HALL, or dining Room, is a neat Apartment.

The NEW BJILDING, lately erected on the North Side of the Chapel, is most elegantly fitted up, and from the upper Apartments there is an extensive View, both North and South, for many Miles over the adjacent Country.

The Lodge, is a large Building, containing many good and handsome Apartments.

The Combination, commonly called the Stone-Parlour; where the Fellows meet for Business or Recreation, joins to the Hall, and is tolerable Large, and Wainscotted, the two uppermost Fannels round the Room, are filled with Portraits of the Benefactors, and Masters of the College; drawn in the Habits they wore formerly; and under each is a Latin Verse, containing two Lines, of which, this is a true Copy, and to take them in a regular Order, I shall begin at the North-East Corner; and,

REFORMATION, 1643.

December 21st, We went to Peter-bouse with Officers and Soldiers, and in the presence of Mr. Hanscott. Mr. Wilson the President, Mr. Francis, Mr. Maxwell, and other Fellows, we pulled down two mighty Angels with Wings and divers other Angels, the four Evangelists, and Peter with his Keys on the Chapel Door, together with about 100 Cherubims, and many superstitious Letters in Gold.

And at the upper end of the Chancel, these Words were Written, viz. Hic locus est Domus Dei, nil aliud, et Porta Cæli. And about the Walls was written in Latin, We praise thee ever; and on some of the Images was written, Santius, Santius, Santius; on others, Gloria Dei, et Gloria Patri, and Non nobis Domine, on others; moreover we found six Angels on the Windows, all which we defaced.

A List, of such of the Members of this House, as were ejected for their Loyalty to King Charles I.

John Cosyns, D. D. Mastership.

He was *ejected by a Warrant from the Earl of D 4

Manchester,

^{*} For opposing the proceedings of the Parliament and other scandalous Asts of the University; but not one particular is Manchester, dated Mar. 13th, 1645; and was the first Person of this University that I find turned out. The first Fellow that occurs thus dispossessed, was Mr. Hall of Jesus College, the 16th of the same Month.

Dr. Colyns, at the Time of his ejection, was fucceeded by one Lazarus Seaman.

This most learned Person (Dr. Cosyns) was a Native of the City of Norwich, was bred at Caius College, (where he became a Fellow) under the famous Dr. Overall, afterwards Bishop of Norwich, to whom he was Secretary; and then Domestick Chaplain to Archbishop Neile. After that he became Prebend of Durbam, and Archdeacon of the East-Riding of York; also Rector of Brannepeth; afterwards Chaplain to King Charles I, and after the happy Restoration, served King Charles II, in the same capacity, and in 1660 was made Bishop of Durbam, where he died in 1671, Ætat 77.

Isaac Barrow, D. D. Fellowship.

He was of a good Family in the County of Cambridge: After he was turned out of his Fellowship, he retired to Oxford, where the Loyal and Generous Dr. Pink, then Warden of New-College, made him one of the Chaplains of that House, to substitch him; but upon the surrender of the Garrison to the Parliament he was forced to shift from Place to Place, and suffered with the rest of the Loyal and Orthodox Clergy, until the happy return of King Charles the IId. at which Time he was not only * restored to his Fellowship, but made one of the mentioned in the Warrant. The same Earl ordered him to be restored, by a Warrant dated Aug. 3d, 1660; which begins with these Words; Whereas I am informed that Dr. John Co-syns, &c. hath been ejected, &c. Whereas he himself ejected him.

^{*} By a Warrant from the Earl of Manehester, dated June 20th, 1660, which saith, that he was wrongfully ejected; though he had done it himself.

the Fellows of Eaton-College, and in 1662, nominated to the Episcopal See of the Isle of Mas: After his Confecration in 1663, he was made Governor of that Isle; and in 1669, was translated to St. Alaph's. He died at Shrewsbery in the Year 1680, and lies buried in his own Cathedral, under the Inscription, which made so much Nosse about that Time, occasion'd by this part of it; O was Transeuntes in Domum Domini, Domum Oratioms, Orate pro Confervo vestro, ut inveniat m. scricordian in die Domini. He was a most Pious, Generous, and Charitable Bishop, as appears by the mary good Works he did in his Life-time; especially for his Clergy in the + Isle of Man, for whom he collected above 1000l. with which he bought up all the Impropriations of the faid Isle, and settled them on the Clergy thereof.

Richard Crashawe, Fellowship.

He was Son to that eminent Divine Mr. Wiliam Cralbawe, born in London; was at first Scholar of Pembroke-Hall, then Fellow of this House. Lee was ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8th, 1644; and was succeeded by one Howard Becher, by a Warrant from the Earl of Manchester, dated June 11th, 1644.

He was for a Time put to his Shifts, and at length to the very worst he could think of, v.z. That of changing his Religion. After which he fled

I also find, that immediately upon the Restoration, the Fellows of this House, in a Petition to his Majesty, complain'd of the Arbitrary and Unstatutable Government of the aforesaid Scaman, who, they said, lived in a constant opposition of the wholesome Laws of the Founder, &c. And requested that Dr. Cosyns might be restored to the Mastership.

To whose Industry is owing all that little Learning among us, and to whose Prudence and Charity, the poor Clergy owe the Bread they eat; faith Mr. Sacheverel, on the mentioning of him, in the Account of the Isle of Man.

Aled beyond Sea; and being a meer Scholar, lived in a pitiful and mean condition; in which the famous Mr. Abraham Cowley discovered him at Paris, in 1646; who at that Time not only gave him what Support his mean circumstances would admit of, but procured some other favours for him. After this he went to Rome, where he became Secretary to one of the Cardinals, and at length one of the Canons, or Chaplains, of the rich Church of Our Lady at Loretto; where he died in 1650.

He was an excellent Poet, a great Linguist, being very exact in the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Italian, and Spanish-Tonques; and tho' a Person of exalted Piety, yet a discredit to this List.

He was of the Family of Bargrave, in Kent. He was succeeded in his Fellowship, Jan. 13th, 1644, by one James Ball, by a Warrant from the Earl of Manchester, who had also, no Question, ejected him, notwithstanding the Warrant for his restoration by the same Earl, dated Aug. 2d. 1660, ran in these Words; Whereas I am informed, &c. hath been wrongfully ejected, &c.

Upon his Expulsion, it is thought, he travelled into foreign Parts; for Wood saith, he hath been a great Traveller; and adds, that he had an especial hand in an Itinerary, containing a Tour through Italy, in 1646, and 1647. He was after Prebend of Canterbury, and died May 11th, 1680, Ætat. 70. He was incorporated D. D. at Oxford in 1663.

- Wilsford, Fellowship.

One Roger Wilsford, D. D. was made Prebend of St. Paul's, June 23d, 1665.

One Francis Wilsford, was Master of Bennet-College Cambridge, 1661; Dean of Ely, &cc.

One Edward Willisford, had Liberty granted him to be created B. D. at Oxon in 1643, if he would come and demand it. Quare, if either of these were the same Person with this Sufferer.

Joseph Beaumont, A. M. Fellowship. He was ejected Apr. 8th, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester, and was succeeded June 11th, following, by one Charles Hotham, who was thrust into the Fellowship by a Warrant from that Lord. in 1643, (if Sir Henry Chauncy doth not mistake) he was admitted to the Rectory of Holfball in Hertfordsbire; but whether he lost that Living also, Quære. June 22 1664, being then D. D. he had the Rectory of Barly in the same County conferred upon him; became also Master of this College, Regius Professor of Divinity, and Prebend of Ely, and died Nov. 23d, 1699. He was in great efteem for his Learning, and particularly for his Knowledge of the Latin-Tongue; what he published besides his Poem, called Psyche, and his Annotations on the Epistles of St. Paul, I find not.

Robert Tyringham, Fellowship.

He was a native of the County of Leicester, was ejected by Manchester, (who, by a Warrant dated July 30, 1660, ordered him to be restored again and acknowledged he had been wrongfully ejected) and was fucceeded by Edward Sammes, on a Warrant from that Lord, dated June 11th, 1644.

Thomas Pennyman, Fellowship.

He was a Yorkshire-Man, and ejected by Manchester April 8th, 1644, and on June 11th, following, he put in his room, Robert Quarrels.

Henry Holden, Fellowship.

He was born in the County of Nottingham, and ejected the fame Day as the last, and Walter Ellis was put in his Place,

7 ohn

John Tolly, Fellowship.

He was born in London, and ejected with the two former, and succeeded by James Clarke, A. M. by a Warrant from Manchester, dated Sept. 20th, or 24th, following.

Blackiston, A. B. Fellowship.

He was ejected with the three former, and fucceeded by Francis Brooke, A. B. by a Warrant from Manchester, dated the same with that for Tolly's Successor; if not included in the same Warrant.

Christopher Bankes, Fellowship.

He was a native of Yorksbire, and ejected on that fatal Day April 8th, 1644, by Manchester, who, by his Warrant dated May 8th, 1644, appointed one Knightbridge A. B. to succeed him.

- Gowyn, Fellowship. He was ejected by Manchester, on April 8th, 1644.

John Wilson, Fellowship. He was born in Hertfordshire, and ejected by Manchester, July 24th, 1647, and succeeded by Charles Mildmay.

____ Maxwell, Fellowship.

___. Ward, Fellowship Farrer Collet, Fellowship.

He was born in Huntingdenshire, was ejected Nov. 9th, 1646, and then succeeded by Robert Harrison of Trinity-College Cambridge.

____ Archer, Fellowship.

Christopher Cummin, Fellowship. He was born in the Bishoprick of Durbam, ejected Nov. 11th, 1646, and fucceeded by William Richardson of Trinity-College aforesaid.

- Symsafe, Fellowship.

_____, Fellowship.

Out of the aforesaid 22 Fellows, all of them except Dr. Francis a Physician, were turned out, which makes me insert the Blank Fellowship; because that he and Mr. Cummin, added to the Number of those mentioned at the end of the Querela, makes up 21, the whole of the Fellows, which were turned out of this House. Wood indeed, saith, Dr. David Stokes, was turned out of a Fellowship here, which if true; Quare, if the Blank ought not to be filled up with his Name.

It is thought, there was not one of the faid Fellows, fave Mr. Blackiston, who was under the Degree of A. M.

ARMS.

Or, Four Pellets with a Bordure Gules, charged with Entoyre of eight Coronets.

 Having had some materials, sent me by a Friend, whilf this College was Printing off, (so could not place them in their proper places) I thought it would be more pleasing to my Readers to have them, tho' out of due order, that not at all; and they are these that sollow.

In the account of Dr. Cosyn, the Master as given in Dr. Walker, page 58, under the Church of Peterborough, I find, that February 27, 1625; confirmed the Day after, he had a Dispensation to hold Braneepeth in the County of Durham, with Elwick R. in the same County; the last does not appear in Eston, tho' there is such a Town in that County. There appears a mistake in calling him Pupil to Bishop Overall, who was Fellow of Iringly-College, (as I have some where found) and not of Caius. To the Marginal Note as there, add, unless Mr. Peele of Wickbam in Bucks, may be an Exception to this Affirmation.

Dr. Cofyn was collated to the Arch-deaconry of the East-Riding of Yorkshire in September 1625; and November 7, 1640; was installed Dean of Peterborough, having been presented to that Dignity by the King, October 31. To Disposess him here, a Vote passed December 22 after, but this did not take full Place till about 1643. To the Repairs of this Cathedral he gave 300l. After the Account given of him in Walker, of his being fent for, as a Delinquent, November 21, 1649, add; it may be eafily judged, in how greedy a manner, every thing was swallowed by the Party in the House against the regular Clergy, when, three Days after, they could admit the Evidence of Mr. Norton, a certain Divine, against him; whose Son, he told them, then at Cambridge, some Fellows of this College had endeavoured to feduce to Popery, promising him a Fellowship from the Dr. if he would come thither; that the Questions in the Chapel, were maintained and held, as they are at Rome. fame time the Dr's. Monita pro Sacello where read, and the whole referred to the same Committee with Smart's Business. January 19; he was allowed Bail, himself bound in 2000l, and his two Sureties in a 1000l. each, to appear, when the House should appoint. On the 22d after, the House voted Smart's Deprivation to have been illegal &c. and likewise that Dr. Cosyn and his other Prosecutors, ought to make him Satisfaction for Damages; that the faid Dr. had been guilty of bringing in superstitious Innovations into the Church, tending to Idolatry, and of speaking scandalous, scornful, and malicious Words against his Majesty's Supremacy, and the Religion established, and that, in their Opinion, he was unfit and unworthy, to be a Go-

Cin

2 Governor in the University; to continue Head of any College, or to hold and enjoy any Ecclefiaftical Promotions. March 11 following, divers Articles of Impeachment against the Dr. and others, were fent up to the Lords by Dr. Rouse. He was not ejected of his Mastership till March 13, 1643. He was constituted Bishop of Durham December 2, 1660, and dying January 15, 1641, Ætat 77, was buried in the Chapel at Bishops-Awkland, which he had built himself, being founder also of an Hospital and Library at Durham, refitting likewise his Palace there, and rebuilding the Schools founded by Bishop Langley. - This learned Prelate was the Author of the Scholoffical History of the Canon of Scripture, drawn up during his Segestration, and so masterly a Performance, that no reply to it was ever attempted by the Romish Party.

In the List of Fel'ows here, Barrow, Bargrave, Wilford, Beaument, Tyringbam, Pennyman, Collet.

and Aucher, were all A. M.

Barrow was Son to Isaac Barrow of Spiney-Abbey, in this County Elq; December 20, 16+1; he had been presented by the College to Hinton Vic. near Cambridge, and was ejected from his Fellowship January 113, 1643. — In 1660 he was presented by the Bishop of Ely to Downbam R. in. the Isle of Ely; and in 1662 resigned his Fellowship. In 1663, was fent by the College with Dr. Beaument, to the faid Bishop for one of them to be declared Master, when the Bishop nominated the latter. ---- The fame Year, being Fellow of Eton-College, he was July 5, confee ated Bishop of the Isle-of-Man, and diarch 21. 1669; was translated to that of St. Afarb, hold. ing the first in Commendum, for about a Year and a half. He died June 22, 1680, and lies buried just without his Cathedral at the West Door.

Crashaw was son to William Crashaw; Preacher of the Temple, (as Mr. Lloyd has it) and sent hither from Charter-House School.

Bargrave was Son, probably, to Dr. Isaac Bargrave, Dean of Canterbury, who died in 1642. In 1660, he was in the Letters Mand. to be created D. D. In 1642, was made Prebend of the fifth Stall in the Church of Canterbury; (as the Dean had been before) and dying May 11, 1680, Etat. 70, lies buried in the Cathedral there.

Of Wilsford, the next Fellow, amongst the three hinted at by Dr. Wa'ker; the doubt lies between the two last, Francis Walsford, who in 1661, was elected Mafter of C. C. College, or Bennet-College; (not Christ as in Walker) and there died in July 1667, being buried in the College Chapel; and Edward Wislford; the first of which was in the Letters Mand. to be D. D. July 28, 1660; and the last the same August 9. I should be rather for the first, said by Lloyd, to be Fellow also of Bennet; tho' he does not so appear in the List of Graduates and Fellows of that College; nor there an ejected Fellow. The fame however fays of him, that he was active in his Majesty's Service, but difereet and close; and well versed in the Statutes of the University, the Canons of the Church, and the Laws of the Land.

Beaument was some time Rector of Kelshall in Hertfordshire, (according to Sir Henry Chauncy,) I dont doub't, but April 11, 1646; he was instituted by the Bishop of Ely, to the Rectory of Elme cum Elmneth in the Isie; and June 5, 1650, he was collated by the said Bishop Wrenn to Grandsden-Parva Cambridgeshire; and the Year after to the seventh Stall in the Church of Ely, on the Death of Dr. Coilins, Provost of King's; but of all these, it may be concluded, he had no Benefit till 1660, on the happy Restoration, when, July 28, he was in the Letters Mand. to be created D. D. and September 22 after, Installed in his Prebendary, which he exchanged the next Year for the eighth. Stall. In 1662, he was by the same Bishop made Master of Jesus College, and April 21, the Year following, sent back Master to his own College, and in 1670, was elected Regius Professor of Divinity, which Place he discharged, with notable sufficiency; at length this great and worthy Divine yielded to Fate, November 23, 1699; and lies Interred in his College Chapel.

Pennyman was in the Letters Mand. September 19, 1660; to be D. D. and feems to me the fame Person with Dr. Pennyman (as in Walker) the Sequestred Rect. of Stokesly in Yorkshire, but of this Quære.

As to John Tolly, one of both these names was presented by the King to Tattington Rectory in Suffolk, June 7, 1641. But this Fellow, if his name be not mistaken, is after called Tookey.

Blakistone, should be Blakeston, Gowyn, should be Gawen.

Maxwell's name was Patrick.

Collet. in 1663; fucceeded Richard Newman B. D. in the Rectory of Hammerton Hunts, who had been there Sequestrated, and died 1679, Ætat 61; then B. D. and buried in the faid Church.

John Aucher was in the Letters Mand. to be D. D. after the Reftoration. And in July the fame Year was made Prebend of the fixth Stall at Canterbury; he died March 12, 1701; Ætat 82, and lies buried in that Cathedral, having, by his Will, left 80l. per Ann. for the maintenance of Clergymen's Widows.

The Fellow wanting, to make up the number 22, appears to be Richard Newell A. M. here Fellow; and Son to Dr. Robert Newell, Prebend of Westminster; who died July 28, 16.5, and lies buried in the Church of Clothall in Hertfordshire, on whose Monument, it is thus expressed; Graphico buic marmoris suppositus, (quasi de Iniquitate Temporis sub dustus) acquiescit tutus Jul. 27, Ann. a Christo nato 1645, a seipso 28, Ingratum et seculi et vitæ tædium æterná quiete commutavit.

On November 5, 1660; the Bishop of Ely made, or confirmed John Standish Fellow here.

For Master Tokey, as called the same, I take it, as Toley in the List. William Daventry, for Thomas Pennyman, Bernard Shelton for Matthew Hanfoombe, (which last no ways appears in the Lists) Martin Chamberlayne for Christopher Bankes; Henry Tooley for Richard Crashaw, and Mathew Wilson for John Wilson; and in 1662, another was chosen for Patrick Maxwell.

II. CLARE-HALL, 1326.

HIS House, now called Clare-Hall, had its first Original from Richard Badew, Chancellor of the University in 1326; who, being descended from the Knightly Family of the Badews of great Badew near Chelmsford in Essex, added to the lustre of his Family, by the Love and Care he had for the Muses. He, with the Masters Regent, in the Year 1326, purchased certain Houses belonging to Nicholas Thornton Physician, (whose Houses those were alfo, where now the Publick-Schools are; in which was dedicated a small Chapel, to pray for his Soul) in a place then called Miln-Street, between Queens College and Clare-Hall; and the Structure he built upon that fpot, he called University-Hall, and placed therein a Principal, with some Scholars Penfioners, and so it continued 16 Years, without any Foundation Revenues. But it being wholly confumed by an accidental Fire; the faid Dr. Radew applied himself to the Lady Elizabeth Burk, Grandchild to King Edward I. Countess of Clare in Suffolk, second Daughter and Coheir to Gilbert Clare, last Earl of Clare, Gloucester, and Hertford; Wife to John Burk, Lord Connaught, and Mother to William Burk; last Earl of Ulster in Ireland; by whose Bounty the College was rebuilt and endowed with Lands, sufficient to maintain one Provost, ten Fellows, and ten Scholars; after Walter de Thaxted, formerly Mafter of this House, had, (with the confent of the whole University) resigned all his Right to the faid Countess, who having built and endowed it as aforefaid, called it by the name of Clare-Hall.

BENEFACTORS.

CURL

CURIOSITIES.

This little College is all Curiofities (except the Chapel, which has not much to recommend it) witness the Buildings, Apartments, Bridge, Walks, Groves, and Gardens.

REFORMATION 1643.

December 27th, we destroyed in the presence of Mr. Gunning Fellow, 3 Cherubims, the 12 Apostles, a Cross, and 6 of the Fathers in the Windows, and ordered the Steps to be levelled.

The College was rebuilt in the Elegant manner

we now see it, in the Year 1638.

A List of the Ejected Loyalists.

Thomas Paske, D. D. Mastership.
Sub-Deanry and Canonry, in the Church of Canterbury.

Prebendary of Uskelfe, in the Church of York. Rectory of Hadbam-mag. Herifordshire.

Rectory of Bermondsey, Surrey.

He was advanced to the Mastership against his Will, (faith Lloyd) and it seems he also refused a Bishoprick. He was a Man eminent for Learning, Prudence, Judgement, and Piety; and bore his Sufferings (under some of which, he laboured 18 Years) with great chearfulness. And it will perchance be thought no contemptible evidence of his great worth, that three Bishops, four Privy-Councellors, two Judges, and three Doctors of Physic; all which had been his Pupils in the University, came in one day to pay him a Visit.

Barnabas Oley, D. D. Fellowship, and Vicarage of Great Grandsden in Hunts.

He was turned out of his Fellowship, by the Earl of Manchester, for not residing, nor repairing to Cambridge upon his Summons. But it will not be difficult to guess at the true Reasons of his Sequestration, when it is known, that he was the Perfon, who had fome Time before, led the Party, which conveyed the Plate and Money, (gathered in the University) to his Majesty. At the same Time he was turned out of his Fellowship, he was also plundered. He went about disguised for almost seven Years, without having wherewith conveniently to support himself. In 1660 he was restored to both, made a Prebend of Worcester, and Archdeacon of Ely; the last of which he resigned, because, (out of his great Humility) he thought himself not sufficient to discharge the duty thereof, He died about 1684. He was a very learned Man, a profound Divine, and a Person as eminent for his Piety and Charity, as any Man in the Church of England.

---- Carter, B. D. Fellowship.

And April 8th, 1644, one Fowler put in his room,

Peter Gunning, A. M. Felllowship, And Vicarage of litt. St. Mary's in Camb.

He was born at How in Kent, A. D. 1613; educated in this House, under Mr. Barnabas Oley, just now mentioned; and being taken notice of by the whole University, for his extraordinary Parts and indefatigable Industry, soon became Fellow here. To give the Reader a full account of his great Endowments, Virtues, Charity, Sufferings, &c. I should greatly exceed my bounds; but you may find a further History of him in Mr. Walker's Sufferings of the Clergy, from whence I took this small Sketch.

John

John Heavers, A. M. Fellowship.

He lived to be restored in 1660, became S.T.P Canon of Windsor; Fellow of Eaton-College, and died in 1670. He was a Man of great Learning, Piety, and Liberality; and a Benefactor to this House.

----- Fabian, A. M. Fellowship.

What became of him afterwards, I am not informed.

- Hickman, A. M. Fellowship.

Of whom I can find no further account.

- Bing, A. M. Fellowship.

If I am rightly informed, he was afterwards S. T. P. but no further account can I attain of him.

Potter, A. M. Fellowship.

He was afterwards S. T. P. whence it is supposed he surviv'd the Restoration. He was succeeded by one Holeroft, an Independant, (who was one of the sirst that gathered a Congregation of that kind at Camb. and at last died Distracted) which seems to lay a foundation for a conjecture, that Mr. Potter might be ejected by the Independants, on the Score of the Engagement.

III. Pembroke-Hall, 1343.

THE Founder of this College or Hall, (for 'tis called by one name as often as by the other) was Mary de St Paul, Daughter of Guido de Chastillon, Earl of St. Paul in France, and of Mary Daughter of John Earl of Richmond, and of Beatrice Daughter of Edward III. Baroness of Voisser and Montenast, third Wife of Andomare de Valence, Earl of Pembroke; who is reported to have been Maid, Wife, and Widow the fame Day; her Husband being killed on the Wedding-day at a Tilting; being struck with the untimely end of her Husband, gave herself intirely to a Religious Life. and applied the greatest part of her Possessions to Public and Pious Uses. Among the rest, she founded Denny-Abby in this County, of the Order of St. Clare, which having built, endowed with Lands, and filled with an Abbess and Nuns, which she tranflated from Waterbeach thither; She Ordain'd that the Fellows, of her (then intended) College, should Visit those Nuns, and give them Ghostly Counsel, when occasion needed.

Having thus compleated and settled the said Abbey, she (A. D. 1343) purchased of Henry Stanton, a Messuage without Trumpington Gate, and obtained of Edward III. a Licence for Building of this College; and A. D. 1347, she assigned it Lands and Manors, and ordained Statutes for the Master and Fellows, but left the number of Fellows uncertain, and at the Discretion of the Master and Fellows, in proportion to the Revenues. Having obtained a Charter of Incorporation of King Edwara assorbiand for 24 Fellows, and 6 Scholars, she founded only 6 Fellows, and 2 Scholars.

To enlarge the Situation of this College, there was afterwards added, Univerfity-Hostle, and the Places known by the Names of Knapton, Bolton, and Cousins.

And to shew how successfully this House increafed, Pope Clement VI. granted them a Bull, for appropriating to the faid College three or four Rectories, which they foon after obtained; for A. D. 1352. Ralph Stratford Bishop of London, gave them for ever, the Living of Saxtborp in the County of Norfolk. Michael Northbrook the next Bishop of London, A. D. 1,60, gave the Rectory of Tilney, in the same County. And Simon Sudbury, the following Bishop of that See, gave them A.D. 1362, the Living of Warefly, in Lincoln Diocese; the Patronage whereof, the faid Foundress had before conferred on the faid College. She also endowed it with other Revenues at Rapingdon, Wissendon, and Burwell, beside Plate, Jewels &c. King Henry VI. was a most Magnificent Benefactor, for he made the Foundation near three times as rich as he found it, by his Donation of the Living of Sobam with the Manor adjoining, the Priory and Rectory of Lynton, with the Chapel of St. Marearet at Iselbam the Lesser.

This College, was called that King's adopted Daughter; and King's College his true, and first begotten Daughter.

The King was followed by Edward Story, (Fellow, afterwards Warden of Michael-House; and at the same time was nine Years Bishop of Carlisse; and A. D. 1468, Chancellor of this University; afterwards translated to Chichester,) who gave Lands in Long-Stanton and Hassing ford.

These were the Donors of Lands and Revenues, besides those we shall find among the Masters.

The number of those who gave Books to the Library, are too many to be enumerated.

MEMBERS.

One Master, 14 Fellows, two Bye-Fellows;

^{* *} These two Livings were given them by Erasmus Earle of Heydon in the County of Norfolk Esq; reserving to himself and Heirs, this Condition, viz. That if any of the Family be in Orders when either of them be Vacant, he shall have the resulat of it; or if not, he or they shall have the choice of one, out of two of the Fellows of this College, offered to him or them for his or their choice.

and the total number of Students, generally between 50 and 60.

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL, which is one of the most elegant and best proportioned in the University; was wholly built by Matthew Wrenn, D. D. Bp. of Ely, fomerly of this House; who died at Ely House in Holbourn 1667, Ætat. 81; and his body, (after it was embalmed) was deposited with great solemnity in a Stone Coffin, in a Vault at the East end of it. He confecrated it Sep. 21, 1665, being the Feast day of St. Matthew his Name sake, and dedicated it to the Honour of Almighty God. A noble and lafting Monument of the rare Piety and Munificence of this great and wife Prelate, and in everyPoint agreeable to his Character. The building was executed according to a Plan defigned by that great Architect Sir Christopher Wren, his Brother's Son, who also drew the Model of St. Paul's London. Several of the Masters lie buried in it, but without any Inscription.

The LIBRARY, (which was the old Chapel) is an elegantRoom, being well Stocked with useful and choice Books, which are as neatly ranged on handfome Classes. Over the Door, there remains a mural Monument thus Inscribed,

Siste paulum (viator) ubi longum sistere necesse erit.

Hinc nempe proferare tuscias, Quocunque to properas.

The HALL, is a spacious Room, and is handfomly paved; in which is often held a Concert of Music, the Master having a good taste thereof, and much delighting therein.

The Master's Lodge, which stands at the South end of the Hall, and is almost hid by the other Buildings, hath several good Apartments, some of which are Stock'd with Musical, and others with Mathematical Instruments; and in a Ground Room he hath a Printing Press with the Apparatus belonging thereto, wherein he is Printing his Astronomical Works. But the chief beauty of this Lodge is (in my opinion) the Gardens, and therein the Water-Works, contrived by the present Master, (and here let me tell you, he is a very great Machanic) which supplies a beautiful and large Bason in the middle of the Garden, and wherein he often diverts himself in a Machine of his own contrivance, to go with the Foot as he rides therein.

The Fellows Garden, is a large fpot of Ground, wherein is a good Bowling-Green, but what it is chiefly noted for, is a long and fine Gravel-Walk, at the foot of a South Wall, which is counted one of the warmest Winter walks in the University.

There are besides several other Gardens, belonging to the Apartments of particular Fellows, in one of which, is another small and simple, yet well contrived Water-Work, which is continually supplying a large Cold-Bath with fresh Water; the over-plus of which runs through the second Court, and so into the King's Ditch.

REFORMATION A. D. 1643.

December 26; In the presence of the Fellows, Mr. Weedon, Mr. Mapletoft, Mr. Sterne, Mr. Quarles, and Dr. Felton; we brake down to Cherubims, and destroyed 80 superstitious Pictures. N.B. This was in the old Chapel, now the Library.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Benjamin Laney, D. D. Mastership. Prebendary of the eighth Stall at Westminster.

The Living of Buriton cum Petersfield R. Hants. He was of a good Family in Suffolk, and born (as 'tis thought) at Ipswich; entered first at Christ-College in this University, and thence removed to this House, of which he was successively Fellow and Master. He was Installed Prebend of the third Stall in the Church of Winch fler July 31, 1631, which he refigned in 1639, for that abovementioned. He was one of those who attended his Majesty's Service, at the Treaty of Uxbridge: At length he waited on his Majesty King Charles II. in his Exile, and for feveral Years suffered great calamity, as many of the Loyalists did. He was deprived of his Master-Thip Mar. 13, 1642. After all other mischiefs done, this worthy Dr. then stiled of Petersfield, was incerted in the Bill with those, whose Estates were to be fold for the use of the Common-Wealth. He was restored to his Headship Aug. 4, 1660; having been Installed Dean of Rocbester July 24, before. Decemb. 2 the same Year, he was constituted Bp. of Peterborough; Apr. 2, 1663, translated to Lincoln, having the Year before refigned the Mastership, he had held in commendum some time, and May 12, 1767, he was farther translated to Ely. He died Jan. 24 1674, Ætat. 84, and lies buried in that Cathedral. He rebuilt the chief part of the present Palace there; gave 300% to the rebuilding of St. Pauls; 100% to his Cathedral of Peterborough, on his quitting that See, and 150% to Ely, and Soham near it, (where, as Fellow of his College,

* Roger Ashton, A. M. Fellowship. See an Account of him at Lynton in Cambridge-

he had been sometime Vicar,) for putting out poor

Children Apprentices.

* This Gentleman, together with Mr. Frank, Mr. Mapletoft, Mr. Bockenham, Mr. Cacot, and Mr. Lenthall, were all ejected by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 8, 1664. Mire, Page 221, of my History of that County. He was restored Decemb. 11, 1661; admitted to the Vic. of Waresty Hunts, in the Gift of the College.

- Felton, A. M. Fellowship.

He was ejected for refusing the Covenant, five days before he was asked the Question, whether he would take it or no; as the Warrant for his ejectment shewed. He was a Relation, no doubt of Dr. Felten Bp. of Ely, and Master of this College, but not the same it seems, with Nicholas Felton the Sequestrated Rector of Stretham (See pag. 264 of my History of this County, in the Isle of Eig.) who had been there possessed in 1621; and was Son I imagine, to the Bp. having both his Names.

Mark Franks, B. D. Fellowship.

He was fent for May 16, 1642, as a Delinquent, for a Sermon Preached by him the day before at St. Paul's with orders to bring the Sermon with him; and June 4 after, was again ordered to appear before the House on that day sennight, on pain of being expelled the University. On the Restoration 1660, he was, Dec. 19, collated to the Treasurership of St Paul's, being there also Prebend, and, Feb. 9 after, in the Letter Mand. to be D. D. in 1662, on the resignation of Bp. Laney, he was elected Master of this College, and died 1664, Ætat. 51, and lies buried in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Robert Mapletoft, B. D. Fellowship.

He was presented by the King Nov. 30, 1639, to the Rectory of Bartlow in this County, (which see;) but this must fail of effect, or else he after resigned; Mr. Baker standing in the List as there ejected in 1643. He voided it, it seems, on being after presented by the Bp. of Ely to Dawnbam Rect. in the Isle; from which he was sequestrated, April 6, 1644. He was one of those in the Letters-Mand. July 28, 1660, to be created D. D. and Aug. 23 after, was installed Sub dean of the Church of Lincoln, being Prebend also of Cliston in the said Church. In 1664, on the Death of Dr. Franke, he was elected Master of his College; Aug. 10, 1667, he was installed Dean of Ely: and dying, Aug. 20, 1677, was buried in the College-Chapel; leaving his Library to the Church of Ely, and 400 Acres of Ground in Coveney, for increasing the Stipends of the eight Singing men, upon Condition of their attending Morning-prayers at six o'Clock.

the

William Quarles, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Proctor in 1653, after President of the College, and a Benefactor thereto. He was one of the Authors concerned in writing certain Disquisitions, &c. against the solemn League and Covenant.

John Poley, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Proctor in 1642; and the fame Year the King's Agent for collecting the Plate and what Money could be raifed in the University for the Relief of his Majesty's Necessities; Walker says, one of both these Names, was Chaplain to the Duke of Ormond, Dean of Kilkenny in Ireland, and created D. D. at Oxford: but I cannot take upon me to say, whether one and the same Person.

John Randall, A. M. Fellowship.

I find no farther Account of him, but that he was Taxor of this Univerfity in 1643.

Anthony Bockenham, A. M. Fellowship. A N D Thelentham, Rectory in Suffelk.

He was fecond Son to Edmund Bockenham of Great Thornham in Suffolk, Esq; High Sheriff of the faidCounty in the third of James I. as Bochenham, Esq; his eldest son was the same in the 6th of Charles I. After the Restoration he quitted his Living of Thelentham (in the Gift of his Family) for Helmingham Rectory in the fame County; of which he was deprived in 1689, for refusing the State-Oaths. He died 7an. 6, 1703-4, about the 90th Year of his Age.— During the Rebellion, he was not only deprived of his Fellowship, Living, and a temporal Estate alfo, but was forced to fly beyond the Seas, and lived fome time at Legborn, then at Constantinople, and next at Smyrna, at which last Place he was Conful to the English Factory. On the Restoration, he returned to his native Country, and his proper Employment.

Edmund Baldero, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born at Bury St. Edmonds in Suffolk, and some time Preacher at St. Laurence in Ipswich; he was also Rector of Hawsted in the said County, but this it seems after the Restoration, as Mr. Edgar was there, sequestrated, Sept. 19. In 1660, he was in the Letters-Mand. to be D. D. and, about this time had Snailwell Rect. Cambridgeshire. He was another of the Authors in the certain Disquisitions, &c. as above-mentioned. The Earl of Manchester tendering him the Covenant, and encouraging him to offer what Scruples he had against it, to be resolved by his Chaplain then present; he resused after to give him an Answer: (It appears by this, he was still Fellow, as in the Earl's Inquisition Inquifition at Cambridge;) whereupon, he was fent up Prisoner to London for proposing his Scruples, and there detained under a long and chargeable Confinement. He is faid to have done and fuffered much for the Kings Charles I. and II. both in England and Scotland; likewife under the great Marquess of Montross. He was Chaplain to Bp. Wren of Ely, by whom he had formerly been collated to Westerfield Rect. in Suffolk, and after instituted to that of Glemsford in the fame County; at one of which probably he was a Sufferer; he quitted Hawsted on his Possession of Snailwell, and April 25, 1663, was collated to the Mastership of Fesus-College, in the Nomination of the same Bp. where he died, July 5, 1679, Ætat. 72, and lies buried in the Chapel.

ARMS.

Per Pale, Semi Baron and Feine, the first is Barry Argent and Azure, an Orle of Martlets, Gules; being the half part of Valence's Coat, joined with half the Coat of Guy de Chastillon, who bore Varry three Pallets Gules, in a chief Or, a File of three Labels.

G 2 IV. Corpus-

One of their Names was Elmund, who was restored; and Sept. 24, 1662, was instituted to Hardwick Rest. Cambridge-Bire, in the Bp. of Ely's Gift. He was also installed Prebend of Gretton, in the Church of Lincoln, June 3, 1667; and appears to have died in 1672.

IV. CORPUS-CHRISTI, OF BENET-COLLEGE, 1344.

THIS College, denominated Collegium Corporis-Christi, & Beata Maria Virginis, (and commonly abbreviated to C. C. C.) is usually called Benet-College, from its Situation near that Church.

The Foundation of this College, had its first Originial, as follows:

The Brethren of the Gild, or Society of Corpus-Christi, and the Sisters of the Gild of the blessed Virgin Mary in Cambridge, by joint Interest, began to build this College, A. D. 1344, dedicating it to the Name of both their Gilds; but about four Years after, it obtained the Name of Benedict, or Benet-College, for the Reason before given.

On the third of February 1350, they had the fame confirmed to them by Thomas de Insula, Bp. of Ely. The same Year, the Masters and Fellows, chose for the Patron of their Society or Brotherhood, (and appointed him elder Brother of their Gild) the most renowned Hero, Henry Plantagenet, first Duke of Lancaster, Earl of Leicester, Lincoln, and Derby, the second among the prime Men of England; Lord of Monmouth and Pontefratt, surnamed the brave and good Duke, Lord High Steward of England, Lieutenant of Aquitain, and Knight of the Garter.

Thus being supported by so great a Prince for their Patron, they not only changed their Gild into a College, and obtained a Mortmain, but also, there by Intreaty or Money, acquired of the Townsmen, many and stately Houses. Their said Patronage of the Church of St. Beneditts, adjoining to the College. And because the Revenues of this House were so small, that they could scarcely support the Master and Fellows with Necessaries, he prevailed with Thomas Arundel, P.p. of Ely, to appropriate to the faid College, his Church of Grandchester. And though from the first Year of its Foundation, the Number of Fellows and Scholars was long left at Pleafure, according to the yearly Income of this College, and confequently uncertain; the Number of Students greatly increased, thro' the Liberality of the following Benefactors: In the Front of whom, we find, Elizabeth Mowbray, Dutchess of Norfolk, (eldest Sifter and Co-heir of Thomas Fitz-Alan, last Earl of Arundel, Warren, and Surrey, and Wife of Thomas Mowbray, first Duke of Norfolk;) who added one Fellow and one Scholar. Archbishop Parker, added four Fellowships; two from the increased Rents, and two of his own Foundation, one Bible-Clerk, eight Scholars of his own Foundation, five from Norwich, one from Canterbury, two from Wymondbam and Aylsham in Norfolk. He gave them the Patronage of St. Mary Abchurch in London, and procured them a Charter of Mortmain for 100l. per Ann. He also gave them 309 Ounces of Silver Plate double Gilt, and furrendered to them a Lease with the Improvement of 1.4/. 8s. yearly, for 17 Years; also 1001. the Interest whereof was to find a Fire in the Common-Hall, from Al Saints to Candlemas; and also 500l. to increase the Commons of the Fellows and Scholars.

He got together a most valuable Collection of ancient Records and other Manuscripts, all which he gave the College. See Library.

The College is obliged every Year, according to his Will, to fend one of their Society, to preach a Sermon on Rogation-Sunday at Thetford, on Rogation-Monday at Wymondhom, on Rogation-Tuefday at Mattishall in Norfolk; on the Thursday in the same Week, being Ascension-day, another Sermon at St. Clement's in Norvoich, and the Sunday following at the Cathedral there; for each of which, the Preacher is to receive 6s. 8d. so foon as Sermon is over: when also, several other Legacies are appointed to be distributed, which as they are foreign to my Delign, I forbear to mention.

Roger Manners, Knt. of the Bedchamber to Q. Elizabeth, added four Scholars. John de Cantabridge, Knt. one of the King's Judges, and his Son Thomas, (formerly Brethren of this Society,) gave them the Stone-Hall, now called Stone-House, besides 35 or 36 Tenements, and 100 Acres of Land in and about Cambridge. Nicholas Bacon, Knt. our British Nestor, Keeper of the Great Seal, and Privy-Counsellor to Q. Elizabeth, in Token of his Affection for this College (where he was first instructed in the Liberal Arts) built them a neat Chapel, over the outward Gate of which, his Name, &c. in Letters of Gold, together with his Arms, are constantly kept beautified. He also by Will, left a stipend for fix Scholars. Also Rogers Manners, fifth Farl of Rutland, formerly Fellow-Commoner here, gave much towards adorning the College and Chapel.

Other BENEFACTORS.

Henry Tangemere of Cambridge, left them 18 or 19 Houses, and 85 Acres of Land in, and about Cambridge Elizabeth, the Wife of Thomas Brotherton, Duke of Norfolk, Son of Edward I. Thomas de Eltesley, the first Master, was a considerable Benefactor. Eleanor Botelar, Sister of the said Elizabeth, was a Friend of the Society. John Meers, Esquire-Beadle. John Botwright, Master. CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL is a neat Apartment, and well fitted up; it hath a new elegant Altar-piece of carved Wainscot, supported by two large Pillars, in the middle, a Pannel of crimfon Velvet in a gilt Frame, the the Gift of Sir Jacob Aftley of Melton in Norfolk, formerly Member of this House.

Over the Door of the Antichapel, which (Parker lays) was built by Sir Nicholas Bacon, is this painted in gold Letters;

Honoratifs Ds. Nicholaus Bacon, Custos Magni Sigilli Angliæ Extruxit. Domini. Salvatoris, 1578. Regni Elizabethæ 21. Anno Ætatis suæ 61. Cancellarius 21

And on each Side of this Inscription are several Coats of Arms.

Here was not many Years fince, an Organ. The Windows are new Glazed, with plain Glass, which makes it more lightsome than when it had the painted Glass, which is now fixed in the Hall windows.

A black Marble Stone by the Altar, for John Spencer, S. T. P. Master and Dean of Ely; he died May 27, 1 93; Ætat. 63.

Richard Love, the 24th Master; was buried here, in February 1660; but without any Monument.

Francis Wilford, the 26th Master, was buried here July 18, 1667; but hath no Monument over him.

Care

Care, that even a Fellow of the House is not admitted to enter it, without having a Fellow or Scholar of the College with him, and attending him during his stay there; for if one be missing (according to the Will of the Donor,) they lose the Whole, and for that purpose, they are examined every Year, by two Persons of another College.

The Masters Lodge is not very spacious, yet hath many good Apartments, (especially the long Gallery,) with a pretty flower Garden.

The Fellows Gardens are very Pleafant, having a grand Bowling-green, a beautiful Summer-house, with variety of Wall and other Fruit, all which are kept in excellent order.

REFORMATION, 1643.

December 8, Dr. Love Master, nothing in this Chapel to be amended.

A List of the Ejected Loyalists.

Richard Love, D. D. the then Master, was not molested by the rump Parliament, but held it to his Death, which happened after the Restoration.

Robert Tonstall, Fellowship.

He was ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644, and succeeded July 19, following, by Richard Kennet, A. M. after B. D. Vicar of East-Hatley in this County. I know nothing more of Tonstall, but that he was a Lincolnshire Man, and had been Fellow 24 Years.

Edward Palgrave, B. D. Fellowship.

He was a Norfolk Man, was ejected the fame Day with Mr. Tonstall, and succeeded July 25, following, by Daniel Johnson, A. M. after B. D. who was also a Norfolk Man, and long before a Member of the College; in 1647, he was presented to the the Rectory of Diffe in Norfolk, but was there ejected the Year after, and Richard Moore put in his place.

Thomas Briggs, Fellowship.

He was also of the County of Norfolk, and succeeded by John Fairfax, A. M. likewise of Norfolk, Jan. 14, 1644, who was after Vicar of Barking in Effex.

I find also Mr. Daniel Johnson, and Mr. Josiah Lamplugh, were ejected in 1642, and Re-admitted in 1654. Mr. Francis Colfer, was also ejected and restored at the same time with Mr. John Fuirsax, and Mr. Richard Kennet; Three of whom succeeded the ejected Loyalists above mentioned, turned out of this College in the Years 1649, 650, and 164; but I guess they all went out on occasion of the Engagement: And therefore since they might be Presbyterians, though they were not Independents, I cannot allow them a place in this List.

But for a further Account of their Proceedings, see the chronological Part of this Work.

H

V. TRINITY-HALL, 1347.

II ERE formerly fourished a Society of Students, before any College in this University was erected; wherein every one lived at his own Expence. Richard Crawden, the 22d Prior of Elv, purchased this House afterwards, in the Reign of Edward III. appointing it an Hoftle, for reception of the Monks of Ely, who should come thither at their leifure time, to improve in Learning. To this beginning, Richard Ling, Chancellor of the Univerfity in 1351, Walter Backton, Thomas Walfingham, Archibald Norwich, and Simon Peckinghall; added four Tenements. Robert Stratton, John French, Walter Alderley, and Peter Pittering; gave 7 parcels of Ground and 2 Messuages, one of which was called Drake's-Entry. In the Year 1351, William Bateman, Bishop of Norwich, purchased all the Euildings and Lands thereto belonging, of the aforesaid Prior and Monks; giving the Rectory of Sudborne, with the Chapel of Orford in Suffolk, in exchange; having thus fecured the faid Hoftle, with the Appurtenances, he next obtained of Edward III. a Grant or Licence to found it into a College, which was didicated to the Holy and undivided Trinity; appointing therein a Mafter, 2 Fellows, and 3 Scholars, to be Students in the Canon, and Civil-Law; and one Fellow to fludy Divinity, in order to be Chaplain to the faid College; He then established a Chest in the said Inn. called Trinity-Cheft, into which he put 1001. And by the Benefaction of other well disposed Persons, the Students were supported there in a handsome Thus it continued about 2 Years, uil a terrible I estilence happened, which swept away way most of the Clergy in Norwich Diocese; insomuch that many of the Parishes wanted Pastors: For which reason the Bishop resolved to found this College, for a constant supply of Clergy for his Diocese.

That their Subfistance should not be altogether precarious, he refigned the Rectory of Blofield in Norfolk, which he then held in Commendam, by the Pete's Bull, to buy Provisions for his own Table during Life, the Patronage being in his own See; accordingly April 20, 1350, he inthituted Robert Stretton, whom he had just before pointed Master, to the said Rectory, on Condition that the Profits should go to the College, towards building and endowing it for 9 Years; and if it was not then finished and properly endowed, for 9 Years more; after the last 9 Years to continue in the Gift of the See. The next Addition he made, was the Advewsons of Briston and Burningham in the same County, which he conveyed to divers Trustees, who released them to the said Master of his Hall, to whom the Bishop, with confent of his Prior and Chapter had granted Licence, to receive and appropriate them: And accordingly, Aug. 14, 1350; Briston and Kimberly, appropriated the Adowions which he had procured, to the College; and Vicarages ordained on each, to which the College nominated two of whom the Bishop chose one. The same Year Burnng bam was appropriated to them, and no Vicarage referved, on condition he paid a Penfion of a Mark per Ann. to the Bishop and duly ferved it by a Stipendary Curate. In 1351, he fa ther augmented it with the Church of Wood-dalling, and after having purchased the Advowson; reserved Pension of 30s. to the See, and a Vicarage of 20 Marks a Year, to be presented by the Bishop one Turn, and the other Turn two to be nominated 11 2 by the College and the Bishop to chuse one of them. The same Year also, he procured the Advowson of Stalbam in Norfolk, and Couling in Suffolk, and appropriated them both to the College. On the first he ordained a Vicarage, * worth 101. per Annum, and referved the House for the Vicars, who were to be instituted by the Bishop; the College naming two for that purpose; the other to have no Vicarage, but to be ferved by Stipendiary Curates, paid by the College, who were to pay also a Pension of 2 Marks a Year acknowledgment instead of First-Fruits. With these, and other Temporal Revenues fettled on them, he endowed his College, and got it confirmed by the King, Pope Innocent VI. and the Archbishop of Canterbury. He designed, indeed, to have had a Master, 20 Fellows, and 3 Scholars, but his original Foundation was never increased during his time. This was Prelate, mentioned in the Register of Norwich, who having been a famous Auditor of the Pope's-Palace, pretended to the King, that he would vifit Stephen, once his familiar acquaintance at Rome, and then beginning to be known by the Name of Pope Innocent VI. by which Journey he reaped this Advantage, namely, that he prevailed with the Pope, to have the Rectorys of Briston, Kimberley, Woodalling, Birmingham, Coolidge and Stalling, in the Diocese of Nerwich, united for the Maintenance of the Fellows and Scholars; Simon Illip, Archbishop of Canterbury, confirming the same under his Seal, by the faid Pope's order.

He also made a Cauley for about 3 Miles from Cambridge towards Newmarket, and died Master in 1584. In mentioning this Cause-way, I can't forbear taking notice of a Jest, a certain Nobleman put upon the Dr. one Morning, as he was overlooking the Workmen The Peer greatly (but causelessly) suspecting the Doctor's Inclination to Popery, Dr. says he, I imagine you think this Cause-war, is the Highway to Heaven. To whom the other replied; no, no, Sir; for then I should not have met you in ibis Place.

And they had in 1351, the Advowson of the Rectory of Couling in Suffolk, given them by Sir Shardelowe and Sir Thamas his Brother as Blom-feld afferts.

They had also the Rectory of Kimberley in Norfolk, given them by the Founder in 1 50, paving a yearly Pension to the Bishop of Norwich of 20s. but A. D. 1549. the College sold it to Roger Woodbouse, Esq; in which Family it still remains.

MEMBERS.

A Master, and 12 Fellows, two of which are Divines; 14 Scholars, one Exhibition; total usually about 50.

CURIOSITIES.

The Chapel is very pretty, but fmall, the Altarpiece is finely painted, containing the Presentation of our Saviour in the Temple; which was brought from abroad by one of the Flouse, who made a present thereof to the College.

The Hall is a very beautiful Room, having a fine wrought Cieling, with a Music-Gallery at the North End.

The Combination-Room, is also much admired, being a finished Piece of Workmanship.

The Library is not large but neatly fitted up, containing, amongst a fine Collection of choice and valuable Books, an entire Study of Civil and Common-Law-Boooks.

The Garden is small but well contrived and handsomly beautified with variety of Flowers; The Terras-Walk lying on the Bank of the River, affords a most agreeable Prospect.

The Court for its Bigness is as handsome as any in the University; nay, take the College altogether, there are few exceed it in Beauty.

REFOR-

RE ORMATION 1643.

Dec. 2: Mr. Culiard, the Fellow present, Orate pro Animá, on a Crave-Stone.

The ejected Loyalists.

Thomas Eden, L.D. Master of this College, Chancellor of the Diocese of Ely, and Master in Chancery, went in with the Times, and took the Covenant, being one of the Members for the University, in all the Parliaments of this Reign, except the first; and as such died, July 18, 1645, when the College chose one of their own Society, but the House not liking their choice, sent them one of their own Members; namely, John Bond, L. D. Burgess for Melcomb-Regis in Dorsetspire. As the Doctor was a Person of a better Character than most that joined with the Parliament 'tis likely enough, that he skreened the Fellows of his College, as not one was ejected; nor can it be imagined they were all in the same way of thinking.

VI. Gonvile and Cains-College 1348.

Gonvile-Hall.

HE Foundation of this College was laid,

A. D. 1248, in the fame Place with the A. D. 1348, in the fame Place which is now the Garden of the Fellows of Benet-College, and the old Tennis-court by Edmund Gonvile, Rector of Terrington and Rushworth in the County of Norfolk, (who, with others, in the Absence of the Bishop was appointed Vicar of the Spiritualities) younger Brother to Nicholas Gonvile of Rushworth aforesaid, Knt. and that famous Courtier, Walter Manly, Knight of the Garter, born at Cambray in the Netherlands, who married Margaret Brotherton, Duchess of Norfolk, obtaining the Grant or Licence from King Edward III. A. D. 1347, he dedicated the fame to the Salutation of the bleffed Virgin Mary, on the Thursday in Whitsun-Week, in the following Year, viz. June 12, 1348; From that time it was called Gonvile-Hall, where, before his Death, he placed a Warden or Master, and 4 Fellows; and whilft he lived, allowed them a fufficient Maintenance, appointing John Colton, the first Master thereof. By the Statutes, which were confirmed under the Chancellor's Seal, we learn, he had refolved to found 20 Scholarships: But being untimely fnatch'd away in the Year 1350, (at Terrington aforesaid, where he was buried) by his Will he left a great Sum of Money (in Trust) to William Bateman, Bishop of Norwick, for him to furnish and endow his faid Hall. Accordingly, the faid William Bateman, (willing to bring his Hall, near to Trinity-Itall, which he was then building; prevailed with the

the Master and Fellows of this faid Hall to exchange this faid House of theirs, which then stood, where now the old Tennis-court, St. Botolph's Workhouse, and the Fellows Garden of Benet-College are fituated; and the little Lane on the North of St. Botolph's Church, was the Passage thereto on the West side: but the chief Entrance was next Lithburn, now called Fiee-school-lane, towards the East; nevertheless, they retained in their own Possession, such Part of their Estate as lay on the East side of the faid Lane, where are now fituated the Free-Grammar-School, with their Alms-houses adjoining, and the Gardens thereto belonging, for other Buildings in 't. Michael's Parish; there to build the faid Hall, more agreeable to the Bishop's Mind. One of these Buildings was the Capital Message of John de Cantabrigge, Knt. and one of the King's Judges; the other was the House of John Goldcombe, where the ancient Monuments of this College, testify that the Schools of Phylosophy flourished in those former Days. The two faid Messages at this Time belonging to the Gild of Corpus-Christi and St. Mary the bleffed Virgin, by Contract between Henry Plantagenet, first Duke of Langaster, Alderman of that Gi'd; The Warden and Fellows 1 this Hall, each refigned up to the other, and exchang'd their Rights to the Ground and Buildings, A. D. 1353. Thus, out of these Buildings was erected all that Part of Gonvile-Hall, next, what is now called Pis-pot-lane. The Bishop having thus confirmed the Translation of the Master and Fellows as aforesaid, began to promote it with the Revenues of the Rectories of Foulden and Wilton in Norfolk, and Mutjord in Suffolk, for the Maintenance of a Master and 3 Fellows. And that you may understand, how favourable the Popes were to this House, the Master and Fellows fo far prevailed with Pope Boniface IX. about the Year 1390, that he granted the Rectory of Mattishall in Nerfolk, should be appropriated towards the Maintenance of hereof, writing to Richard Scroope, Bishop of Litchfield and Coventry to confirm that Church to this Hall. Ralph Hemenball, Knt. had before granted the Patronage of that Rectory to this Hall, that three Fellows, Priests, should make Commomoration of the Lady Mary Pakenbam, Lady of Pakenbam, of Thomas Pakenbam, Knt. Son to Mary; and of Ralph Hemenhall, Knt. and his Wife Catherine Aspall. And tho' it had been decreed by Pope Benedict IX. A.D. 1300, that all Benedictine Monks should follow their Studies in the University Hall or College, nevertheless, Pope Sextus IV. A. D. 1481, fo far favoured this Hall, as to ordain, that all Monks of the faid Order in the Diocese of Norwick, should Study in none but this Hall. And for the farther advancing of Learning, the Revenues were increased by several well disposed Persons; so that 7 Fellows and 11 Scholars were added to the former Number. Thus, if we confider the Fellowships, Scholarships, Buildings, and Stipends of this College, we shall find above a hundred Benefactors on the Register of Gonvile; fome of the chief of which were, William Philwick, Esquire-Beadle of the University, who gave his own House to Gonvile-Hall, and made it a little College, to be as it were a Holy Colony to the numercus Youths of this Hall; where two Principals were to be chosen, the one out of Gonvile-Hall, and the other out of this House, (called Phiswick's Hestle) which were to preside over the Youth of both Houses, not so much for Governing as for their Knowledge in the Liberal Arts. And that these two Houses might be the more strongly united, the Master and Fellows of Gonvile-Hall, requested of Pope Alexander V. that the Scholars of Philwick's Hoftle, should at all Times repair to their Chapel, both for Divine Service, and for burying thei

their Dead; without having recourse to the Ordinary. In this Hostle, Walter Lybert Bp. of Norwich, maintained 12 Students during his Life.

William Renele, once Fellow of King's-College, and Rector of Tichwell in Norfolk, A. D. 1381, enlarged the Buildings of Phiswick Hostle, and built several Rooms in his Parish of Tichwell, in those Farms, which belonged to this Hall; whither the Fellows and Scholars from both Houses, might retire, when any contagious Distemper happened in the University, or when any of them had a fancy to enjoy the Country Air. This Hoftle aforesaid, (in which above 400 Students have studied at one time) stood formerly in the same place, where now the South fide of Trinity-College stands next Pis-pot-lane, (which Lane was then part of Gonvill-Hall, and fince erected as a boundary between the two Colleges) and was added to that College as an Improvement, by Henry VIII, on his promissing the Master, and Fellows of this College, that some satisfaction and Provision, should be made them for the fame, and that he would allow them out of his Exchequer, 3l. a Year, till fuch Satisfaction was made them, but how long they enjoyed the payment, or what fatisfaction they had for the same, I no where find. I might here mention the Smiths, Willowfes, Knights, Baileys, Willifens, and Atkinfer, who were all brought up in this Hall, and great Favourers of the same; Pope Alexander VI, who was also a Member of this Hall, granted them, A. D. 1002, full Metropolitan License to send out two Preachers Yearly, throughout all England; and I think they might have proved more fortunate, had they known how to have improved those times of Henry VIII. to their Advantage: I unwillingly pass by Nicholas Shaxton, Bp. of Salisbury, Mafter of this Hall, and Guardian of the Hospital, of St. Giles's of Norwich; John Betlesham, Bp. of Rochester; John Wakering, Keeper of the Privy Seal under King Henry, V. Henry Spencer, and John Gold-well all three Bps. of Norwich; John Ufford, Younger Brother to Robert Ufford, alias Peyton, Commoner of the first Gonvile-Hall; who forefaw the rifing again of the translated House; favoured it with his good Wishes, was afterwards chose Archbp. of Canterbury by Edward III, and Pope Clement VI, but died before his Installation; Walter Elveden, who was learning the Rudiments of Divine and Human Wisdom at Gonvile-Hall, in the Reign of Richard II. as appears by his ingenious and fignificant Calender; John Fitzralph, Knt. who gave the Advowson tf the Church of Capell, in Suffolk, A. D. 1353; Edward Homegrave, in Suffolk; Thomas Lovell, in Norfolk; Robert Thorpe, Lord High Chancellor of England, all of them Knts; Humphrey de-la-Poole, Clerk, and Edward de-la-Poole, Archdeacon of Richmond, both Commoners of this Hall, (the Sons of John de-la-Poole, second Duke of Suffolk) and John le-Strange of Massingham in Norfolk Esgrs; William Lynwood, Dr. of Canon and Civil Law, Official of the Court of Canterbury, Bp. of St. David's, Keeper of the Privy Seal to Henry V. and the Compiler of the Provincial Constitutions, was formerly Commoner of this Hall. That all these were Benefactors, the very Walls declare, the Treasury, the Library testify, the Windows themselves do make appear. In the next place I will give you an account of the four following Flowers of Piety, and Virtuous Heroines, of their Age, viz. the most excellent Ladies, Mary Pakenna, Elizabeth Clare, Ann Scroope, and Ann Drury; amongst whom, the Lady Mary Pakenham in 1396, increased the Mafter's Stipend, founded one Fellowship, and gave to 4 Fellows, an allowance out of the Rectory of Matsel, alias Mattishall, in the County of Norfolk; Elizabeth Clare, Daughter and Heir to fobnUverdale, of Tackleston, in Norfolk Esq; the most devout Widow of Robert Clare of Ormesby, in the County aforesaid Esq; in the Year 1480, gave Lands in Tuttington in the same County, for the maintenance of one Fellow, and as a nursing Mother to this Hall, made several other valuable Donations; sirst, 40l. to increase the number of Scholars; secondly she built the East side of the College; thirdly, she gave 46l. to repair the Buildings of the Hall, besides a Sum of 40 Marks she bestowed on the College Chest.

Walter Lybert aforesaid Bp. of Norwich, gave

51. to the College Chest.

Lady Ann Scroope, Daughter and Heir of Robert Harling of Harling in Norfolk, Knt. by his Wife Joanna, Daughter and Heir of John Gonvil, Knt. which faid Robert was Son of John Harling, Knt. and his Wife Cicely, Daughter, and at last Coheir of Constantine Mortimer of Attleborough in the fame County, Knt. This Ann, was first Wife to William Chamberlain, Knt. of the Garter, fecondly, to Robert Wingfield, Knt. of the Sepulchre, and Governor of Calais; and thirdly, to the Lord 7 bn Baron Scroope of Bolton, in the County of Richmond, Knt. of the Garter. Having had no Child by these three Husbands, she greatly enlarged the little College of Canons, founded by her Great Uncle's Great Uncle, Edmund Gonvile, of Rushbrook in the County of Norfolk, and gave it to her Lordship there, being the Ancient Seat of the Gonviles; besides, this Heroine of singular Piety, (defcending, as appears from the Gonviles) gave to this Hall, in the Reign of King Henry VII. her Manor of Mortimer at Cambridge, for the maintenance of one Fellow; for the confirming of which Manor, the Lady Ann Drury, Daughter and Heir of William Huntingfield, of Huntingfield, in Suffel .

Suffolk, Esq; and Widow of Richard Drury of Hemstead in Suffolk, Knt. gave to this Hall, a Legacy of 40l.

Peter Hewyt, Bp. Shaxton, William Gale, Thomas Willows, William Sigo, John Whitacre, Francis Hohman, Rector of both the Weetings in Norfolk, gave the Society 100%. for such uses as they should think proper.

These are all I have come to the knowledge of, tho' doubtless there are many others.

CAIUS COLLEGE, 1557.

(Now confolidated with Gonvile-Hall, and called Gonvile and Caius-College, (alias, Caius or Keys-

College;)

Was founded by John Caius aforesaid, Son of one of the Family's of the same name, who had settled in Norwich and in different Parts of the County of Norfolk long before, and was born in Norwich 1510.

. He had his first Education at Norwich, from whence he was fent very Young to Gonvile-Hall in Cambridge, where, after he had studied some time, he was made a Fellow, and Doctor of Physic; went thence to Italy, and entered himself in the University of Padua, a City of Venice. then famous for the Study of Physic, under John Baptist Montanus of Verona, the greatest Physician of that time: Where having for feveral Years read Public Greek-Lettures, to his great Reputation; and wrote many, and translated more learned Books in that Faculty, on his return to England he fettled at Norwich and practiced Phylic with great fuccess, till 1551; when the Sweating-Sickness raged forely there, which he treated with great Judgement. and in 1556, published the History thereof in Latin for the use of Foreigners,

In 1557, being then Physician to Queen Mary, of whom he was a great favourite, he applied to her Majesty for leave to advance the Hall, called Gonvile-Hall, in Cambridge, to that of a College, for as yet it was never incorporated; having only Licences of Mortmain to purchase or receive Lands Tenements &c. But though the Masters and Fellows might suppose themselves a Corporation, yet they had no other Authority than what Bishop B teman by his Power gave them, and that confirmed by the Chancellor of the University, and the Bp. of Ely, not any Letters Patent under the great Seal of England, without which there can be no Corporation. Wherefore the Master and Fellows, by the Advice of Dr. Caius, petitioned the Queen for a Charter of Foundation, and Confirmation of all the Rights, Estates and Privileges they then enjoyed, or might hereafter enjoy by Donation or Purchase; which Dr. Caius obtained for them; who, thereby became the fecond Founder, and had full Power given him to appoint Rules and Statutes for the Society to observe and keep, provided they were not repugnant to the Statutes before given them by Bp. Bateman, or detrimental to the Perogative of the Crown. The fame Charter also gave him Power to settle 701. per Ann. more, and to found 2 or more Fellows, and 12 or more Scholars; to be incorported by the Name of the Master, Fellows and Scholars of GONVILE and CAIUS-COLLEGE, founded to the Horour of the Annunciation of the Bleffed VIRGIN MARY: And the Year following on the Feast of the Annunciation, the Dr. re-dedicated and confecrated it to the Honour aforesaid; (to which it was dedicated by Gonvile and Bateman, above 200 Years before) and endowed it (beside Plate, Money, Books and other things which he gave now and at feveral times) with the Manor of Croxlev in Hertfordshire, then worth 231. Is. 7d. 2 per Ann. being formerly part of the Abbey of St. The Manor of Runcton in Norfolk, formerly belonging to the Monastery of St. Edmunds-Bury in Suffolk, then valued at 221. 5s. per Ann. to which he added the Patronages of Holme, Wallington, and the Manor of Burnham in Norfolk, formerly part of the Monastery at Wimondham, then worth 6l. per Ann. All these he purchased of the Queen in 1556, and 1557, for 1030l. 12.5 6d. But

But the faid three Advowsons being conveyed by Edward VI. to Sir Edward Fines, Lord Clinton and Say, High Admiral of England, and Henry Herdsdon of London, the College has lost them. The Dr. (after the determination of the Leases then in force) ordained the raifing of the Rents, together with the Quit-Rents &c. to the amount of 121l. 14s. 2d. per Ann. Soon after which settlement he built the South-Court called Caius-Court. wholly at his own Charge; and that the Gates might read a Lecture of Morality to fuch as go through them; he caused that which enters the College next St. Michael's-Church, to be be inferibed, Humilitatis, or the Gate of Humili-TY: The next entrance is inscribed, VIRTUTIS. or the Gate of VIRTUE; to which Humility is a principal Step: On the other fide of this Portico. are these Words; Jo. CAIUS POSVIT SAPIENTIÆ. 1567. That is, John Caius built this in Honour of Wisdom, which every Virtuous Man must be acquainted with: The other Gate next the Public Schools is a neat Piece of ancient Architecture, faid to contain allthe fiveOrders; and inscribed, Ho-NORIS, or the Gate of HONOUR, which he supposing all who passed it to take their Degrees, had attained. The expences of these Buildings, are said to have cost him 1834/. In 1573, he resigned the Mastership to Thomas Legg, D. D his Townsman, and lived in his Chambers over the Gate of Wisdom, and Virtue, as Fellow Commoner in his own College, and having built himfelf a little Seat in the Chapel, was conftantly present at Prayers. But the same Year, going to London on some emergent Affairs, he there died July 29th, 1573; Ætat. 63.

Before his death, he gave orders for making his Sepulchre, under the Altar of the Virgin Mary, on the North fide of the Chapel: His Monument when the Chapel was rebuilt fometime fince, and made longer, was raised from the Floor, and placed in the Wall as it now stands; His Body, it was said, was sound whole and perfect, and the Beard very long, though it had been buried near 150 Years.

The Tomb refembles a Canopy supported by three Pillars of vein'd Marble, with this excellent, tho' short Epitaph, Ful Calus.

VIVIT POST FUNERA VIRTUS.

ÆТАТІS SUÆ LXIII. Obiit XXIX Julii.

Anno Dni 1573.

I was Caius.

Virtue our Death Survives.

By his Will he appointed William Gerard, Efq; and William Cornway, Citizen and Grocer of London, his Executors, ordering them to purchase Lands of 100l. per Ann. and settle them on his College; and farther appropriated his Fellowships and Scholarships to his Countrymen, of the Diocese and City of Norwich, according to the Example of the first Founder.

In the fixth Year of Queen Elizabeth, he obtained a Licence, that this College might for ever Yearly, take the Bodies of two Malefactors at their Difcretion, and Diffect them, without the controul of any Person, and without paying any thing for them; and settled the Annual Sum of 11. 65. 8d. for the expence of Dissecting the said Bodies.

He hath two Commemorations-Days kept by the College, viz. July 29th, being the day of his Death, and Ott. 6th, being his Birth-day.

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL is not large, but neat and beautiful, and was rebuilt about 30 Years fince; it is dedicated to the Annunciation of the Bleffed Virgin, the History of which is represented in a beautiful Picture over the Communion Table. The Cieling is painted with Blue, and beautified with a great number of Cherubs-Heads in Rays of Light. The. Altar is neatly wainfcotted and ornamented with four Pillars on each fide, in the midst of which is the aforesaid Picture in a gilt Frame; over which are painted fevenCandlesticks with Tapers, and on each fide are curious carvings in Wood, represent-1 3

ing

ing Flowers, Fruits &c. The Altar is also railed in, and paved with black and white Marble. The Table is covered with a Velvet Cloth, on which stands two Silver gilt Candlesticks with Tapers of Wax, a large Silver Dish, two beautiful Velvet Cushions, on each a Common-Prayer-Book, the Cloth and Cushion on the Litany-Desk, as also those of the Master's and President's Seats, are of the same, and all fringed with Gold. Over the Antichapel is a neat Gallery, where the Master's Servants may hear Divine-Service.

In the Antichapel lies buried Walter Stubbe, A. M. Fellow, he died June 8, 1514. Cujus Anime provicietur Deus.

The Stone which covered the High-Altar before the Reformation, and hath a Crofs cut at each corner, lies here.

In this Chapel is a Mural Monument near the Altar, for William Webb, of Dorsetshire, who maried Elizabeth, Sister German to Dr. Branthwait, Master here: He was inrolled here at 13 Years of Age, and was afterwards four Years at Oxford: He died June 27. 1613.

Over the bottom Arms (for there is a Coat of various Arms at the top of the Monument) are the following Lines;

A richer WEBB, than any Art can weave; The Soul that Faith to Christ makes firmly cleave, This WEBB can Death or Devils sunder or untwist, For Christ and Grace, both groundwork are, and List.

On the North side of the Chapel near the West end, is another Mural Monument for Stephen Perse, (See Benefactors) in the middle of an inscription, (too long for me to incert) are these six Lines in English, (such as it is) and which I thought proper to give my Readers;

Christin, surnamde, Stephan Perse, I hight, Sole Life with God alone, my Crowne my Light, With living God, eternali Life I live, This now my Song: to sole God, praise I give, This Epitath by me Perse was devized, To none else my Thoughts, better were comprized.

The HALL, is a large and well proportioned

Room, over the Butteries, Cellars &c.

The LIBRARY, is not large, but well flock'd with useful Books both Printed and MSS. amongst which, is a large collection of those treating of Physic and Heraldry.

The Combination-Room, usually called the Parlour, is a neat handsome Apartment well fitted up and ornamented, whither the Fellows and Fellow-Commoners repair after Dinner or Supper, to recreate themselves.

The Lodge is but small, yet hath several pretty Apartments, with a fmall Garden.

This College being furrounded with Lanes on three fides, and the Street on the East; cannot be thought to contain much Garden Ground, yet, befides the Garden belonging to the Master, the Fellows have a small one, or rather Orchard; and the Court next the Street (for it has three) is hand-somely planted with Lime-Trees.

This College is particularly noted for its many Festival, and Commemoration-Days, when they commonly make good cheer.

REFORMATION, 1643.

Dec. 22, and 23, Dr. Batcheroft Master, and Mr. Walson, and other Fellows present; we took down 68 Cherubims, with divers Superstitious Inscriptions in Gold Letters.

N. B. This was in the old Chapel, before it was rebuilt.

A List of the ejested Loyalists.

Thomas Batchcroft, D. D. Mastership.

He had not been disposessed when the QUERE-LA was published: However (says Walker) I find by the Copy of a Letter, from the Earl of Manchefter, to the Sequestrators of the County of Cambridge, bearing date Jan. 1, 1643; that Dr. Batchcrost's Estate in Milton, had been put under Sequestration; which that Earl requested the Sequestrators to release. What effect the Letter had I know not, this is certain; that some of his Goods had also been plundered, which he redeemed again for 201. as by the receipt for that Money (dated Feb. 25, 1644) doth appear. About the same time also (which was the time when this University was under Reformation) Dr. Batchcroft was, as I take it, under Sentence of Sequestration from his Headship; but by fome means or other made shift to continue in Possession of it, untill the Year 1649; tho' many are apt to think he complied too much with the times, which was the chief reason of his keeping possession of the Mastership so long. He was dispossessed by the Parliament April 13, 1649, and restored in 1660, but resigned the same Year, and returning to his Relations at Wangford in Suffolk, there died, and was buried in 1662: He died very rich, and defigned to have made the College his Heir, if it had not been for his ill treatment by fome of the Fellows, and his ejectment from the Mastership, but as it was, he left them a small Estate of 91. a Year.

Salter, A. M. Fellowship.

He was ejected Feb. 15, 1644; and one Alexander Gibson placed in his room, this Gibson was a Scotsman, and consequently thrust upon the College, in manifest contradiction of the Statutes; which admit of none but Natives of the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk.

* Richard London, A. M. Fellowship.

He was at that time absent, upon a travelling Fellowship, and Studying Physic.

Francis Marsh, A. M. Fellowship.

In Kennet's Register 870, mention is made of one Marsh a Senior Fellow ejected, and restored in 1660, being then in Ireland, where he after became Dean of Armagh, and at length Archbp. of Dublin.

Richard Watson, A. M. Fellowship.

AND

Master of the Free-Grammar-School at Cambridge.

In 1642 he had preached a Sermon at St. Mary's touching Schism; which gave such offence to the Godly of those times, that when the Reformation of this University came on, they took care to disposess him of both. To avoid their Barbarities he fled to France, where he was Patroniz'd by Sir Richard Brown, and was one of those English Divines, who did many times, argue with the contraryParty, concerning the Visibility of their Church. He was sometime also Chaplain to the Lord Hopton. In 1661 returning to England, he became Chaplain to the Duke of York; D. D. Rector of Pewsey in Willshire, Prebend of Warminster, then of Bitton, in the Church of Salisbury, and died in 1684. He was a learned Man, and published feveral Pieces: Being a most zealous favourer of the Church of England, the Party persecuted him accerdingly; cordingly; infomuch that he was accounted one of the prime Sufferers of the English Clergy beyond the Seas.

^{*} He, Mr. Colebrand, Mr. Hallyburton, and Mr. Pickurell, were all ejected by the Earl of Manchefler Apr. 8, 1644.

Robert Sherringham, A. M. Fellowship.

His name occurs not in the List at the end of the Querela; but Wood saith, that he was ejected, or at least left his Fellowship in 1643, (but that is a mistake, for I find him Proctor of this University in 1644) and that his quitting the College, was in effect, tho' not in form, an ejectment appears beyond contradiction, by his being restored in 1660.

He was as Wood thinks, a Native of the County of Cambridge. When he quitted the University, he retired first to London, then to Holland, where he taught the Hebrew and Arabic Tongues. He was afterwards reinstated in his Fellowship, and lived in a very retired and studious condition; and died in College 1667. He was a most excellent Linguist, especially for the Oriental and Gotbic Languages; as also admirably well versed in the Original Antiquities of the English Nation; which fully appears in his Book De Anglicorum Gentis Origine.

Charles Scarborough, A. M. Fellowship.

After his ejection he retired to Oxford, where he was created M. D. in 1646. At the fame time also he had a Testimonial from the Great Dr. Hervey, of his being well learned in Physic, Philosophy, and Mathematics, and was affisting to the Dr. in Writing his Book De Generatione animalium. Afterwards he became celebrated for his Skill in Anatomy: One of the College of Physicians, principal Physician to Charles II. (who Knighted him) and to the Duke of York, in whose service he continued after that Prince came to the Throne. He was also Physician to the Tower, and at length to William III. He was the first that Introduced University of Cambridge. 139 Geometrical and Mechanical-Speculations into Anatomy; being admirably well skilled in the Mathematics, as also in Grammar, as appears by a performance of that kind, which he drew up.

---- Pickarel, A. M. Fellowship.

Anthony Hallyburton, A. M. Fellowship.

He hath a Copy of Verses Extant, in some of the Cambridge Poems.

- Colebrand, A. M. Fellowship.

One Richard Colebrand of this University, was A. D. 1660; Dean and Rector of Bocking in Effex; Sept. 22, 1673, he was made Prebend of Westminster, and died the Year following, and was doubtless the same with this Sufferer.

--- Buxton, A. M. Fellowship.

One William Buxton of this House, and doubtless the same Person with this Sufferer, was Taxor in 1639.

VII. KINGS COLLEGE, 1441.

KING HENRY VI. first founded this College on Feb. 12th, in the 19th Year of his Reign A.D. 1441; and dedicated it to the Virgin Mary, and St. Nicholas (his birth happening that day) where he placed a Rector and 12 Scholars, more or less, as the Rents would bear. (John Kirby and Nicholas Hatclyffe being two of the first twelve) within the Compass of which College, there were in those ancient days, two famous Churches, one of St. Nicholas, the other of St. John Baptist, or Zachary; where afterwards stood St. Augustin's-Hall, no inconsiderable Hostle, and a House, called the House of God. But in 1443, he quite changed its Form and Name, placing therein a Provost, (before called a Rector) 70 Fellows and Scholars, 10 Priests, 6 Clerks, a Music Master, or Organist, 16 Choiristers, 16 Officers of the Foundation, 12 Servitors for the Senior Fellows, and 6 poor Scholars; in all 140. Calling it the College of the Bleffed Virgin Mary; and the Glorious Confessor St Nicholas; but now known by the name of Kings-College. But that the faid Prince's Piety might be the more conspicuous, he did not fettle the College, and finish the Kitchen, to feed their Bodies; but first began to build the Chapel, to feed their Souls with Heavenly Food. He defigned the magnificent Structure of the College should be Quadrangular, according to the Plan hereafter mentioned; but being involved in the Domestic Broils of the House of York, he did not finish what he intended; but left the same to be compleated by his Successors: Among whom, Edward IV. was so far from complying with the defire of his Predecessor, that instead of adding any thing to the College, he took from it many good Lands and Revenues, and gave them to the Oxonians, then at his Court, as for Instance; an Estate in this Town, now called the School of Pythagoras, which belonged to this College, he gave to Merton-College in Oxford, and which that College enjoys at this day.

But to make the College fome amends, Henry VII. extended the Building of the Chapel 188 feet in length, and finished the outside Shell.

Henry VIII. finished the inside, erecting the Stalls, adorning it with most excellent Carvings, and the Windows with beautiful painted Glass.

King Henry VI. not only founded this College as aforesaid, but also erected the College of Eaton near Windsor, as a Nursery to this; where a Provost, 7 Fellows, and 70 Grammar Scholars are maintained, and from amongst these last, more or less, are annually sent up hither.

MEMBERS.

A Provost, seventy Fellows, two Conducts, six poor Scholars, an Organist, six Singing-Men, and sixteen Choristers, all upon the Foundation.

N. B. The young Gentlemen of this College, that are on the Foundation, (and there are few others admitted, except the fix poor Scholars) are not obliged to keep their Exercise in the public Schools, as do those of the other Colleges.

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL is a Gothic Building, and one of the most sumptuous Edificies in the World, (being 304 Feet from East to West, 73 from North to South, and from the Ground to the top of the Battlements 91 Feet: At every Corner is an Octagon Tower, terminating in a Dome, and having winding Stairs leading into the same. The Whole is of Freestone, every where beautifully carved, and is thought to be the largest Room in the World, whose Roof is not supported by Pillars. It is covered with a Stone Arch, and that by a Timber one well Leaded, and room enough between each for a tall Man to go upright. On the North and South Side is a Porch and nine small Chapels, each of which had its Altar before the Reformation; but are now used as burial Places, except those on the South Side; fome of which serve for the Library Library, Vestry, Muniment Room, &c. This Chapel is dedicated to the Honour of the Bleffed Virgin and St. Nicholas. Having pulled down a Church dedicated to the latter, on whose burial Ground this Chapel is built. Fuller in his History of Cambridge, fays that it is one of the rarest Fabrics in Christendom, wherein the Stone - work, Wood-work, and Glass-work contend, which most deferves Admiration; yet the first generally carrieth away the Credit, (as being a Stone Henge indeed) so geometrically contrived, that volumous Stones mutually support themselves in the arched Roof, as if Art had made them forget Nature, and weaned them from their fondness to descend to their Centre. No wonder then if this Chapel, so rare a Structure, was the Work of three succesfive Kings, Henry VI. who founded, the VII. who farthered, the VIII. who finished it; but the untimely Death, (or rather deposing) of King Henry VI. hindred the fame. This Chapel was confecrated in 1443, by the Bps. of Salisbury and Lincoln, it being then fit for prefent use, tho not fitted up in the Manner it was afterwards and now is. See Henry VI's Will relating to this Chapel, at the End of this College, by which you will find, it would have been much more grand, had the Vestry, Cloifter, and Tower been built, which was never done, tho the five Bells definged to be hung in the Tower, were afterwards put up in a wooden One, built near the West End of the Chapel, which, with the Weight of the Bells and the Inclemency of the Weather soon decayed and fell down, and the Bells (which were counted the five largest in England) have ever fince flood on the Floor in the Anti-Chapel, being fent (as it is faid) as a pretent to the Founder, by Pope Callat III. about 1.166.

On the first is this,

In multis annis resonet Campana Johannis:

And the Arms of France and England quartered, with J. D. for John Dogget, who was Provost in 1500, when it was new run.

The fecond hath nothing.

The third hath,

AVE MARIA GRATIÆ PLENA.

The fourth hath,

Nomen tuum Sanclum per atria cantabo, Laudes tuas Domine, Landibus celebrabo.

F. D.

The fifth Weighs, according to Computation, 57 C. and hath the Arms of France and England quartered, and the Impressions of a Coin or two, on one is a Cross Flore, on another a Person standing by a Crucifix, and this Motto, Trinetate sacra fiat hec Campana beata.

The least and two largest are cracked; and I have heard say a large sum has been offered the College for them (the Mettal being accounted much better than common) tho' I can't say, (but do believe) the College cannot sell them without leave from the Crown, and I also believe if his Majesty was informed the harm they do by standing there in sinking the Floor, or the little service they are of, he would readily Consent to their being sold, and the Money arising thereby, laid out about the College repairs, or what other use may be thought more proper.

The Windows are extremely beautiful of painted Glass, except the West Window, which some think was destroyed by the Rebels in the Civil Wars, but why that in particular, when the rest escaped, I can't Account for (but Mr. Smith one of the present Fellows told me, that none of the Glass belonging to this Chapel was taken down at that Time and indeed I think if it was, and buried, as some say it was) it would be almost impossible to place it in its proper order again: They contain the old and new Testament, and the Chapel Clerk, for a small Gratuity, will explain to any one that goes to see the Chapel, their several Meanings,

But to give a Reason how they all escaped so, (when that Crew made the Chapel a Place of Arms, and exercised the Soldiers therein) I am at a loss.

On the choice of a Provost, the Fellows are all shut into the Anti-Chapel, and out of which they are not permitted to stir on any Account, nor none permitted to enter till they have all agreed on their Man, which Agreement sometimes takes up several Days, and, if I remember right, they were three Days and Nights confined, in chosing the present Provost, and had their Beds, Close-stools, &c. with them, and their Commons, &c. given them in at the Windows.

On the Brass Stand in the middle of the Choir, where the Lessons are read, is the Name Robertus H.cumblen, who was Donor, and Provost in the Year 1509.

On the Organ-loft, is this Cut in, on the Wainfor,

R. H. i. c. Rex Henricus. Henricus Ostavus. S. 1a februs fervire Dec. R. H. As also, there is carved on a Pannel as you enter the Anti-chapel from the Choir, on the left Hand; the last Judgment represented in a most beautiful Manner.

At the Entrance of the South Door against the Wall on the right Hand, is a Brass Plate for

Matthew Stokys, who was Scholar here, and Efq;

Beadle of this University, &c.

And this is the only Monumental Inscription in the Anti-chapel.

On a black Marble in the Vestry behind the Altar, for,

John Gerard, late Senior Fellow buried; 1'90,

Ætat. 53.

In the first South Chapel from the West End (which serves for a Municion Room) are two Mural Monuments of white Marble, that at the West End hath,

Under the Arms a neat Buft, for,

That at the West End for,

William Scawen, of this House, who died Nov. 21, 1710, Ætal. 19.

In the Second Chapel, lies a Stone robbed of its Inscription, but said to be for,

Robert Hacumblen, Provost here.

Here also lies.

Master John Plente, formerly Fellow here, who in 1484, by Indenture, between Walter Field, Provost, John Bp. of Lincoln, and Henry Boost, Provost, of Eason, settled a Fellow to be Priest, who should say daily Mass in the Morning for the reading Scholars, and then pray for the Souls of the said Master, John Plente, his Friends, Parents, and Benefactors, and for such Service, he was to receive a Mark every Quarter of the College Bursar, and and for Non-payment, the three fore-going Parties to the Indentureei had Power to fieze on the Manor and Priory of Ruysslepp in Middlefex, and for the true Performance of which, he gave the College 160 Marks, and his Name to be entered in the Bead-roll, and to be annually commemorated with the Benefactors.

At the West End is a Mural Monument for, Samuel Collyns, Master here. (See Provosts.)

In this Chapel also, stands a large Altar-tomb, of white Marble, with an Urn on its Top, from which a Flame issues, and having Inscriptions or Arms on three Sides, (and that on the South Side a very long Inscription) for.

John Churchill, Marquess of Blansord, Son of John and Sarah, Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, born on the Ides of Jan. 1686, and died 19 Kal, Mar. 1702.

On the South Side of this Tomb, lies a black

Marble for,

John Copleston, S. T. P. Provost of this College, he died 24th of Aug. 1689, £1.71.

In the third Chapel lies a flat Stone for, Robert Braffey, Provost here, he died Nov. 10, 1558.

And by him according to his desire, lies

Charles Roderick, S. T. P. Dean of Ely, he died

Mar. 25, 1712, Æt. 62.

The rest of the South Chapels contain the Library, where the Books are chained to the Classes.

The following Inscriptions are in the North

Chapels.

Thomas Crouch, Fellow; who at his Death gave his Library; he died Aug. 30, 1679.

Another for

Thomas Gearing, Vice-Provost 29 Years, who died O.T. 17, 18)4.

Roger Goad, Provost, 1610.
William Smyth, Provost, 1615.

There is a flat Stone robbed of its Esligies, &c. for John Hawtrey, of Rislip in Middlesex, who died in 1673, Æt. 19. M

In the 4th North Chapel, stands a curious Model of this Chapel.

In the 5th is a Mural Monument at the East End for.

Sir Tromas Page, Kt. Provost; he died in 1681, Æ1.71.

Radulph Flyer, M. D. he died Jan. 20, 1634. Æ1. 58.

In the 9th is a Monument for, 11, 1494.

John Smith, A. M. Senior, Fellow; and Vice-Provost 11 Years; he died Aug. 23, 1706; Ætst.

In this Chapel there are Prayers three Times a Day, viz. at half an Hour past 6, and no in the Morning, and at 5 in the Evening, except Sundays and Holidays, and then but twice, viz. at 8 in the Morning, and 4 in the Evening; and every Time (except at half an Hour after 6 in the Morning) as in Cathedrals, and is the only Public Chapel in Town, and where, on a Sunday Afternoon, (especially in the Summertime and fine Weather) you may fee it well filled, and amongst them Numbers of Ladies.

Here is a Sermon every Lady-Day, and extraordinary Mulic, when they Commemorate their Founder and Benefactors; and till within these few Years, after Sermon, the Music used to go up to the Leads of the Chapel and there Perform.

The Provost's Lodge, tho' it makes not fo grand an out-fide Appearance as some do, yet within, few exceed it for grandeur and convenient Apartments.

The River Cam runs on the West Side of this College, over which is a Stone Bridge leading from the College to a long and spacious shady Walk, and other pleasant private Walks and Groves, with Fish-ponds, &c. But to have a better Idea of this charming Place, see a Prospect thereof published sometime since by the Ingenious Mr. Essex of this Town.

The new BUILDING, which is 236 Foot long from North to South, 46 broad and 50 high, built with white Portland Stone beautifully carved with a grand Portico in the Middle, fronting the faid Bridge and the middle Walk of the grand Court; contains three lofty Floors above the Vaults; and the Apartments which are twenty-four in Number, are exceeding well fitted up, and in every respect answer the outward Appearance, which far exce ds any other in the University, and from the upper Rooms you have a pleasant West Prospect over the Fields for many Miles.

In digging the Foundation for this Building in 1724, the Workmen broke an earthen Pot which contained a great many Gold Pieces of the Coin of Henry V. the Mafter and Fellows recovered as many as they could, and the Workmen would own; but is supposed they secreted the greatest Part of them, that Coin being soon after, frequently seen amongst the Inhabitants of the Town.

On March 25, (being Commemoration-Day) the first Sone was laid in the following Manner, viz. After a Sermon preached before the University, in the Chapel, by George Doughty, A. M. and one of the Senior Fellows, and an Anthem composed on the Occation, the Provost, accompanied by the Noblemen, Heads of Colleges, Dollars, and other Members of the University, proceeding to the Corner of the Foundation next the Chapel, where the first Stone was laid, bespoke success to the Undertaking in the Form which follows, with such Actions, at proper intervals, as the Words themselves express, or are Customary in such kinds of Ceremonies, M. 2.

The foregoing in English.

Be it known to the cutious Antiquarian, who in fu-While he examines the Rubbish [ture Times, Shall perhaps take out of the Stone this Plate.

That the Stone,

In the Reign of King Henry the fixth,
Was defigned for the Foundation of this College:
But when, first, the Confusion of Affairs,
And then the violent Death,

Of that best of Princes,

Had occasion'd a long Delay at the beginning of this Work,

From that Time, it lay in the adjoining Court;

For now almost three Centuries;

Now at length, on the 25th of March, In the Year of our Lord 1724:

And in the 1cth of the Reign of our Illustrious King G E O R G E;

The Work being began afresh with better Omens:
The Western Side of the great Court,

Took its beginning from thence,

Which found no Place in the former Building; How much the College it felf contributed to the Work, By what other Subscriptions it was promoted,

And what Patrons it met with,
May be known to Posterity,
As well from the Annual Commemoration,
As from the Records of Learning,

Samuel Collyns, D. D. Provostship.

* Regius Professor of Divinity,

Prebend of the 7th Stall in the Church of Ely,

Millon Rectory near Cambridge, a Sinecure, then worth 150l.

Braintree Rectory in Essex, and Fen-Ditton Rectory in Cambridgeshire.

He was born in Eaton, faith Fuller, in Buckinghamshire, and was the Son of Mr. Baldwyn Collyns, whom Q. Elizabeth for his great Piety and Charity, used to call Father Collyns. He was educated in Grammar learning, at Eaton School, gave great Hopes whilst at that School, of becoming a very eminent Man, and was elected from thence to this College in 1591. Of which he was chosen Fellow in Opposition to fix Competitors, who made an extraordinary Appearance, and at that timeDr. Goade the Provost, clapping his Hands on Collyns's Head, faid, this is my Child, that if he live shall be my Heir and Successor. Feb. 15, 1610. he was admitted to the Rectory of Braintree; in 1615 he was chosen Provost here, and two Years after he was put into the Regius Professor's Chair. When the Rebellion began, he adhered faithfully to the Royal Caufe, for which he was dispossessed of all

^{*} He was sometime after restored to the Prefessorship, beeause, saith the Lerela, none of themselves were able to discharge it-the abovenamed Preferments in 1645; and fucceeded in his Provostship by Mr. (afterwards Dr.) * Whichcott. The reasons assigned for depriving him of his Living. See Fen-Ditton aforesaid. After which he underwent great Miseries; for he was long Imprisoned, Plundered also, if I mistake not, and otherwise used ill by the Party.

Lloyd observes of this learned and worthy Dr. that he brought over to the Church seven Papists and fixteen Dissenters. See Masters.

Henry Edmonds, A. M. Fellowship.

Of whom I know nothing more, fave that he was elected from Eaton School to this College in 1627.

Charles Mason, A. M. Fellowship.

He was elected hither from Eaton School in the Year 1630, or 1631; was afterwards Tripos Prævericator, created D. D. at Oxford, Nov. 1, 1642, prefented to the Rectory of Stowre-Provost in Dorsetsbire, admitted to theRectory of St. Mary-Woolchurch, which was burnt in 1666, in 1661, collated to the Prebendary of St. Paul's Dec. 3, 1663, collated to the Rectory of St. Peter's-Poor May 14, 1669, and died 1697.

William Franklyn, A. M. Fellowship.

For refusing to take the Covenant, though some Years after he Apostatized, took the Covenant, and was restored by the Parliament Feb. 21, 1647: So that he scarce deserves a Place in this List.

M 4. Christo-

^{*} Who consented that he should have a Yearly Stipend paid him out of the common dividend allotted to the Provest, which was continued to his Death. The said Dr. Whicheast left also a Legacy of 100l. to Sir John Collins, Son of this worthy Dr. He died in 1051, at Combridge, where he lived a retired Life after his Sequestiation.

Christopher Wase, A. B. Fellowship.

He was elected hither from Eaton School, in 1645, took one Degree, and was then turned o. t of the College for publishing the Translation of Electea, &c. He was at length chosen Superior-Beadle of Law, and Archi-typegrapher to the University of Oxford; published a Dictionary, and several other Things.

J. Ansty, A. M. Fellowship.

He was elected to this College from Eaton School in 1628.

Barnaby Barlow, A. M. Fellow.

Lloyd feems to make Mr. John Pearson (afterwards the most learned Bp. of Chester) one of the ejected Fellows of this College; but Walker doubts it is a mistake.

The reason why so sew Fellows were ejected from this House was, that Dr. Whichcost the new Provost, as he had never taken the Covenant himself, so by the particular Friendship which he had with some of the chief of the Visitors, prevailed to have the greatest part of the Fellows of the College exempted from that Imposition, and preserved them in their Places.

But before I finally take my leave of this College, I will here prefent you with the Will of Henry VI. touching the very Plat of this College, and supposing, that the rest of the College had proceeded according to the Chapel, as his sull intent and meaning was, (had he not been hindered as assorbed to the like would scarce have any where been equalled. The College was begun in his time, and finished so far, that in the Year 1443, the Cemitery, or Church-Yard, the Altar, &c. as the manner then was, were cosecrated by the Bps. of Lincoln and Salisbury. The Words of the Will are thus:

As

And in the middle of the west Pane of the Cloister a strong Tower Square, containing 24 Foot within the Walls, and in height 120 to the Corbil Table; and 4 fmall Turrets over that fined with Pinnacles, and a Door into the faid Cloifter inward, but outward none. And as touching the Dimensions of the Housing of the said College, I have devised and appointed in the South fide of the Church, a Quadrant, clofing to both ends of the faid Church, the East Pane whereof shall contain 230 Foot in length, and in breadth within the Walls 22 Foot. In the fame Pane's middle a Tower for a Gatehouse, containing in length 30 Foot, in Breadth 25 Foot, and in height 40 Foot, with 3 Chambers over the Gate every one over the other, and on either fide of the same Gate, 4 Chambers, every one containing in length 25 Foot, and in breadth 22 Foot. And in the nearer end of the fame Hall, towards the middle of the fame Pane a Pantry and Buttery, every of them in length 20 Foot, and in breadth 17 Foot, and over that two Chambers for Officers. And at the nether end of the Hall towards the West, a goodly Kitchen. And the fame Pane shall have inward 2 Towers, ordained for the Ways into the Hall and Library; and in every corner of the faid Quadrant, shall be 2 corner Towers, one inward and the other outward, more than the Towers above rehearfed. And at the upper end of the Hall the Provost's Lodging, that is, to wit, more than the Chambers above for him specified, a Parlour on the Ground containing24 Foot in length, and22 Foot inbreadth, and Chambers above of the fame Quantity; and Westward closing thereto a Kitchin for him, a Larder House, Stables and other necessary Housings and Grounds. VIII. QUEEN'S-COLLEGE, 1448.

HE Lady Margaret of Anjou, Daughter to Reiner, Duke of Anjou, and Titular King of Sicily, Navels, and Ferusalem, Wife to the most devout Prince Henry VI. King of England, observing the fingular Piety of her Husband, bent upon the aforesaid Royal Monument of King's-College, gave her mind wholly to the erecting Queen's-College, close by that of her Husband's; and upon the Borders of the Monastery of Carmelites, a good Part of which is now inclosed into their Gardens. and that of the Provoft's of Kings) dedicating the fame to St. Margaret and St. Bernard, in the Year 1448, and endowing it with the Value of 2001. a Year; on the Corner Stone whereof, she caused these Words to be Engraven; Erit Dominæ Nostræ Regina Margareta Dominus in Refugium, et Laris Iste in Size um: that is, The Lord will be a Refuge to our Lady Queen Margaret, and this Stone is a Monument thereof. But when the Kingdom was rent with Civil Wars, and Queen Margaret hasted to the defence of her Husband's Lancastrian Party, the noble Work of this College was some time interrupted; however Divine Providence was not wanting in promoting fo good a Work, moved the Lady Queen Elizabeth, eldest Daughter and Co-heir of Richard Woodvile Earl Rivers,, Relict of Ldward Grey of Grooby, Knt. and Wife to King Edware IV. to promote the finishing this College, which she happily compleated, A. D. 1465, and obtained of her victorious Husband, many Privileges for it. The first who moved the Lady Margarst, as well as the said Queen Elizabeth, to this Work; was Andrew Ducket, a Minorite Friar, a most worthy and discreet Man: who being Rector of the Church of St. Botolpb's in Cambridge, was by the Lady Margaret, made the first Master thereof. He having continued 36 Years in the Mastership, and greatly setting his Affections upon the fame, not only begged great Sums of Money, of the most generous of the Nobility; but prevailed with many others to favour this House; particularly George Plantagenet, Duke of Clarence; the Lady Cicely, Dutchess of York, Daughter to Ralph Nevile, first Earl of Westmorland, Wife of Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York; the most illustrious Ladies Margaret Roos, Joanna Inglethorp, and Joanna Borough, who perhaps, look'd the more kindly on this College, because two Princely Ladies had led the way. But the first in this Roll of Benefactors, is Marmaduke Lumly, of the ancient Family of the Barons Lumly, Chancellor of Cambridge in 1428, Bp. of Carlifle in 1430, and of Lincoln in 1450; who, besides a great number of Books, gave 200 Marks. what is more to be admired; Richard Plantagenet. Duke of Gloucester, afterwards known by the name of Richard III. (tho' he fided with the Duke of York) as also his Wife Anne, second Daughter and Co-heir to Richard Nevile, the Renowned Earl of Warwick and Salisbury, (at the Suit of the faid Andrew Ducket) was fo favourable, as to add to this College, Priefts, Fellows and Possessions. that he might, (as he vainly thought) by some Pious Artifice, conceal or at least extenuate the Blemish he had incurr'd by the Murder of his Nephews, he gave to this College, that great Patrimony of John Vere, 13th Earl of Oxford, with all his Lordinips, Manors, Castles and Fees, because he made St. Michael's Mount in Cornwall, the Seat of War against King Edward IV. and always firmly adhering to the House of Lancaster. But Henry Henry VII. recovering the Crown, restored the same to the Earl as his Inheritance. But to incert all the Ancient Benefactors, would be too tedious, they being about 150, all of them Peers, Knts. or Esquires.

MEMBERS.

A Master, 20 Fellows, 45 Scholars, and 8 Exhibitions; total usually about 60.

C.URIOSITIES.

The Chapel, is dedicated to St. Bernard; and Sir John Wenlock Knt. laid the first Stone of it at the

the South-East Corner of it, in the name of the Foundres, Apr. 15, 1448; with this Inscription;

Erit Domine Regine Margarete, Dominus in Refugium et Lapis iste in Signum.

On a Stone at the Entrance of the Anti-chapel, having the Brasses lost, for,

Andrew Ducket, the first Master or President who died in 1484, having been Master 36 Years.

Near the Chapel Door, is a Stone for Thomas Edwards A. M. fecond Son of Samuel Edwards of West-Coppice in Shropshire, Esq; born Aug. 25, 1700; died Aug. 2, 1730.

Richard Brvan, S.T.B. 25 Years Fellow; and 20 Vice-Prefident; he died Decemb 7, 1680; Etatis 74.

Edward Kemp, who died October 24, 1671; Ætat. 64.

Near the Altar, is a Stone with a Brass Effigy, for John Stokes, S.T.P. Master, and a Benefactor; he died Apr. 29, 1568.

Robert Whalley Gent. formerly Fellow; he died Aug. 18, 1591, Ætat. 28.

In the Anti-chapel, is a Stone robbed of a Brass Inscription, for Martin Dunstan, Servant to Andrew Docket (the first Master. A. D. ---

Laurence Catelyn, S.T.B. Fellow; he died Ost 30, 1680; Ætat. 41.

In the Body of the Chapel is an ancient Stone which hath loft all its Braffes, except a Label, and that imperfect.

The

The HALL is (for its bigness) one of the prettiest in the University, and as handsomely fitted up.

The Lodge is over the North and West Sides of the Cloitter, and contains many good Apartments, especially the long Gallery, which is hung round with very ancient Pictures of great Personages, and is the whole length of the North side of the Cloister; and an other Room in the Lodge, where the Master and Fellows meet on College Affairs, is also beautisted with many good Portraits.

The GARDENS belonging to this College are fituated on both fides of the Cam, having a Bridge of communication between them, they are very extensive, and neatly kept; having fine Walks, both of Grass and Gravel, with a very good Bowling-Green, all which, with he pleasant gliding of the River, on whose Banks they are fituated, make it a most agreeable Place.

The COMBINATION is a very good Room, at the North end of the Hall.

The Bridge from the Cloifter to the Stable &c. which was wholly Rebuilt A. D. 1746; may without Flattery, be esteemed one of the most curious pieces of Carpentery of this kind in England, it contains in length upwards of 50 Foot, being of one Arch, composed of Timbers curiously joined together, and supported on Abutments of Russic Stone-work, between which is a passage for the Cam, 40 Foot in the clear, and of such height, that the Waters in a common Flood, cannot reach the lowest Timbers thereof.

The Sundial, on the North fide of the principal Court, and under the Clock-Dial; is counted a Curiofity, being beautifully ornamented with variety of useful Furniture; the whole being the work of the great Sir Hugo Newton.

In Pump-Court, there is a Turret or Room, in which Erasmus, while a Student here, delighted very much to be in, and at this day is called by his Name.

REFORMATION, 1643.

Pictures, besides Cherubins, and la graving.

And there, none of the Fellows would put on their hats, all the while they were in the Chapel; we digged up the Steps for three hours, and broke down 10 or 12 Apostles; and in their Hall some Pictures of Saints.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Edward Martin, D. D. Mastership.

Houghton Conquest, R. Bedfordshire.

Doddington R. Cambridgeshire.

As these Livings are all Rectorys, I cant see how he could hold all three; Doddington reckoned then not much fhort of 1000! per Ann. and Houghton-Conquest with Gildaple, as united, are about 300l. per Ann. I have a notion, that Connington (it he had all three) tho' a regular Living in Eston. and not discharged, is of small value, and, if held as a Donative, he might have the three. Lloyd observes of this excellent Dr. that he had fix Ancestors, in a direct Line learned before him, and fix Libraries bequeathed to him; fo that he would fay, he was the very heat of the Family, he was related to. - I le was ejected with the other Loyal Heads, Mir. 14, 1942; and with Dr. Beale of St. Jon', and Dr. Morre of Jujus, all three calried Philonors to ! hand to Comment in-Hichmediy mediately after, (in revenge for his missing the University-Plate, he had way-laid in its passage to the King) and kept there close confined some Years in the Tower, and other Prisons, and especially in the noisome Hold of a Ship, in which last they were shut up by order of the Parl. August 11, 1644; and there was a design of selling the Prisoners for Slaves to Turkey, or the Plantations in America.— In the close of his Character by Lloyd, he adds; that he had bred up his College so well in the Principles of Religion and Loyalty, that not one there, from the highest to the lowest, submitted to the Usurpers, there being so thorough a Reformation, that neither Master, Fellow, or Scholar, were left of the Foundation.— He lived to be restored Aug. 3, 1660; (see Masters,) to be restored Aug. 3, 1660; (see Masters,)

The first thing I meet with of him, worthy of note, is, that in 1627, (according to Wood) he became Chaplain to Archbp. Laud, and from his fervice preferred to this Mastership. — Before the breaking out of the Rebellion, he had rendred himfelf obnoxious to the Party, by licenfing a Book of Dr. Jackson's, and Preaching a Sermon of his own, against the Predestinarian Doctrine: And atter the Rebellion broke out, he was very active in transmitting the University-Plate to his Majesty. He was ejected and hurried to London as aforefaid, and used in the Barbarous manner, you will find under the first named Dr. (whom see at Fesus-College) Besides which, he underwent several Sufferings peculiar to himself, but to give a list of them, together with the many Accusations laid to his charge, would fwell my Work, much beyond the bounds I have prescribed myself, (all which you may see more at large in Walker's Sufferings of the Clergy.)

Many and grievous had been the Sufferings of this great Man! which he underwent with great

Courage

Courage and Constancy, even after more than five Years Miseries of Prisons and Plunderings! But they ended not here; for when he at length obtained his Liberty (through the Interest of his Friends and his long Perition to the Lords &c.) he was forced to fly to France; where he continued till the Restoration, when he returned with his Wajesty, and became Dean of Ely; and was also restored to his Mastership. During his Banishment, he joined neither with the Calvinists nor Papists in their Communion; but with the Congregation of old English and Primitive Protestants only. And by his regular Life, and good Dostrine, he reduced some Recusants to, and confirmed more Doubters in the Protestant Religion. And notwithstanding the reproach of Popery, and other Accusations cast on the Regular-Ciergy, and on this worthy Dr. in particular, by Prynn; tis well known, that he had honourable and advantagious Offers made him by some of the Roman Communion, which he rejected with this An-Iwer; That he had rather be a poor Son of the Afflisted, but Primitive Church of England, than a rich Member of the flourishing, but corrupt Church of Rome.

He was excellently well skilled in the Canon, Civil, and Common Law; was a Person of strict Rules in his Conversation, saith Lloyd; a Godly Man, saith Wood; agreable to that of his Epitaph, Rigide pius vir. et severê Justus; and was esteemed in Cambridge, a Person of such eminent Worth and Abilities, as rendered him above the Reach of Commendation; notwithstanding what Prynn hath said of him in his Canterbury's-Doom.

Anthony Sparrow, B. D. Fellowship.
And

Hankdon, Rect. in Suffolk, worth 1201. per Ann. He was born at Deptden in Suffolk, Son of Samuel muel Sparrow, Efq; became fuccessively Schalar and Fellow of this House, and was the first of all the Loyalists ejected from this College, which was Apr. 8, 1644; and June 11, following was fixeceeded by * John Wallis, A. M. of Linanuel-College. About the Year 1648, or 1649, he obtained the Living abovementioned, but the Committee of Religion at Westminiter, permitted him not to enjoy it above 5 Weeks. He was also forced to fly and abscond. He had 6 Children, but could never obtain any fifths to support them, from Mr. Firman, who had been thrust in to fucceed him there. Under this Sequestration he continued eleven Years, when the Restoration reinstated him. After which he was chosen one of the Preachers of St. Edmundsbury; Aug. 7, that Year was Installed to the Arch-Deaconry of Sudbury; and on the 12th of the same, was in the Lett. Mand. to be made D. D. afterwards became Mafter of this College; in in 1677, was made Bp. of Exeter; translated to Novarich Sept. 18, 1676; where he die 1 May 18, 1687; and buried in his own Chapel; Ætat. 74. He was the learned Author of the Rationale on the Common-Prayer.

George Bardsey, D. D. Fellowship.

He was ejected Aug. 26, 16.14; and Dec. 12 following succeeded by Samuel Reyner of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, if I mistake not. Aug. 12, 1645, I find him incorporated at Oxford, where he died the January after.

Tho-

^{*} That Mr. Wallis succeeded an ejected Loyalist of this College, is certain. But that he succeeded Mr Sparrow in particular, is only conjecture; and the Reader is to know the same of all the other Successors mentioned in this College.

Thomas Morly, B. D. Fellowship. And Eversden-Parva, R. in Cambridgeshire.

He was ejected both from his Living and Fellowship, by the Earl of Manchester: From the former Apr. 6, 1644. (See Eversden-Parva aforesaid) He was turned out of his Fellowship three days after, and succeeded therein, if I mistake not, June 11, the same Year, by William Whitaker, A. B. a Rutlandshire Man of Emanuel-Courge.

Daniel Wickerly, B. D. Fellowship.

Heinming stone R. in Suffolk.

He was turned out of the College June 1, 1644, and succeeded, as I take it, Sept. 11, that same Year, by one Jackson, A. B. a Staffordsbire Man, of Katherine-Itall. He was dispossed of his Living much about the same time, on sixteen Articles so notoriously salse, that it would make a Heathen Blush to read them. He was presented by the King to his Living, when he was only A. M.

Daniel Chandler, B.D. Fellowship. And Oakington, V. in Cambridgeshire.

He was turned out of his Fellowship, June 1, 1644, and, as I conjecture, succeeded S. p. 13, following, by Francis Barksdale of Magdalin-Hall in Oxford. The same Year he was deprived of his

Living. (See Oakington aforefaid.)

He must needs be thought the Prostor as in 1632; and Vic. of Oakington, yet I find one of both names, and also B. D. presented by the bing Feb. 8, 1630; to Abston-Super-Trent R in Distribute. Now, either this took not a field Record; Fellow was different from Daniel the Said Record; and the Rectory being a very good one, and which he cannot be imagined to refign for to finall a one as Oakington.

- Capel, D. D. Fellowship.

He was ejected Jan. 1, 1646; and the reason affigned for ejecting him, was his being Married; which if true, he deserveth not a place in this List: Altho' I sind him in that at the end of Querela.

William Cox, L. D. Fellowship.

He was expelled the fame day as the last, and died, as I take it, soon after; at least before the Restoration, and was the Taxor in 1619. It must be the Dr. as the other of the name would be B.D. if it was him, this is only A. M.

---- Coldbam, B. D. Fellowship.

Ejected April 9, 1644; and succeeded by John Hore, A. M. of Katherine-Hall, if I mistake not, the 11th of the same Month.

Edward Kemp, A. M. Fellowship.

He was expelled the fame day with the last, and his Successor, as I take it, William Ames, A. B. a Sbropshire Man of Emanuel, was appointed the same day, as the former was. He was restored by the order of the Chancellor Aug. 3, 1660; 106. 25, 1661, then B. D. he was presented by the College to Oakington aforesaid. He died Ost. 24, 1671; and was buried in the College Chapel.

Richard Bryan, B. D. Fellowship.

He was a Leicestershire Man, Proctor in 1638. He was expelled Apr. 8, 1644; and succeeded (if i mittake not) by Samuel Solles, A. M. of Emanuel, June 11 following. He was restored in 1660. Specific Tomb in the college Chapel.)

---- Hills, B. D. Fellowship.

He was expelled the fame day as the last, and his Successor, Nathaniel Ingelo, A. M. of Emanuel-College, was admitted the same day as the former was.

Samuel Rogers, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Taxor in 1638, and expelled Apr. 8, 1644; and his Successor, as I take it, John Wells, A. M. of Emanuel-College, was admitted June 11, following. In 1660 he was in the Letters Mand. to be D.D.

- Cox, A. M. Fellowship:

He was expelled Aug. 26, 1644; and 'tis thought George Griffith, A. B. of Emanuel-College, succeeded him, Jan. 2, the same Year.

Arthur Walpole, A. M. Fellowship.

He was dispatched Sep. 26, 1644; but 'tis not said who succeeded him.

Ambrose Appleby, A. M. Fellowship.

He was ejected Apr. 9, 1644; and John Smith, A. M. of Emanuel-College, as I guess, succeeded him June 11, following.

Michael Frear, A. M. Fellowship.

He was expelled Aug. 26, 1644; and Jan. 2, following, Mr. Nathaniel Debank, was thrust into the College; and its supposed, into Mr. Frear's Fellowship. June 27, 1660, he was restored by the Chancellor, but styled ejected, for resusing the Engagement.

He was expelled Apr. 9, 1644; June 11, following, one Samuel Glover, A. M. of Katherine-Hall, became Fellow here, and was, as I take it, Mr. Natley's Successor.

William Wells, A. M. Fellowship.

He was expelled Sep. 26, 1644, and John Watfon, A. B. of Emanuel-College, 'tis thought, fucceeded him Jan. 16, following.

This one I take to be the same William Wells, who upon the Promotion of Dr. Walton to the Bishoprick of Chester, was presented by his Majesty King Charles II. to the Rectory of Sandon in Essex; in 1666, was made Arch-Deacon of Colchester; and became Master here in 1667.

Whitehead, A. M. Fellowship.

He was turned out June 1, 1644; Dec. 12, following, one John Pypard, of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, was made Fellow of this College; and 'tis thought, in his room.

There were also, 28 Scholarships in this College at that time, of which none Escaped, for thay made a thorough Reformation here, leaving neither Fellow nor Scholar.

As scarce any of the ejected Scholars of this University, are hitherto in the Lists; I shall here give my Readers, that of the Scholars, here, in the Reformation Year; from Bp. Kennet's Register p. 221, most part of the new Fellows appearing there, that had been ejected, all but the two last; being then at least A. M. which Degree they had taken, no doubt, at the preceeding Commencement. The Copy of this was taken by the late Mr. Baker of St. John's, from the College Register, and entered as supposed by Dr. Martin the Master; to which there is this Presace; Divina ope, miscrecordia, et providentia, Collegium boc, e captivitate quadam Babylonica creptum, Integris et Legitimis suis Membris, constituetur, Aug. 25, 1660.

MEMBERS.

A Master, fix Fellows, one Fellow-Chaplain, one Bye-Fellow, and thirty-five Scholarships and Exhibitions, in all, usually about forty.

CURIOSITIES.

The Chapel, is a pretty Room decently wainscoted, and handsomly paved with black and white Marble, under the Altar is a Vault, in which Sir William Dawes Archbishop of York formerly Master, and his Lady, are interr'd, for which last there is a Monument erected in the Anti-Chapel, but the Inscription is too long for my intended brevity.

On a flat Marble.

M. S. John Addenbrooke, M. D. of Swinford-Regis in Staffordshire, formerly Fellow; (See Hospital, Page 17, of my History of Cambridgeshire) he died June 7, 1719, Ætatis 39.

Against the North Wall in the Antichapel, is a Monument of white Marble, for,

John Eachard, S. T. P. twice Vice-Chancellor of this University; and Master of this Hall; he died July 7, 1697; Ætat. 61.

This Chapel was Confecrated Sept. 1, 1704. The Confecration Sermon was Preached by John Leng, B. D. Fellow; and afterwards Bp. of Norwich; which Sermon was Printed, with the form of its Confecration at the End of it.

The LIBRARY, which is over the Hall and Chapel, is a large Room, and well Classed, and is capable of holding many more Books than it now has; tho' it is far from being wanting in many valuable ones.

The HALL, which joins to the West End of the Chapel, is a tolerable Apartment, and lately beautified.

The Longe is a very good one, containing feveral small but pleasant Apartments, and makes a good appearance.

The WEST-FRONT, (which is the longest in the University) is very regular, and the upper Rooms are very agreeable having a Prospect into Queen's-College Gardens.

The FLOWER-GARDEN, (where stood the old Chapel, and the Benes which were there dug up, we buried in the present Chapel) is a small but pretty

pretty spot, and kept very neat, and on a Pedestal in the Center, stood a Statue of Charity, with a Child at her Breast, and two more by her Side; but was a few Years ago taken away, tho' I think it was an Ornament to the Garden; but I submit to the superior Judgement of that learned Society, who doubtless thought otherwise.

REFORMATION, A.D. 1643.

Dec. 26; We pulled down St. George and the Dragon, and the Popish St. Katherine; Dr. Brown-rigge Master and a Bishop, maintained that more reverence was due to a place called a Church, than to any other Place, and that the Communion-Cup ought not to be used on any other account whatsoever. We also broke down John Baptist there; and these Words, Orate pro Anima sua, qui secit bane seriestram; i. e. Pray for the Soul of him that made this Window; Note. All this was done in the old Chapel, and when their Hands were in, they might have pulled down the whole, which would have faved the Society that expence, which they were obliged to be at a few Years after.

A List of the ejected Loyalists. Ralph Brownrigge, D. D. Mastership. And Bishop of Exeter.

He was born at Ipswich 1592, his Father being a Merchant there, but dying, when this his Son was not many Weeks old, he was left to the care of a Mother. Admitted of Pembroke-Hall at 14, of which he was after chosen Fellow; at the reception given to King James I. by the University, he performed the Office of Prevaricator with great Applause. Aug. 27, 1622; he was Collated by Bp.

Bp. Felton, (who had been Master of his College) to the fifth Stall in the Church of Ely; and about the same Time to the Rect. of Barley in Hertfordshire, both void the Year before by the death of Dr. Andrew Willet,. In 1631, he succeeded Dr. Sibbes in the Mastership of this College, and the same Year, Sep. 29, was admitted to the Arch-Deaconry of Coventry. In 1637 and 1638, he ferved the Office of Vice-Chancellor, and again in 1643 and 1644. During his Government of the University and the College, he was eminent for his care in promoting the Learning and good Manners of the Members, as he was no less conspicuous all his Life for his fingular Piety, and Zeal for the Constitution of the Church, of which he would fay, he lik'd it betterand better as he grew older, and best of all when he found it affaulted from a spirit of Facion. May 15, 1642, he was Confecrated Bp. of Exeter, and inthron'd June 1, from this he had no benefit, any more than he had from his other Preferments. After the Troubles of the Times, having been a constant Affertor both of Monarchy and Episcopacy, and the Fidelity and Submission due to Sovereign Princes, in his very last Sermon, (Preached at the Temple Nov. 5) before his Death; denied any Capacity in Christian Subjects, upon any pretext of Religious Liberty to refift them, for which they had neither Christ's precept, nor any good Christians practice; the only choice left them being to obey actively or paffively, to do, or to fuffer, and rather fuffer than fin, by doing and refifting in any unlawful way; which Doctrine he had formerly declared in a Sermon at Cambridge, for which he was immediately Profcribed, outed of his Places in the University, and deprived of his Libery. He was, faith the Author of his Life, an excellent Scholar, an admirable Orator, an acute Disputant, a pathetic Preacher, cher, an unspotted Liver, and a prudent Governour; full of Judgment, Courage, Constancy, and Impartiality; a Grave and great Divine; a gracious and fincere Christian, as well as a venerable Bp. confecutious in all he did, and humble with all his Endowments; not less full of eminent Graces, than excellent Gifts; indeed, every way fuch a Man, and fuch a Bp. as no Christian Church in any Age, but ours, nor ours in any Age, but that, would have laid aside. In this one Bp. there was the Quintesfence of all good Christians, all good Scholars, all good Divines, all good Preachers and all good Bps. In him might be found the fincerity of the antient Fathers, and the folidness of later Divines: the School-men did not exceed him in acuteness. nor the best Casuists in exactness, nor the soberest Monasticks in Devotion and Sanctity. He had the learning of Naziansen, Basil, or Ferome; the Courage and Constancy of Athanasius and St. Ambrose; the Eloquence of St. Chrylostome, and Chryfologus; the Mildness and Gentleness of St. Cyprian, or St. Austin; the Charity and Benignity of Paulinus and Martinus. - Nov. 3, 1648; He was one allowed by the House to attend the King, during the Treaty of the Isle of Wight; but was recalled on the 10th, the Bp. then being under restraint. After he was stripped of all, he retired for some Time to the House of Tho. Rich Esq; at Sunning in Barkshire, an old Friend, as well as a generous Gentleman, and most charitable Christian; he shew'd the greatness of his Mind from the manner of bearing his Sufferings and Losses, the Sacrilege of the Times gave him indeed a deep concern; but, as to his own Loss therefrom, he only said with a smile, that he took it a little unkindly, those Lords and Gentlemen, who had before withed to fee him a Bp. should join with the rest against lipitcopacy, and feize the Revenues of the Bps. not

To much as allowing him the Arrears due from his Borick now in fuch hands; that, he thought, had less Right to them, and less Need of them, than himfelf. But he found, he faid, the predominant Genius of the Times was such, that, instead of letting Bps. live in a Capacity to be given to Hofpitality, they reduced them to the necessity of getting into some Hospital for their own relief.—Tho often pressed by his Friends, he could never be perfuaded to print any of his Works .- The Year before his Death, being invited by the Governours of the two Temples, he excepted the Office of Preacher there; but being now broken with Years and Infirmities, he prepared himself willingly for Death. faving, it is a very cheap Time now to die, when indeed there was so little temptation to live, and fo many to welcome Death. - Having lived to fee no King in the State, no Bp. in the Church. no Peer in Parl. no Judge in the Land, no Parl. itself in any freedom, or Honour; all now being governed by the Sword, in that dark Day, departed this great Light Dec. 7, 1659; his remains being interred in the Temple-Church.

Walker, mentions 5 or 6 of the Fellows here as disposses, for the Engagement, as he imagines; and this, if so, seems to have been the Case, of two of the Fellows, Lynford and Ellys 1642, both B. D. being then of the Puritan cast.

X. JESUS-COLLEGE, 1496.

THAT we may not think it new, for Mo-nasteries, Abbeys, or Nunneries, to be converted into Colleges; behold here is a Nunnery of Veiled-Virgins of St. RHADEGUND, of the Order of St. Benedict; which was most Nobly and Royally founded in the Reign of King Stephen,, about A. D. 1150; by Malcolm, the fourth of that name, and the ninety-first King of Scots, and Earl of Cambridge and Huntingdon. He, mindful of that antient and strict Alliance between the French and the Scots, continued from the days of Charlemain of France, and Achaius, King of Scots, was the first I find, who brought the name of St. Rhadegund into England. To acquaint the Reader with her Original, She was the Queen of France, Daughter of Bertram King of Thuringia in Germany, and Wife of Lothair King of France, the Son of Glovis the Great, the first Christian in France. She, about the Year 460, leaving her Husband, retired into a Monastery at Poiliers, and there founded the Abbey of the Holy-Cross, where they still fhew her Tomb. --- Presently after the coming in of the Normans, there feems to have been only a little poor Cell of Nuns at this Place, to whom Pope Honorious II. gave fome Life, granting them the Impropriation of the Rectory of St. Chemen's in Cambridge, A. D. 1133. About the same Time we read, that the Lady Constance, Countels of Bologn, and Wife to Eustace, Earl of Bologn, Son and Heir to Stephen King of England, became a Benefactress; for she gave to this House of St. Rhadegund, all the Fishery, from the Bridge of Cambridge to the Abbey Abbey of Barnwell: But the aforefaid Malcolm; is more conspicuous than all the rest; for he gave Lands to those Nuns, and thereon built them a Church, dedicated to the name of JEsus; (from whence the prefent College derives its Name) and for their better support, he gave them ten Acres of Land adjoining to it; being Lord of all the Town, and receiving the third Penny of the County of cambridge by Inheritance. - The Nuns flourished here many Years, but at last they became fo Debauched, that for Shame, they all but two, left the House; and of the two that staid, one was with Child, and the other but a Child. It being made known to John Alcock Bp. of Ely, that the Monastery was thus forsaken, and he being a Man of great Sagacity, and highly in favour with Henry VII. being also Lord Chancellor of England, he obtained Licence of the faid King. and of Pope Alexander VI. to convert this abandoned Monastery into a College. Having perfected the same A. D. 1496, he placed therein a Master, 6 Fellows, and 6 Scholars; dedicating it to the bleffed Virgin Mary, St. John the Evangelist, and the glorious Virgin St. Rhadegund. - Soon after other favourers of Learning shew'd their generosity to it; viz. Fames Stanley, Bp. of Ely, who, in the 22d of the same King's Reign, impropriated the Rectory of Great-Shelford in Cambridgeshire, to the use of this College.

John Gunthorpe, Master of Kings-Hall, a Benefactor to the Library.

Thomas Thirlby, also Bp. of Ely, granted it the Vicarages of Fordham, Gilden-Morden, Wittlesford, Hinxston, Swavesey, and Comberton, in the County of Cambridge.

Richard Sterne, Mafter, and Archbp. of York, gave 40! per Ann. for the founding of four Scholarships, at 101. each.

Sir Robert Read, of Bore-Place in Kent, Lord Chief Justice of England, gave that great Brewhouse by the Bridge of the City of Cambridge, they paying Yearly 41. to each of the Professors of Philosophy and Logic.

Dr. Henry Cafar, Dean of Elv, two Fellows and one Scholar, for the benefit of Ely School.

Dr. Duport, Master; the Rectory of Harlton. Tobias Rustall, Esq., Yeoman of the Robes to King Charles II. several Scholars, called Rustall's Scholars.

tory of Terving in Hertfordsbire.

William Cooke, L. L. D. Chancellor of Ely, and President of this College, was a considerable Benefactor: In his Life-time he gave 50l. toward adorning the Hall, and as much for a Silver Bason and Ewer for the Table, 61. 10s. towards adorning the Chapel, and 101. towards adorning Shelford Church, after the damages done to it in the great Storm in 1701; five Guineas towards the alterations for the Ornament of the College. By his Will he gave 600l. for the purchase of an Estate to be fettled upon the College, to encrease the Revenue thereof, and his Law Books worth upwards of 100l. to the Library. He also gave 1001, to the Church of Harlton, for the purchase of an Estate for a Salary to a School-Master there. He died Oat. 24, 1767, Att, 14, and lies buried in the College 12 , Chap Chapel, under a Marble. See his Epitaph and Character in Thoresby's Hist. of the Church of Leeds Page 107.

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL which was the Conventual Church of the diffolved Nunnery of St. Mary and St. Rhadegund, thought to be built about A. D, 1170. Is a large Building in the form of a Cros., having a large square Tower, containing one Bell, and a Clock.

In this Chapel are the following Monuments;

On another Stone in old Saxon Letters is this;

Whether this Monastery had any Monks before they were placed there is hard to tell, or whether this Stone was brought from the Neighbouring Convent of Franciscans, (now Sidney-College) after the diffolution of that Place, I can't say, but rather suppose he was one of the Priors of that House.

The HALL is a spacious Room over the Butteries and C llars; and the Windows are adorned with Cocks, as a Rebus for the Founder's Name, which in fome Places hath al, by a Cock, and in

The Lodge is pleasantly situated, containing many good Appartments, with spacious Gardens.

The Fellows Gardens, has Pleasant and extensive Walks, Meadows, and Groves, and the rural Situation on the Bank of the Cam, makes it an agreeable Place, being out of the Noise and hurry of the Town, and so the more proper for a Place of Study.

REFORMATION A. D. 1643.

Dec. 22, Mr. Bogleston, Fellow, being present, we digged up the Steps, and broke down of Superstitious, Saints, and Angels, 120 at least.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Richard Sterne, D. D. Mastership.

Harlton, R. in Cambridgeshire,

And

Teovilton, R. in Somersetshire,

He was born at Mansfield in Notting ham/hire, but descended from a Suffolk Family; had been a Scholar of Trinity College, and Fellow of Corpus Christi College in this University. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was very active in sending the College Plate to his Majesty; for which (together with Dr. Beale, Master of St. John's, Dr. Martin, Master of Queen's,) he was by Cromwell (who had with some Parties of Soldiers surrounded the several Chapels, where the Students were all at Prayers) seiz'd and carried in Triumph to London, In the Villages as they passed from Camb. to London the People were called out by some of their Agents, to abuse and revile them: They where also sed leisurely thro' the midst of Bartholomew Fair; where they were entertain'd with Exclamations, Reproaches, Storns, and Curfes. They had been near a Year under Restraint in several Prisons, (where, by paying exorbitant Fees, &c. they were reduced to the utmost Extremity, having before been plunder'd of all they had) when they were by Order of Parliament put on board a small Ship, call'd the Prosperous-Sailor, then lying at Wapping; where they were no fooner come but they were inftantly put under Hatches, the Decks were fo low, that they could not stand upright, and yet denied Stools to fit on, or so much as Straw to lie on. Into this little Ease. they crouded no less than 80 Prisoners of Quality, and that they might stifle each another, having no more Breath than what they fuck'd from one another's Mouths, most maliciously and (certainly) to a Murtherous Intent, they stop'd up all the small Augur-Holes, &c that might relieve them with fresh Air. In this Condition they were more like Gally-Slaves then Free-born Subjects, tho' Men of fuch Quality and Condition; and had been fo indeed, might some have had their Wills, who where bargaining with forne Merchants to fell them to Algiers, or as bad a Place, as hath been fince notoriously known, upon no false or fraudulent Information. After, this Dr. Sterne was removed from the Ship, and kept confin'd in Prison: At length, having loft all he had, and fuffered to the last Degree for his Loyalty, he was permitted to have his Liberty. After which he lived obscurely till the Restoration; when he soon became Bp. of Carlifle, and then Archbp. of York, in Possetsion of which he died in 1683, in the 87th Year of his Age. He was a Man of eminent Worth and Abilities, a Person of unshaken Loyalty, and assisted in compiling the Polyglot-Bible.

Supplier

Stephen Hall, B. D. Fellowship,
Prebend of the 1st, Stall in the Church of Ely,
Fordham, V. in Cambridgeshire,
And

Lecturer of St. Paul's in London.

He was born in London, was educated in Pembroke- Hall in this University, and thence collated to a Fellowship here by Dr. Andrews, Bp. of Ely, in 1627, he had the vicarage of Gilden-Morden, and in 1629 that of St. Clement's in Cambridge, and upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, was the first Fellow, that I find Sequestrated in this University, which was done by the E. of Manchester, the 15th of March 1643, for refusing the Covenant: He was also imprisoned above three Years in the Compter. He outlived all his Troubles, as well as the Usurpation, and in 1660, was restored to his Preferments, and had also the Rectory of Harlton in Cambridgesbire, but dying in the College in 1671, was buried in the Chapel there, and left a Legacy to the Library. Before he died he was Prebend of Ely.

Thomas Ansell, B. D. Fellowship,
And
Guilden-Morden, V. in Cambridgespire.

He was born at Barfield in Bedfordshire and deprived of both in 1644, and fucceeded in his Fellowship by one Tilney, A. M. a Suffolk Man, Ost. 3, 1644. He lived not to see the Restoration.

Thomas Clarkson, B. D. or D. D. Fellowship.

He was born in Northumberland. 1609, he became Vicar of Whittlesford in this County. whether ther he lost-that, or not in the Confusions, I cannot say; but this is sure, that in 1644, he was turned out of his Fellowship, and survived not the Restoration.

Charles Buffey, B. D. Fellowship.

He was born in Nottinghamshire, sent first to Pembroke-Hall, in this University, and from thence elected Fellow here. He had also the Vicarage of St. Clement's in Cambridge, which he obtained in 1629, and to me 'tis not improbable (but quere) that he lost it, with his Fellowship, in 1644; in 1650, he was restored, and the Year following presented to the Rectory of Harlton in this County: He resigned the Vicarage of All-Sairts in Cambridge, Feb. 5, 1660, and July 13 following, he obtained Harlton aforesaid; he died in 1662, and on May 24, in the same Year, John Sterman, A. M. another Fellow; was instituted to Harlton.

Ralph Blakeston, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born in the Bishoprick of Durham, had been Vicar successively of Gilden-Morden, and Wbittlesford, in this County, sometime before the Rebellion, he had also the Rectory of Bromsted in Norfolk, but whether he was sequestrated from thence, I am not informed; 'tis certain he lost his Fellowship Apr. 8, 1644, and was restored in 1660, in which Year also, he became Rector of Ryton in his native Country, to which he was presented by Dr. Cosin, the most learned and worthy Bp. of that Diocese.

Thomas Robinson, A. M. Fellowship.

Of whom I know nothing more, but that he was certainly turned out, and died before the Reforation. This was the same Person, who was Taxor in 1044.

Henry Beale, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Northamptonshire Man, and ejected in 1644.

John Taylor, A. M. Fellowship.

He was the Son of Dr. Richard Taylor, one of the suffering Prebends of St. Paul's, and born at Westmill in Hertsordshire, of which Living his Father was Rector. After he was turned out, he repaired to his Majesty at Oxford, where he took up Arms for him, was in the Castle of Holt, when it was besieged by the Parl and a Capt. at the Siege of Colchester He survived the Restoration many Years, and in 1669, succeeded his Father in the Rectory of his native Parish. These two last Fellowships were void in 1660, Beale and Taylor being both married.

Simon Hanson, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Native of Derbyshire, entered first at Bennet-College, and thence elected into this Society. He was ejected also in 1644, and died before the Restoration.

Edmund Lincolne, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born in Lincolnshire, entered first in Magdalen-College, in this University, and from thence chosen Fellow here, ejected with the last named, and liv'd not to see the Restoration.

Anthony Green, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Native of Kent, first of Christ-College, then elected Fellow here. It was the fatal Year 1644, in which he was also turned out; and on Ott. 3 following, William Garrard, A. B. was put in his Room, neither did he survive the Restoration.

Richard

Richard Mason, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born in Suffolk, entered first at Benet-College, afterwards, by the Dean and Capter of St. Paul's, nominated to a Scholarship in this House, where he also became Fellow, he was Ejected Apr. 9, 1644, and Feb. 12 following, he was succeeded by T. Young, A. M.a Native of Essex. He survived not the Restoration.

Charles Fotherby, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born in Kent, was nearly related to Sir John Robinson, Lieutenant of the Tower, and Nephew to Archbp. Laud, on whose Recommendation, he was elected Fellow here, but swept away again in 1644, altho he is not mentioned in the Querela. One of the suffering Prebends of Exeter bears both these Names, but as their Degrees differ, Quære if the same Person: He was most likely Son to Dr. Charles Fotherby, Dean of Canterbury, (see Walker among the Prebends of Exeter) but this Charles could not be the same with the Fellow, he being B.D. and largely beneficed in Cornwall. I take the Fellow in Question, to be Prebend, and the Prebend to be Son to the Dean, who died 1619, Etal. 70.

Gregory Walker, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Ejected Apr. 6, 1644, and Off. 19 following, was succeeded by William Whitfield. A. M. a Northamptonshire Man. Walker's Fellowship was void in 1660, as a married Man.

- Short, A. M. Fellowship.

He was succeeded May 5, 1645, by Thomas Wodoock, A. B. a Rutlandshire Man.

Quære, (saith Walker) If there was not one Mr-Frederic Tilney, Ejected from this College, for refusing the Engagement? If so, it may be the same Gentleman that succeeded Mr. Ansell aforesaid, and which I verily believe to be the Case.

In a Transcript of the proceedings of the E. of Manchester in this University, it is found, that one Malket was turned out of this College: But I suppose it to be a Mistake of the Transcriber, who mistread it for Mr. Walker above-named, (for if the Original was in Court-Hand, as in all probability it was, the W in some sorts of it, doth very little differ from the M, nor the r from the t, and that is a very obvious Mistake) if not, Mr. Malket also should be added to the List of this College.

CHARLES CARREST CARREST CONTRACTOR CONTRACTO

XI. CHRIST-COLLEGE, 1506.

WHEN King Henry VI. had entertained thoughts of Building King's-College, and enlarging its Bounds, he translated to this Place a certain Hostle near Clare-Hall, called the House of God; which had been built by William Bingham, Rector of St. John-Zachary in London, in the Year 1442, for Grammarians; placing therein a Provost, four Fellows and Scholars; and in lieu thereof, by way of Exchange, assigned those an House belonging to the Monks of Tilney and Denny, who came thiher to Study, being without Barnwell Gate, and called it the House of God. The Warden of this House or College, and the Scholars, presented to the Living of Fen-Drayton in this County, by the Title of the College of the House of God; and that former Place of the House of God, was taken into the Bounds, of that which is now King's-College. K. Henry VI. on Account of his removing its situation, would have increased this to fixty Scholars, had not that fatal War between the Yorkifts and the Lancastrians obstructed his pious Design. But to shew how much this House was always favoured, the most pious Princess Margaret, Countess of Richmond and Derby, Daughter and Heir of John Beaufort, first Duke of Somerset; Wife to Edmund Hadham, Earl of Richmond, Sifter by the Mother's Side to Henry VI. Mother to the most prudent King Henry VII. arose a Tutelar Deity to this House. She, having first obtain'd Licence of her Son Henry VII.affected what had been hoped for, and ordained what King Henry VI had projected. And so plentifully endowed the College, out of her own Lands and Possessions, that her Revenues only, afford a fufficient Q 2

REFORMATION A.D. 1643.

Jan. 2. We pulled down divers Pictures and Angels, and the Steps, Dr. Baynbrigge the Master, did promise to take down; Orate pro Anima on the Brasen Eagle.

A List of the ejetted Loyalists.

The Master of this House, Dr. Baynbrigge, was not ejected.

Will. Power, B. D. Fellowship. And

The Lady Margaret's Preacher's Place.

He was not only ejected, but abused by the Rabble and Soldiers, as he was going to Preach ad Clerum, according to his Office, the Day before the Term began: At which Time he was suriously pursued over the Market-place, by a consused Number of Soldiers; who in a barbarous uncivil Manner, cried out a Pope, a Pope! and vowed bigh revenge, if he offered to go into the Pulpit: Whereupon the Church was immediately filled with with great Multitudes; and when some who accompanied the Preacher; told them it was an University-Exercise, and to be by Statute performed in Latin; they replied, they knew no Reason why all Sermons should not be performed in English, that all might be edified; threatening withal to tear the Hoods and Habits, which Graduates then wore according to the University-Statutes. And so Mr. Power, was forced to go Home without performing his Office, and glad he could Escape so. And least this should be look'd upon as no other than a tumultuous Outrage of the ignorant and undisciplined Soldiers, it must be known, that when complaint was made of it to the General, no manner of Remedy could be obtained. I have only this to add of him, that he feems to have continued in his Preachers Place, either by connivance or new Elections, till the Year 1646: For though he was ejected from his Fellowship for his Loyalty, yet he Received the Salary as Preacher till that Year. He was Son of Will. Power B. D. Rector of Berwick in Elmet York Sire.

---- Norton, A. M. Fellowship.

He was ejected Apr 8, 1644; by the Earl of Manchester.

Tho. Huntley, A.M. Fellowship.

If I mistake not, he lost the Vicarage as well as the Fellowship. July 3, 1644, upon his Petition, his Sufferings were referred to the Committee for plundered Ministers, but nothing done further, as appears.

XII. St. John's-College, 1511.

IGELLUS, Bp. of Ely, and Treasurer to Henry I. gave the first Reputation to this Place; for he, A. D. 1134, built the Hospital of the Prior and Bretheren of the Order of St. John the Evangelist, (according to the Rule and Institute of St. Augustine) in the Fewry; and endowed it with a Revenue of 140l. a Year. Moreover, besides the Donation of Eustachius, also Bp. of Ely, who in the Reign of Richard I. gave the Impropriation of the Church of Horningley, in this County; to those Regulars; the growing Zeal of our Kings, fo far cherished this Religious House, that they granted to it many Forfeitures imposed by the Judges, on account of the Price and Sale of Provisions. Hugh Northwood, at first Abbot of St. Edmunds-Bury in Suffolk, when made Bp. of Ely; brought into this House, A. D. 1240, Secular Brothers of the same Order, who applied themfelves more to Study than to Pray. But because they did not well agree with the Regulars, Hugh de Balsham, likewise Bp. of Ely, removed these Secular-Brothers, to increase his own House of St. Peter. (Now Peterhouse-College.) The Regular-Brothers, to whom the faid Hugh de Balsham, A.D. 1282, gave Rud's Hospital; remained in this ancient Place, till the end of the Reign of Henry VII. For at that Time, (to speak in the Words of the ancient Register) this Priory was reduced to such Ruin, Want, and smallness of Number, that of an once flourishing and numerous Company, there remained only the Prior and two Brothers; and the Possessions both Real and Personal, were so wasted, and and spent, that of 140l. per Ann. given them by the faid Nigellus, there remained only 30l.

The Lady Margaret Countess of Richmond &c. having founded Christ-College as aforesaid, thought fhe had done enough for this University. And having been Sollicited by fome Men of Character of the other University, to place her remaining Charities upon Oxford, who pointed out to her St. Fridefwid's Priory, and had gone so far by their constant Importunity and unwearied Persuasions, that she had been determined to that Place, had not that good Dr. John Fisher, Bp. of Rochester, and her Confessor; who influenced her Devotion most, and intervened, and by more powerful Arguments, and particularly by pointing out the melancholy Sate and dissolute Lives of the Bretheren, of old St. John's-Houfe, had turned her Thoughts back upon Cambridge, and so St. Frideswid's was referved for the like Purpofes, foon after undertaken by Cardinal Wolfey, upon the Ruins of that Priory. — The Bretheren of this House had run into fuch great Excesses, by their prodigal way of Living, and gratifying their Lufts, that they could not be maintained by their Revenues; they then Pawned or Sold the Moveables of their House, nor were the facred Vessels spared, nor indeed longer facred, but were Sold and Prostituted with their Furniture; and when these would not satisfy; their Lands and fettled Estates were at last alienated or engaged for larg Sums of Money. So far had they gone, and fo deep were they envolved, that they feem to have been at a stand, but their last Stores being exhaufted, and their Credit funk, the Master and Bretheren were dispersed, and in effect the House was abandoned. — This being the Condition of the old House, in a manner dissolved already by its own Crimes, the best Thing that could be done for it, was to diffolve it by Authority, R z and

and to ingraft a College upon the old Stock, that might bring forth better Fruit. - The first Thing to be done towards this, was the confent of the Bp of Ely, both as reputed Founder and undoubted Diocesan: The present Bp. was James Stanley, Son of the late Earl of Derby; who being Son-in-Law to the Foundress, and probably promoted by her Interest to that See, his consent was eafily had. The next Thing to be procured was, the King's Licence, and this from her own Son, was easily obtained. but before these could be had in due Form, the King dies, and e'er much could be done to purpose, the Foundress dies also; and had she not lodged this Trust in faithful Hands, this great and good Defign had died with her. -But as she is gone, we are now to turn our Eyes and Hopes upon her Executors; She did indeed leave a Will, and Lands in Feoffment for the performance thereof, and these very sufficient, had they been sufficiently secured against the next Heir at Law, the King her Grandson: And tho' her Will (as far as appears) was undoubted good, and duly attested, yet that part of it which concerned her Foundation of a new College, having been done by way of Codicil; before it could be Sealed, the good Lady departed this Life, and left thereby fome ground to Cavil.

This might have been born with, had they been fure of the old House, but that (as I said before) was yet standing undissolved, so that all that had been done towards it, was to begin anew, with less Power, and under greater difficulties. King Henzy VIII. had an Eye upon the Estates, the Bp. of Ely was sull of difficulties, and witheld his consent for half a Year, and no wonder, when we consider he encouraged their Looseness by his ill Example, and was therefore unwilling to consent to a thing.

that fo plainly reproached him with his own great neglect and worse Example.

Great application was to be made both at Court, and at Ely; and (because the Pope's Bull were thought necessary) the affair was likewise to be sollicited at Rome, where delays are usual. But at last, a Bull was attained at a great expence, which when it came was found defective, and was to be renewed at a new trouble and expence, tho' the expence was not wholly lost, for when the Decretory Bull (dated Ostavo Cal. Jul. A. D. 1510) was sent, it was a very Powerful one (for this Pope was a Son of Thunder) it struck the old House at one Blow, it dissolves as well as builds by his sole Pontifical Authority, without consulting either King or Bishop.

For fetting forth the Defolation of the old House, he dissolves and extinguishes the same, and erects and institutes a new College, pro Magistro et quinquaginta Clerici, and annexes and unites to the College so erected, all the Lands &c. of the old House, Diocesani loci, et cujusvis alterius licentia, super koc minime requisita, and he impowers the Bps. of Lincoln and Norwich, or either of them, to execute his Decree, and to Coerce with Censures, all such as should cotradict it; reserving a convenient Pension to two Bretheren of the old House, for by his account, there was no Master, and only two Bretheren left.

The King's Licence was granted Aug. 7, An. Reg. primo, which gives leave to the Executors, upon its suppression, to convert it into a College, unius Magister ac Sociorum et Scholarium, ad numerum 50 vel-circa, in Scientijs liberalibus, Jure Civili et Canonico, et Theologia studentium, to be stiled St. John's College; to unite, incorporate, and annex all the Lands of the old House. to the College so erected, with leave to hold 50l. per Ann. besides, the Statute of Mortmain notwithstanding.

The Character of the Foundation was given Apr. 9, 1511, in the Name and by the Authority of all the Executors, viz. Richard Bp. of Winchejter, John Bp. of Rochefter, Charles Somerset Lord Herbert, Thomas Lovel, Hen. Marney, and John St. John, Knts. Hen. Hornby, Hugh Ashton, and Robert Shorton, Clerks, the last of whom was appointed the first Master.

The Fabrick of the House was begun about the same Time, and cost between 4 and 5000l. (a round Sum in those Days,) and was four Years in Building.

This Robert Shorton, was a Man of Business as well as Learning, and indeed a very extraordiary Person, and afterwards deservedly advanced to wealthy Preferments, his Mastership here being only 201. a Year, which he earned every Farthing, in overseeing the Work, and accounting with the Clerk thereof.

It will, no doubt, be thought very strange, how so great a Number of Fellows (for at first there was few Scholars) could be maintained out of so small a Revennue, viz. that of the old House (which the Executors had redeemed) 80l. is. 10d. eb. the Revennues of an old decayed moison Dieu or Hospital at Ospring in Kent, given them by the King, (in lieu of near 400l. per Anu. he kept back of the Foundress's) 70l. with the Foundress's Estate at Fordham and some other little Things purchased with her Moneys, but the Maintenance, we may imagine was suited to the Revenue, only 12d. per Week was allowed in Commons to a Fellow, and 7d. to a Scholar.

Having thus finished my Account of the Foundation, Building, Charter, &c. of this noble College, I shall, before I take leave of this Part of its History, say a Word or two, to the eternal Praise of its Members, who have in a great Measure, made amends for the lewd Lives of the Members of the old House.

As

As no House has undergone greater turns and varieties of Fortunes, fo no one has been more true to Orthodox Principles than this has been. To pass by King Henry VIII's Reign, when Things were fluctuating, and it was hard to know what was Truth, under King Edward VI. they where no where more warm for the Reformation, under two Reforming Matter. Dr. Bill and Mr. Leaver, than they were at St. John's, and as in pursuance hereof, more Fellows were ejected in Q. Mary's Reign, than perhaps from any other Society in either University; so upon their return under Q. Elizabeth, they brought back with them the same Principles, (only with a Tincture of Geneva) and were no where more noted for their Zeal. Witness the Pilkingtons, the Leavers, Cartwrights, and Fulks, Names well known in the Hiftory of the Reformation. This Tincture foon wore off. Under K. Charles I. they were Orthodox and Regular, and fuffered very deeply for their Principles of Loyalty (fee their Sufferings at the End of this College) and Religion, but tho' the Master and better half of the Fellows were then ejected, and the College was under Force and Violence almost 20 Years, yet that Force was no fooner removed, but the Principles returned, with the Return of their Professors, and they were the same Men as before. In one Word, when the Nation was again alarmed with the fears of Popery, no College expreffed a greater Abhorrence of that Religion, or more readiness to Suffer, had there been Occasion.

Tillotson) and Rector of Lowther in Westmorland; his Wife Elizabeth posthumous Daughter of Giles Wetherell, of Stockton near Durham, Esq. (Niece to Sir George Marwood, Bart.) and to Barbara, who married the Grandson of Tohy Matthews, Archbp. of York: who had Issue, nine Sons, seven of which lived to Maturity, and our Author was the eldest.

He was admitted of this House, June 11, 1674, where he imbibed such salutary Instructions for Life and Manners, and such a Fund of Erudition, as rendered him an Honour to the College, and an Ornament to the whole Church. He had a Fertility of Genius, join'd to an uncommon Penetration and Solidity of Judgment, with a furpizing Memory, which feemed to infinuate, as if he had been born for promoting Literature, by indefatigable Industry. He was en ued with many becoming Accomplishments of a Gentleman; and his Piety towards God, and his Sincerity to his Friends, gave him a Right to be placed amongst the best of Men. Such Merit and fuch Virtues, recommended him first to the Earl of Bath, with whom he went as Chaplain to his Lordship, in his Embassy to Spain. And afterwards to the particular Favour and Affection of the Rt. Hon. and Rt. Rev. the Lord Crew, Bp. of Durbam, who was a great Patron of Learning, and had so high a Sense of his Prudence and Discretion, that he generally confulted him in all Ecclefiastical Affairs of Moment. 'rle promoted him to the Dignity of a Canon of that Church, and also to the Rectory of Gatesbead, and of Bishop-Weremeth. which was his Lordship's own Parish, where he not only beautified the Church, and and repaired the Chancel, but built also a very large and elegant Parsonage House, besides what he laid out at his Prebendal House, &c. and other Liberalities. (See Brown Willis's Cathedrals.

He was very affiduous in reading History, and reflecting that a correct Edition of the Historical Works of Venerable Bode was much wanted, he thought the Task could not be undertaken more properly than by him, who was a Co-Fresbyter in the same City with him; he accordingly prepared himself for the Work; but to our grief, while he was labouring for the Press with uncommon Diligence, he was snatched away by an untimely Death; a loss much lamented by the learned World, who had received great expectations of most admirable Performances from his Labours; However it was published, together with Bede's other Historical Works, Anno 1722, (according to our Editors own Direction) by his eldest Son George Smith, Esq; and it is thought a most improved and accomplished Edition. In 1723 was published in Ostavo, an Abridgment of Bede, with his Life and Explanatary Notes, Translated into English from our Authors Edition in Folio. He also published some valuable Sermons, particularly one at the Confecration of the Chapel at Stockton aforefaid 1712, and also a Sermon before the Sons of the Clergy, upon their first solemn Meeting, at St. Nicholas, in Newcastle-upon-Tine, Sept. 10, 1711, which excellent Charity he was chiefly Instrumental in setting on Foot. He had made some Progress in Writing the Antiquities of Durbam, and furnished Bp. Gibson, Editor of Camden's-Britannia with Additions to his Account of Durham, inferted in the last Edition of that Work; he likewife fupplied Mr. Anderson, with Materials towards his publishing the Independency of Scotland, wherein he ackowledges his Obligations to him, and fays, how much that Nation is obliged to our Author, by letting them know, where so many of their valuable and ancient Deeds and Writings are; which, by their being carefully loged at Durham, have escaped the repeated miserable Fates, that most of their ancient Charters and Records have undergone.

and Moreton-House, Esq; which Henry was half Brother to Sir George Baker of Crook near Durham, by their Mother Mary, Daughter to Lionel Heron of Chipchase-Castle, Esq; who married first to Oswald Baker, Esq; after to William Smith of Durham, and Westbarrington, Counsellor at Law; whence the said Mary Coroper was allied in Blood, to George Baker, Esq; the Founder of six Exhibitions in this College.

Our Author was, before this Marriage, allied to the Smith's of Westbarrington aforesaid (an ancient Family there, remarkably greatLoyalists) as he was to the Smith's of Knaresborough and Heath in York-Shire, and of Kidlington, in Oxfordshire, where his very worthy Brother Joseph Smith, D. D. Provost of Queen's-College, in Oxford (who has been always highly esteemed for his Learning and great Abilities) does belong, - Our Author died at Cambridge, July 30, 1715, Ætat. 56, and was burried in this Chapel, having a long Inscription on his Monument, (printed in Le-Neve, and elsewhere) wrote by his very learned Friend Mr. Baker, Fellow here, and, who the University is so much obliged to, for his valuable Antiquities he has left behind him; and the Author of these Sheets, for the Materials he borrowed therefrom.

Thomas Otway, the Poet, was educated at C. C. C. Oxon, afterwards here. (See an Account of him in the Lives of the Poets.

Hilkiah Bedford, A. M. a very worthy and learned Gentleman, was Son of Hilkiah Bedford (of Sibsey near Boston in Lincolnshire, an ancient Seat of that Family, sometime of London, Merchant) by Mary his Wife, Daughter of Richard Gardiner, of Thame in Oxfordshire, Esq; whose Wife Anne, was the second Daughter of William Platt, of Highgate, Esq; (Son and Heir of that learned Author of the Garden of Eden, Sir Hugh Platt, of Kirby-Castle, and Bednal Green, in Middlesex) the Founder of several Fellowships and Scholarships in this College. Our Author was born in Hoser-lane, London, July 23, 1663, and was burned out of his Father's House there in 1666, at the Time of the Fire of London. He was admitted here Nov. 4, 1679; the first Scholar of Mr. Platt's Foundation, where he was fometime Fellow. He was afterwards introduced to the Patronage of Heneage Earl of Winchelfea, to whom he was a constant Companion and Friend. —— In April 1714, he was tryed in the Court of Queen's-Bench, before the Lord Chief Justice Parker, for Writing, Printing, and publishing a Book intitled, the Hereditary Right of the Crown asserted. — He was a steadfast adherer to the Articles and Canons of the Church, and being nicely Conscientious in not taking the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy to the new Government 1689, put him upon Writing the faid Book, having been alfo a fufferer, as well as others, that retained those Sentiments. He is among the Lift of those mentioned, in Dean Hicke's Life of Mr. Kettlewell, who were thought not to qualify themselves upon the Revolution, wherein is contained fome Account of the Transactions of his Time. — He published the Latin Life of Dr. Barwick, sometime Fellow of this House, who, immediately after the Restoration, was successively Dean of Durbam and St. Paul's. —— Our Author afterwards translated his Life into English with many Additions. M. S. this Account is taken from, was written in Latin by the Dean's Brother, Dr. Peter Barwick, Physician in Ordinary to King Charles II. and sometime Fellowhere, where this M. S. was lodged by the Authors Direction, as was another Copy thereof preserved by his Grandson Sir John Dutton of Sherborn, Bart. with three of the King's Letters, together with another Volume of the Chancellors, Dr.

Dr. Barwick's, and other Letters and Papers, relating to the fame Subject, which were published by our Editor in 1724. —— William and John, two of his Sons, were also of this House, and both eminent Physicians. And Thomas Bedford, another of his Sons, (but whether of this House, or not, I can't say) of Ashburn in Derbyshire, was Editor de Historiae Ecclesiae Dunchmensis, printed with his Notes, at London, 1732. And Simeon, who was Author of this Book, was Monk and Precentor of Durham, A. D. 1164.

William Beveridge, D. D. born in Leicestershire, 1636, was educated in this College. He denied the Bprick of Bath and Wells, in the beginning of the Year 1691, (of which Dr. Ken had been lately deprived, for not taking the Oaths to King William and Queen Mary) but in 1704, was confecrated Bp. of St Asaph's, and died Mar. 5, 1707, Etat. 71, and lies interred in St. Paul's, London. He published at 20 Years of Age, a Latin Treatile, on the Use of the Oriental Languages; afterwards, his Chronological Institutions, in the same Language: his Pendeats of the Canons of the Apostles. The Code of the Canons of the Primitive Church vindicated and illustrated, also in Latin. He also left two Volumes of Sermons, fince printed in Folio; and a Defence of Sternhold and Hopkins's Book of Psalms; besides his private Thoughts, written in his younger Years, for the fettling of his Principles and Conduct of his Life, which from an imperfect M. S. Copy of the Authors, was revised and published (at the request of the Bookfeller, whose Hands it fell into) by Dr. Smith, Provoît of Queen's College in Oxford, tho' without his Name, who has likewife made large Additions and Improvements to it of his own, but with a just regard to the Sentiments of its pious and learned Author. He was also concerned in Publishing our Author's Exposition on the thirty-nine S 4 ArliArticles. And the faid learned Editor, in his Preface to the first Volume of those incomparable Private Thoughts, has given us a very excellent Character of this truly primitive Prelate, who he justly observes, was the great Reviver and Restorer of Piety. ——Our Author lest the greatest Part of his Estate at his Decease, for the Propagation of the Gospel, and promoting Christian Knowledge at Home, as well as Abroad.

He was thence appointed Secratary to the Embassy at the Peace of Reswick, was likewife Secretary to the two fucceeding Em-Eassies in France. He was Secretary of State in Ireland, next one of the Lords Commissioners of Trade and Plantations; and by Queen Anne made one of the Commissioners of the Customs; and in 1711, her Majesty's Plenipotentiary Minister in France. So that going into Business very Young, Poety (to use his own Words in his Preface to his Poems) was only the product of his leifure Hours. - Tho' used to a Court, he was unskilled in Flattery, and averse to Grandeur. - For his Talents, he was a Man of great Wit and Vivacity; admirable at Invention. — His Tales are inimitable, his Lines easy and harmonious; besides what he published in his Life time; there are 2 Vols. in 8vo. published since his Death, of the History of his own Times, of his Negotiations, Journal, and Examination before a Committee of the Privy-Council; with some Miscellaneous Poems, &c.

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL, is a noble Apartment, handfomely fitted up, and wherein, on Sundays, Holy. Days, and their Eves, Divine-Service is performed as in Cathedrals.

In the North-Wall of the Antichapel is a large Tomb (inclosed with Iron Rails) being a Table supported by Marble Pillars, on which lies the Effigies of Archdeacon Ashotn, and under it lies a Skeleton neatly cut in Marble, the first to shew us what he was, the latter what he is.

His Rebusis, an Ash out of a Tun. And on a Brass is this,

Hic situs Hugo Asheton Archidiaconus Eboracensis, qui ad Christiana Religionis Augmentum, socios duos ex Lancastria, todidemque Scholares, socium et Scholarem Ebor: Com: Sociumque et Scholarem Dunelm: Dioc: Oriund: suis impensis pie instituit, atque singulis a se institutis Socijs, consuetum Sociorum Stipendium Solidis 40 Annuis adauxit, Obijt No: Calend Decembr: An: 1522.

The Rev. and learned Mr. Baker, late of this House, was Scholar and Fellow of his Foundation, and had in his Chamber a good Picture of him, which he much valued. (See Benefactors.) Another Inscription, for

The Rev. Humpbrey Gower, S. T. P. Master, Mirgaret-Professor, and Canon of Ely; he died Mar. 27, 1711; Ætal: 74.

Another

Another, for

Rob. Worsley, Esq; who was descened of an ancient and honourable Family; he died the 2d. of Mar. 1714, Ætat. 19.

Another, for

John Smith, S. T. P. of whom there is a long and most elegant Character. He was born at Low-ther in Westmorland in 1659, and died July 30, 1715.

The Vestry here was formerly a Chapel, founded by Dr. Heton (or Keylon, as Fuller calls him) in which he had his Chantry Priest to say Mass for his Soul, and keep his Anniversary; he lies buried (says Mr. Baker) under the old Arched Tomb between that and the Antichapel.

The LIBRARY, is a very good and spacious Room, well supplied with useful Volumes, and Ornamented with several well finished Portraits of the Benefactors, &c.

The Hall, is a Noble Apartment, having a grand Bow Window at the upper End, facing the Eaft.

The MASTER'S LODGE, hath many good and Grand Apartments, but especially the Long Gallery, which is the longest Room in the University, and which, with the Library that opens into it, makes a most charming View.

But should I speak particularly of the Courts, Bridge, long and spaious Shady-Walks, Groves, Canals, Bowling-Green, &c. I should much exceed my intended brevity; tho' I cannot help taking Notice of a monstrous large Elm in these Walks, which is much admired by all Strangers.

And

Rectory

He was first of Pembroke-Hall, in this University, where he became Fellow. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was very Active in gathering the University Plate for his Majesty's fervice, and conveying it to him: For which (as alfo on account of the Esteem which Archbp. Laud had for him, and the favour shewn him by that Prelate) he became in a peculiar manner Obnoxious to the Rage of the Party; and accordingly fuffered under them, to a very great Degree. For he was not only Plundered and hurried away Prisoner to London, with Dr. Sterne (fee Jesus-College), but fuffered the same Barbarous usage. His confinement in feveral Prifons, with the faid Dr. lafted about three Years, during some Part of which Time he was almost starved, and was at last set at Liberty. After he was thus got out of Custody, he went to his Majesty at Oxford, became Chaplain to him, and one of the Preachers before the Court there, but upon the declining of the King's Caufe, he fled to Madrid, where he lived in the Family of Sir Edward Hyde, to whom, and the Lord Cottington, he had been Chaplain in his Exile, where he died with Grief for his Majetty's untimely End, about the Year 1651. He always feared the King's Murder, and endeavoured, in vain, to dissuade the moderate Part of the other Side from it: And at his Death, he intimated the Restoration. He was a Person of such eminent Worth and Abilities, as render'd him above all Commendation.

In the shortliv'd Parl. of 1640, Complaint was made in the House, May 1; against some Things in a Sermon of that worthy Dr's. Preaching at St. Mary's Mar. 27, 1635; and the Dr. had leave to hear the Charge on the Thursday after, being the 6th, the Day before which, the Parl. was dissolved. The next Parl. however, foon reaffumed the business, and Dec. 21, 1641, the Committee for scandalous Ministers was ordered to take into confideration the Matter inform'd against him. Livings fee above, prefented to the last by the King Off. 27, 1637. the two Livings worth about 600l. per Ann. On the removal of Dr. Fuller to the Deanery of Durham, he was made Dean of Ely 1645, but he never possessed by the Iniquity of the Times. He was deprived of his Headship, Mar. 13, 1643; and afterwards attended Sir Edward Hyde and and the Lord Cottington as Chaplain in their Embassy to the Court of Spain, and died at Madrid Oct. 1, 1651, and was their buried. Tho. Tyrwhitt, B. D. Fellowship.

He was Born of an ancient Family in Lincoln-shire, was sometime Fellow of Katherine-Hall, where he was Proctor, in 1631; was in Exile, and afterwards restored, in the same manner as Mr. Reading. The College presented him to Thorington Rect. in 1661, when he was D. D. and he died in 1666; he resigned Wilbraham-Magna Vic. in Cambridgshire, when instituted to Thorington. and Nich. Bullingham B. D. was instituted thereto August 29.

He was a Native of the County of Middlefex, if not born in in London, was ejected by the Earl of Manchester Afr. 8, 1644; and died soon after. He was succeeded by Mr. Samuel Dawson, who had been Barbarously used, and ejected from Sidney-Collège, notwithstanding which, he afterwards accepted of this Fellowship from the Earl of Manchester.

Will. Rogers, B. D. Fellowship.

He was Born in Flintshire, which is all I can learn of him.

Rich. Wrench, B. D. Fellowship.

He was a Native of the City of Chefter, chosen Fellow Apr. 5, 1636, ejected Apr. 8, 1644 and finding a worthy good Man in his Fellowship on the Restoration, would not give him any disturbance. He was afterwards Prebend of Durham, and Rector of Bolden in that County.

The late Mr. Baker of this Colleg, gives this further Account of the foregoing Sufferer, viz. That he was an excellent good Man, an encourager of Learning, would often come into the School at Durham and examine the Scholars and always appointed one Day for their Entertainment, during his Monthly Refidence.

Will. Lacey, B. D. Fellowship.

He was a Yorkshireman by Birth, being Born in Beverly, chosen Fellow with Wrench; went into the Army after his ejection, was Chaplain to Prince Rupert, he was taken Prisoner in the War, and confined to a noisome Prison, where he was very barbarously treated, and where, being in great Want, Mr. Berwick (ejected with him) relieved and supported him. He was restored by a Warrant from the E. of Manchester, dated August 2, 1660, and Executed Nov. 2, following. At the Restoration he was ordered in the Letters Mandatory, to be created D.D.O.F. 3, 1662. Will. Bullock, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Born of a good Family in Derbyshire;

and an Estate falling to him by the Death of his Father or Brother, he was well provided for.

The Quercla Contab. faith, that one John Bullock of this House, and probably a Relation of his, was thrown into Prison for not being old enough to take the Covenant.

John Otway, A. M. Fellowship.

He was ejected Mar. 15, 1643, for refusing to take the Solemn League and Covenant, and other Missemeanors, which are the Words of the Warrant for his ejection. Not any one particular of of those Missemeanors is mentioned in it: Possibly one of them was, thathe bad taken up Arms for his Majesty, and was otherwise very serviceable to him, as appears by the frequent mention of him in the Manuscript Life of Dr. Barwick. Upon the King's return he was Knighted, and was Temporal Chancellor to the Bp. of Durham. He was Son to Roger Otway of Sedburgh in Yorkshire, Gent. made Fellow Mar. 24, 1639: He went after to Greys-Inn for the Study of the Law.

Roger Jones, A. M. Fellowship. He was a Native of the County of Salop.

Will. Barwick, H. M. Fellowship.

He was Born in Suffolk, and was ejected also from the Living in Mildenhall of that County in 1644; and the Person to whom Sequestred, was unwilling to payMrs. Barwick her fifths, as appears from an Order of the Committee for Plunder'd Ministers, dated Feb. 15, 1644.

He being committed Prisoner to the Tower in 1650, for Corresponding with the King's Friends, the forenamed Mr. Otway his Fellow Collegian and Sufferer, found means to get an Order from the infamous Judge Bradshaw to Visit him, and where he contributed to his Relief; he was the first, of all the University, who was not afarid publickly and learnedly to defend the Royal Cause against the associating Counties; and after he was expelled, he shewed the same Courage in the Field. After this, he was chiefly instrumental in engaging Col. Clobery and Col. Redman, his two Brothers-in-law, to the Royal Interest, the former of which was after a Kt. and had no small Interest with Gen. Monk

Will. Morgan, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Born in Monmouthshire in Wales.

Humphrey Neale, A. M. Fellowship.

Hen. Hatton, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Northamptonshire Man.

John Cleveland, A. M. Fellowship:

He was Born at Hinkley in Leicestersbire, entered first at Christ-College in this University, and from thence soonafter elected Fellow of this House; where he was justly esteemed the Delight and Ornament of it. Upon the breaking out of the Troubles, he appear'd a Champion in Verse for his Majefty's Caufe, and was the first that did so; for which he was afterwards turned out of his Fellowship. Whereupon he retired to his Majesty, then at Oxford, and was had in great effeem by the Court: From thence he went to Newark upon Trent, where he met with the same Esteem and Respect that he had at Oxsoed, and was by Sir Edward Willis, Covernour of that Garrison, made Judge-Advocate. In this Place he continued till the Surrender thereof to the Parliament: After which he was Imprison'd at Yarmouth or Norwich, (tho' I rather believe at the latter) where continuing in a lingering Condition, and with little hopes of relief, he drew up that Bright and Gallant Address to Cromwell (Published among his Works) which so much Moved and Affected the Usurper, as to order his Liberty. But alas when it was to late! for he had contracted such a Weakness and Disorder in Prison, as soon after brought him to his Grave; which was in the Year 1658. He was universally lamented, as he had been beloved, by the Loyalists. His Funeral Sermon was Preached by his Friend Mr. (afterwards Bp.) Pearson. He died in Greys-Inn Apr. 29, 1658; and was buried at College Hill, according to Lloyd's Memoirs.

John Berwick, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born Apr. 20, 1612, at Wetherslack in Westmorland, being third Son to Geo. Berwick of that Place Gent, and his next Brother Peter Berwick M.D. a Celebrated Physician, and equally noted for his Piety and Learning, who himself had a clear Title to a Fellowship in the said Society, to which he was prefented by Dr. Wren Bp. of Ely, (then Prifoner in the Tower) Dec. 3, 1644; being what is called the Ely Fellowship in that College: But to this he could not be admitted through the Diforders of those Times, and, after the Restoration was one of the Phylicians to the King, and the Author of the Dean his Brother's Life, whom he long furvived, not dying till Sept. 4, 1705; Ætat. 86, and buried in the Church of St. Faith London. The Dean our present Subject, was brought up chiefly at Sedburgh School in Yorksbire, from whence May 11, 1631, he was admitted of this College, then at the Age of 16, and Apr. 5, 1636, with Mr. Wrench and Lacy, he was elected Fellow of the Foundation of Rob. Simpson, which, after his expullion from it, was filled up, first by John Starkey, and and after by Jonathan Tuckney, Son to Dr. Tuckney the Master. whom Mr. Berwick thinking a promising YoungMan, let keep Possession at the Reftoration, tho', (from the Principles he had imbib'd from his Father) he after quitted it on the Bartholomew-att, whilft he still continued a Member of the University, he was one of the Persons employ'd in fending the Plate and what Money they could spare, to his Majesty, who had Written to Dr. Holdsworth, the Vice-chancellor, 1642, expressing his being then in extreme Want. After this, he had a Hand in drawing up the Narrative of the Sufferings of the Members of this University, Entitled Querela Cantabrigiensis, and no less in the learned Work Entitled CERTAIN DISQUI-SITIONS, designed to fortify them against the Solemn-League and Covenant. When he was driven from Cambridge with other Loyalists, he went to London, where he foon engag'd himself very zealously in the Royal Service, for which he had the King's acknowledgements written with his own Hand. Having long manag'd a private Correspondence between the King's Friends, and being at last difcover'd, Apr. 9, 1650. by a Warrant from Bradshaw the President, he was committed close Prisoner to the Dungeon of the Gate-bouse Westminster, (with his Brother Edward, who foon loft his Life) after three Days Confinement there, by another Warrant he was removed to the Tower, during his Confinement in that Place, out of a Thousand pound contributed to his Majecty's subsistance by the Lady Savyle, he was graciously pleased to order 2001. of it for Mr. Berwick's relief. At first, as it was defigned, he was very feverely used by Mr. West, the Lieutenant of the Tower, but such was the examplary Piety and Behaviour of of Mr. Berwick, that Mr. Rob. Brown, the Deputy Lieutenant, was fo wrought on thereby, as to do him all the good good Offices in his Power, and then attended his Prayers &c. and having a Child to be Baptized, he had it done by Mr. Berwick, according to the Rites of the Church of England; James Lord Ogilve, Son and Heir to the late Earl of Airly, the Lord Spiney, with the Wife of General David Lef-Iv, (then in the same Prison) being the Child's Sponfors. Mr. Brown becoming by degrees fo great a Penitent, as to return to his Duty to the King, and to his proper Employment, as a Cabinet-maker, having refigned his Post under the Ufurping Powers. Mr. West so far mollified, as to behave with Civility and Care, and was the Means at last of getting him some Allowance from those at the Helm, tho' this came fo late, that during his whole imprisonment, which was two Years and four Manths, he received only 41. 5s. When Mr. Berwick was first made a Prisoner, he was so far gone in a Consumptive-Case, that every body thought, as well as himfelf, his Prison would soon dispatch him, and this was what his Enemies hoped and wished for; but, by his great abstemiousness, it only ferved to restore him to a pretty good share of Health; when he was released Aug. 7, 1652; under the Obligation to appear and take his Tryal. if Summoned thereto within twelve Months, and find two others to be Bound with him in the fame Security. He owed his enlargement in a great Measure to Mr. West the Lieutenant, who died of an Apoplexy three Days after, when John Barkstead one of the Regicides, was appointed his Successor, and from under whose Power Mr. Berwick was thus fortunately withdrawn. As foon as the Year was expired, and his Security discharged, for want of any Profecution against him, he renewed his Task as zealously as before, in carrying on a Correspondence among the Royalists, and to the R storation held a constant Course of it with with Sir Edward Hyde, (after Earl of Clarendon) for restoring the Church and Monarchy, which he faw at length happily effected. On the taking Place of this great Event, he had an offer of the Borick of Carlifle, which yet he modestly refused, but accepted the Deanry of Durbam, having lately taken his Degree of D. D, as he had that of B. D. at Oxford in 1645. He was installed Dean Nov. 1, 1660, and, during the short stay he made at Durham, employed all his Time and Care in promoting the advancement of Religion and the Interest of his Church. He had not been here a full Year, when he was called upon, for his special Abilities and Fitness to exchange thisf or the Deanry of St, Paul's, which he accepted of, tho' of less Value, in Obedience to the Commands of his Superiors, and at the same Time resignd his Rectory of Houghton in Le-Spring, (given him by Bp. Morton, whose Chaplain he was) as now going to be removed too far from the Personal Duties of such a Charge; he was installed Dean of this Church Off. 19, 1661; where persuing the same Labours, and with the same affiduity as he had done at Durham. he foon relapfed into his old Distemper, which put a Period to his Life Oft. 22, 1664; Ætat. 53, and was buried in his Cathedral, to which he gave in his Life-time 500l. and by his Will 100l. more. to this College 300l. He repaired and beautified the Chapel where he was born, and augmented the Cure with 30l. per Ann. besides many other Sums of good Value to Pious uses. To the Account of him given by Dr. Walker at Durham, add; he was Collated to the 8th Stall in the Church of Durbam, and, in 1652 to the 4th, on the Death of Peter Smart, who had been displaced, and fucceeded by Dr. Carre 1631, on whose Death Smart was restored by the Parliament. Besides the Living of Houghton in Le-Spring (from which he was circle) ejected) he had also Wolsingham both in Durham, in the first of these he had succeeded Dr. Hamlet Marshall; and it was to be restored to this, it seems, that, July 12, 1660, he Petitioned the House, which was then reserved to a Committee. His Prebend he resigned, when he became Dean.

John Boteler, A. M. Fellowship.

He was born of a good Family in Bedfordshire, and Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in 1644.

Edward Watts, A. M. Fellowship. He was a Hertfordshire Man.

Sam. Drake, A.M. Fellowship.

He was born in Yorkshire, ejected for refusing the Covenant, and was in Arms for his Majesty at Newark. After the Restoration he became Vicar of Pontefrast in his Native Country, and was succeeded in it by his Son. He was in the Letters Mand. Nov. 8, 1661, to be created D. D.

There was also ejected from this College on Account of the Engagement;

Allen Henman, A.M. Robert Clarke, B.D. Tko. Wombwell,, B.D.

He was Son to Will. Wombwell, of Wombwell in Yorkshire Esq; and was after Vicar of Wathe in his own County.

Mr. Topping, Fellowship.

It was he no doubt, mentioned by Archbishop Landat his Tryal, as one of the Number he had reclaim'd from the Errors of Popery, after that, with Ashton, another Scholar of this House, he had got the Pass of the French Ambassador for going over into Foreign Parts; of the first of whom his Grace observed, that he after allowed Means to him, and then procured him his Fellowship, and was, at that Time, a Divine and as hopefull a Young Man as any of his Time. What a shockin set of Men must these be, to Charge this most excellent Arcobishop with being Popishly inclined &c. when he made it appear at his Tryal he had been the Instrument of converting more of that Persuasion, than any other Person of his Time; (soms of whom were Persons of Quality.) Oct. 12, 1647; on Complaint to the House, the Informations were referned to the Committee concerning Malignants being chosen Fellows of St. John's or any other Csllege, fome Part tending to Arraign them, of Praying for Bps. and using the Common Prayer. From this Complaint it can be no Wonder, when the Engagement came to be passed not long after, that a new fet of Sufferers appeared among the Members of this University.

The three former lived to be restored in 1660. If all, or any of these, had preserved themselves in their Fellowships until the Time that the Engagement Disyossessing them, without taking the Covenant, or otherwise siding withe the Rebellion (which Quere) then they belong to this List, and must be ranked with the other ejected Loyalists.

I have some Reason to think, that the three former of these had never taken the Covenant, or otherwise complied with the Times; nor do I know any thing of that kind concerning tee Fourth; who, was one of the muny Converts from Popery, made by Archbp. Laud.

July 13, 1576; the Queen issued a Commission to William Lord Burleigh, Knight of the Garter, Lord Treassurer of England, and Chancellor of this University; Rich. Coxe, Bp. of Ely; John Whitgu't, Master of Trinity-College; Andrew Perne, Master of Peterhouse; Edward Hawford, Master of Christ, REFORMATION A. D. 1643.

Dec. 30, We break down about 40 Superstitious Pictures, Joseph and Mary stood to be Espoused in the Windows.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Edward Rianbow, D. D. Mastership.

He had continued unejected at the Time when the Querela was published; but in the Year 1650, was turned out, for refusing the Engagement: And fince, if rightly apprehended, he had never taken the Covenant, (tho' possibly, in some other Things, he might have comply'd with the Times more than became him) I make no scruple to set him down as one who Suffered under the Usurpation of those Times.

He was Son of Tho. Rainbow, Rector of Bliton in Lincoln, and born there Apr. 20, 1608, enter'd first at Corpus-Christi-College in Oxford, and from thence removed hither, and became fucceffively Scholar, Fellow, a noted Tutor, and at length Master, After his ejectment from the College, he obtained the Living of Chesterford in Essex, and about the beginning of 1659, that of Benefield in Northamptonshire; both of which he was permitted to enjoy, without going through the Hands of the Triers. In 1660, he was restored to his College, and became Chaplain to his Majesty, and Dean of Peterborough Dec. 8, 1660; and in 1664, July 10, constituted Bp. of Carlifle. And dying Mar. 25, 1684; Ætat. 76. At his own desire was buried in the Church-Yard of Dalston in Cumberland the Parish Church to his Palace of Rose-Castle.

John Howorth, B. D. Fellowship.

And

Holy-Trinity, Vic. in Cambridge.

He was Tutor to the Earl of Abingdon, and on May 13, 1636, The King presented him with the above Living: Upon the Restoration he was Installed ftalled Prebend (Aug. 6, 1660) of the fecond Stall of the Church of Peterborough. In 1664 he was made Master of his College, and died Vice-chancellor in 1667.

Rich. Perenchief, A. M. Fellowship.

He outlived the Usurpation, but returned not to the College, but thro' feveral good Livings, in 1664 was made Prebend of Westminster, in 1667 (being then D. D.) he was Collated to the Prebend of Chiswick in the Church of St. Paul's, and in 1670 Arch-deacon of Huntingdon. He was also Sub-Amoner to K. Charles II. He was the learned Person who published the Collection of King Charles's Works, made by Mr. Fulman, and compiled the Life of that Blessed Martyr, out of the Materials gotten together by the same learned Man. He lies buried in Westminster-Abbey.

- Howorth Junior, Fellowship.

I find one Theophilus Howorth, M. D. of this University, and College, Incorporated at Oxford in 1669. He was of the College of Physicians:

- Erskin, B. D. Fellowship.

This Gentleman, with the five following; was ejected by the Earl of Manchester Apr. 8, 1644.

- Green, L.L. D. Fellowship.

John Pulleyn, B. D. Fellowship.

Installed Chancellor of the Church of Lincoln Ost. 12, 1660; and by the date of his Successor, died in 1670.

- Leech, B. D. Fellowship.

---- Butler, A.M. Fellowship.

- Gale, Fellowship.

In 1650, one Mr. John Davis, was turned out of a Fellowship of this College by the Parliament; which which I suppose (says Walker) was on account of the Engagement; and so he belongs not to this List unless he had, till that Time, preserved in Loyalty, and Fidelity to the Church; of which Quære.

'Tis remarkable, that the Leaf (in the Register of the College) which is thought to have contained the Names of those who were ejected (but whether for the Covenant or Engagement; I am not certain) is cut out of the Book; For there are two Pages of it wanting, just about the Time of those Transactions.

To the foregoing Account given by Dr. Walker, take the following communicated to me by a Friend.

The Plate of this College having been seized Feb. 5, 1643; as it was going to Oxford for the King's use, the Earl of Manchester was ordered to dispose of it for the use of the Parl. as he should think fit. The Engagement by which Dr. Rainbow the Master fell, was resolved upon Oct. 11, 1649; the Act passing Jan. 2 after; by which all Members of Parl. and all others, and the same the Clergy, Masters of Colleges, Fellows &c. promiffing to be true and faithful to the Common-Wealth, as established without a King, or House of Peers: and none to be admitted in Church or State &c. that did not take and subscribe it. And June 21, 1650, the Committee at Cambridge, was ordered to examine, what Masters, Fellows &c. had neglected or refused to take it, with Power to displace them &c.

N this Site, (besides the six ancient Hostles or Inns of Gregory, Ovings, Margaret, Gerard's, Catherine, and Tyler's) there flourished formerly, the three following Houses, viz. Michael, Kings-Hall, and Phiswick's-Hostle.

I. Michael-House, 1324.

Dedicated to St. Michael the Arch-Angel, founded on the 5th Day before the Calends of October 1324; by Harvey Aungier, of Stanton Priest; Canon of the Churches of St. Peter at York, and St. Andrew at Wells; Rector of East-Dearbam and North-Creak, in Norfolk, (of which Country he was) and Chancellor of the Exchequer to King Edward II. as appears by his Will. It was foon after enriched with many Possessions of Sir John Ilney Kt. and was accounted as compleat a College, as any in the University. The Founder died in 1337, having fufficiently endowed this House; the Scholars thereof taking their Degrees in the Public Schools (then part of the Grey-Friars, now Sidney-College) of the University, as the Archives do testify.

II. KING'S-HALL, 1337.

King Edward II. in the latter End of his Reign, had a Defign to erect a Religious Foundation in this University, consisting of a Master and 32 Scholars, and sometime before his Death had appointed and maintained them, out of his own private Purse; and desired his Son to erect and endow the faid House; which he had doubtless done sooner than he did (he being a Religious and good Prince) had not his Warrs with France, hindered (for feveral Years) his Pious Defign. But as foon as the Warrs were over, and Peace established, he fet about it in good Earnest, and in a good Manner, recovered some of the lost Time; and was very careful the Master and Scholars should have their Stipends duly paid them. For I find in Rymer, that, Jan. 26, 1334, 9 Edward III. The King gave Directions to his Treasurer, and Barons of the Exchequer &c. fetting forth, that as he had lately given Orders to the Sheriff of Cambridgesbire, concerning what was to be paid the Master and 32 Scholars on his Foundation at Cambridge, from the Feast of St. Michael Ann. 7th, of his Reign &c. And that Tho. Powys the Master had given him to understand, that the said Sheriffe, by Reason of other Payments to the King's use, which he was obliged to make out of the Rents of his Bailywick; was unable at present to satisfy the Stipends, with the Arrears; They the said Treasurer &c. were required to pay the faid Master &c. 401. out of the Exchequer for this purpose. This was 3 Years after made a fettled Foundation, by the Name of Kings-Hall. For the same Author says, Oct. 7, 1337; 11 Edward III. the King's Charter bears date from the Tower, for the Foundation of King's-Ha!. The Preamble takes Notice, that the King taking taking it into confideration, that, as our holy Mother the Church, might have her continual increase of Clergy, and falutary Wifdom, the Sons are born for the Fathers, and, learned Men giving way to Fate, a fit Posterity of Young Persons has Succession, in whom, after having finished their Studies, Wisdom may be propagated; who may spread the Catholic-Faith, and by their Sage Counsels add Strength to the Throne and Commonwealth; and therefore being defirous for augmenting the Number of learned Scholars in the Univerfity of Cambridge, which had produced many fruitful Branches in the Lord's Vineyard, well inclined to improve themselves by their application to their Studies, charitably to lay a perpetual Foundation, that the Youth, noted for their Ingenuity, might thence become the same for their Knowledge, and be better qualify'd for a Share in the Public Councils: He did now to the Honour of God, the bleffed Virgin bis Mother, and all Saints, and for the Soul of King Edward his Father, of famous Memory, (who, from a Pious confideration, had there maintained 32 Scholars in their Studies) as well as for the health of his own, and the Souls of Queen Philippa his Discreet Consort, their Children and Ancestors; founded a certain College for the same Number of Scholars in the faid University, and there continually carrying on their Studies, whom he would to live together in his Manse, near the Hospital of St. John, in the Parish of All-Saints, bought by him of Mafter Rob. de Croyland, he erected &c. in Perpetuity, and the faid Manse to be called by the Name of King's-Hall; and for the maintenance of his Scholars, he gave and granted to the Masters and Scholars, for himself and Succeffors, the faid Manse, with its appurtenences, and the Advowson of the Church of St. Peter in Northampton, with the Chapels annexed to the fame, being being in his own Patronage; with Licence to appropriate the same, tho' they had not yet presented to them, any Statute to the contrary notwithstanding. On the 16th of the same Month, he addressed the Pope for confirming his Foundation, mentioning his Grants to it, and his Defign to add thereto, as he did the same Day. And on Nov. 27, following, he directed his Precept to the Collectors of the Tenths &c. in this County, ordering them to pay 401. to the Master, for the support of himself and Scholars, (in which the Sheriff had failed) from the first Money coming into their Hands, for which they were to Discount in the King's Exchequer. Nor were the Masters and Fellows wanting in their Time, who in A. D. 1440, prevailed with King Henry VI. to interceed with Pope Eugenius IV. to annex the Rectory of Chesterton near Cambridge, to this House, which was effected. In this House were Elderly Fellows, so noted for Gravity and Wisdom, that it was at that Time, looked upon as the Oracle of the University. And to the end, that it might be in all Respects a Work truly Royal. This Hall was made of fo magnificent a Structure, that it was capable of entertaining K. Richard II. and his Court, when he held the Parliament at Cambridge in 1381; and the great Tower(now the Observatory of Trinity-College) was the Entrance to the faid Hall. Mar. 5, 3 Rich. II. the King gave this Hall a large Body of Statutes, which were to be read twice a Year, and every Member fworn to observe.

BENEFACTORS.

King Richard II. gave 5l. per Ann. out of the Manor of Chefterton, in lieu of so much, before received out of the Exchequer with much Trouble, and added 70l. per Ann. out of the Pensions of Scotch-Abbies.

III. Phiswick-Hostle, 1393.

Where now the South-fide of Trinity-College extends itself, so called, from William Phiswick, Esquire-Beadle of this University, who gave this his Dwelling-House to Gonvile-Hall, and erected a little College in 1393 as an Appendix to the said Hall, for receiving its Scholars when it had too many. See more of this Hostle in Gonvile and Caius-College.

Trinity-College, 1546.

Out of these three Nurseries of Learning, with the six Hostles or Inns aforesaid, K. Henry VIII. composed his most stately College, dedicated to the Holy and undivided Trinity; (whose Charter of Foundation, bears Date Dec. 19, 1546) and endowed it with so many Revenues, Lands, Privileges, and Royalties, (besides its ancient Possessions) as to leave it an Annual income of 1300l. by which a Master, 60 Fellows, 40 Scholars, and 10 Almoner-Orators, or Beadsmen, were maintained; owning the said King for their only Patron, reserving to himself and his Successors for ever, the Perogative of choosing the Master, as was used of Old in King's-Hall.

But lest this Account should seem too short for the greatest Part of my learned Readers, I will here add a Translation (out of Rymer Vol. 15, P. 106) of so much of the Charter as appears proper in this Place; which Charter, bears Date, only eleven Days before the King made his Will; and runs thus;

Forasmuch (says his Majesty) as all Men, created in the Image of God, and by him, and Mans Mediator are new formed to Immortality, ought to do and perform all such Things with their whole Mind and Endeavours, by which they may testify their Gratitude to their Creator and Redeemer; and Kings and Princes, who are appointed to Judge the Earth by the King of Kings, and Lord of Lord

Lords, had made it, he well remembred, their chief Business to honour the Lord in Heaven, to whom alone they are Subject, through whom they enjoy Terrestrial Power and Felicity, with all due Service, and to leave to Polterity some Splendid and Royal Monuments of their Devotion to the King of Heaven. From this Confideration, the Divine C'emency Enlightning his Mind, and the Recollection of the immense Bounty of God towards himfelf, who had given him the Government of his Kingdom, he had long held, as well in a flourishing State of Peace and Prosperity, as, by his Grace, conducted all the Way, with most Glorions Successes; but chiefly for the Establishing and Supporting the Christian Religion therein, in Truth and Sincerity, and Defending the same with all his Might, both against the Enormities and Wicked abuses of the Roman Papacy, and the deadly Impieties of Heritics; being by him Divinely elected and affifted, in whose Hands are the Hearts of Kings; that he might not feem unworthy of the Grace fo abundantly shed upon him by God, but, declaring his Gratitude for his past Blessings, might have his Hope confirm'd in those to come; to the Glory and Honour of God; and the Holy and undivided Trinity, to the Enlargement and Stability of the true Christian Religion; the extirpation of Errors, and false Opinions, the encrease of Piety and good Letters, the knowledge of Tongues, the Education of Youth in Piety and Virtue, good Manners and Learning, the Relief of the Poor and Needy, lastly to the common Benefit and Felicity of the Church of Christ, our Kingdom and Subjects; We, of our Special Grace &c. By these Prefents, do truly and fully erect, constitute &c. a certain College of Learning, Sciences, Good Arts, and Divinity, of perpetual Duration, on the Soyl Scite &c. of the late Hall and College commonly called called Kings-Hall, and the late College of St. Michael commonly called Michael-House, as also one other certain House and Hostle, called Fy/wicke or Fyfwicke-Hostle; with other Inns or Hostles of leffer Note, and one in particular called Hoving-Inn; lying and being in our Town and University of Cambridge; for a Master and 60 Fellows and Scholars, the faid College to be called Trinity-College, within the Town and University of Cambridge, of King Henry VIII's Foundation. And farther that the said College may be provided &c. with fit Perfons in their feveral Places and Degrees, We Order and Constitute John Redman S.T.P. the first Mafter of our faid College; after which the Catalogue of the Fellows and Scholars; willing moreover, that as well the faid Master, Fellows and Scholars, as others to be after added to them, for filling up the Number of 60 Fellows and Scholars, shall in all Things behave, and be chosen according to the Rules and Statutes, by us hereafter to be made &c. We Will likewise and declare by these Presents, that the faid Master, Fellows and Scholars, be one Body Corporate in perpetual Succession, that they may Plead and be impleaded &c. The faid College thus founded, the faid King now annexed to the University, as a Member thereof, and to Enjoy the fame Privileges, Immunities &c. with other Colleges of Royal Foundation in the same Univerfity; the King referving to himfelf and Successors, the nomination of the Master from Time to Time, and the poor Persons here mentioned, and acquitting this his College from the payment of any Fee great or small in his Haniper or esfewhere, for the great Seal to the Charter of Foundation.

The first Fellow mentioned in the Charter was William Glynne, S. T. P. the same who was after Master of Queen's and Bp. of Bangor; the other 16 were B. D. viz. Thomas Blythe, Samuel Brig-

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL, is a Grand Building, and very commodious, and wherein on Sundays, Holy-days, and their Eves, Divine Service is performed as in Cathedrals; and the Altar-piece, which is very magnificent, was fo very curiously Plaister'd over, for fear of being destroyed by the Reformers (as they call'd themselves) in Cromwell's Time, that they discerned it not, neither was it found out by the College till many Years after, (when it was discover'd by some Workmen, employ'd to do some Repairs there) it being supposed to be privately done by the Fellows, who were afterwards ejected, and never returned again to College.

In this Chapel, (amongst many others) are the following Monuments.

Against the West-Wall, there is one for Roger Cotes, first Plumian-Professor, the Inscription was Penned by Dr. Bentley Master of the College; and the Heads of his Lafe, with a Plate of the Monument, made at the charge of R. b. BENTLEY, D. D. Mafter.

The LIBRARY, is the Grandest of its kind in the three Kingdoms, most elegantly Floor'd with black and white Marble, as is the spacious Staircase leading thereto; it is most beautifully Classed, and well furnished with a grand Collection of Scarce and Valuable Books both Printed and M.S.S. with variety of other Curiosities, and well finish'd Portraits of its Benefactors.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Tho. Comber, D. D. Mastership Deanery of Carlisle,
And Worplesdon R. Surry.

He was born at Shermanbury in Sussex Jan 1, 1575; being twelfth Child of Mr. Comber, Clarencieux King at Arms. In his Youth he gave early Prognoftications of his future Eminence, in the various parts of Learning. He was Educated in this College, where he was successively Scholar, Fellow, and Master. In the Space of three Years, he got the Knowledge of the Hebrew, Syriac, and Arabic Tongues, to which he after added those of the Coptic, Samaritan, Chaldee, Persian, French, Spanish, and Itahan, and afterwards became a noted Tutor, and most admired Preacher in this University. Hespent sometime in France with the learned De Moulin; after his return, he was made the King's Chaplain, by the Means of the Archbp. of Canterbury; by which Prince he was employed in the Dispute with the Divines at St. Andrew's in Scotland; where he was much admired for his folid Quickness, and various Learning, by which he converted feveral Yews, and particularly Bardesius; and is mentioned by Morinus with the highest Encomiums. for his learned Labours on the Codex Samaritanus. -He was prefented by the King to the Deanery of Carlifle, on the removal of Dr. Peterson to the Deanry of Exeter; which last is omitted in the Fasti of Mr. Le-Neve. Oct. 31, 1631, he was by the same Power prefented to this Mastership, being lately Fellow of this College, in which Year, on the Death of Mr. Butts the Vice-Chancellor, he was chosen to supply his Place, for the remaining Part of it; and ferved the same Office in 1636. During the Time of his Mastership, he Governed with great Prudence, and exact Discipline; and was particularly strict in managing the Elections of it, commonly making this Return, when he was Sollicited by powerful Friends, in favour of an unqualified Lad; Perfuade your Gardener to Plant a withered Tree in your Garden. What Time he was deprived of his Headship does not yet appear; in 1642, according to Dr. Walker, but Dr. Hill, his Successor had not his Patent ordered by the Parl. till 7an. 8, 1647; which appointed him Master Mar. 17 after. However for being concerned in fending the Plate of the University to the King, and refusing the Covenant, he was imprisoned, plundered and deprived of all his Preferments; which he endured with great Refignation, and never passed a more fevere Sentence on his Persecutors, than that of God forgive them. - Meredith, D. D. Fellowship.

Of whom I can find no further Account.

Herbert Thorndyke, A. M. Fellowship.

And

Barly Rectory Hertfordshire.

He was Proctor in 1638, and on the Death of Mr. Ward, elected Master of Sidney-College, but kept out by the Oppression of the Times. But as for Dr. Walker's doubt about his being still Fellow, is nothing; the Fellows of this College holding Livings of considerable Value with their Fellowships, at least the Seniors, as he was. Before he had Barley, viz. May. 30, 1639; he was presented by the Crown to Cleybroke V. Leicester/hire; he quitted this for Barly, having a Presentation thereto from the King June 9, 1642: This last is in the Bp. of Ely, who being now harrassed by the Parl. allow'd, it must be supposed, the Royal Presentation in his Favour. According to Sir Hen. Chauncy, he had Barley in 1640, and, if so, the King was only to Fortify the Presentation. In 1661, then B. D. he was installed Prebend of Westminster S. p. 5; and dying July 1672, was buried in the Cloysters of the Abbey there. He wrote divers learned Pieces, and amonst the rest, the Epilogue to the Tragedy of the Church of England, for some part of which he was censured by his Friends.

Will. Chamberlain, B. D. Fellowship.

And June 21, 1660; with other of the Chief Sufferers, Mr. Gunning of Clare-Hall, Mr. Barrow, of Peter-House, were in the Letters Mand. to be created D. D. tho' I find Geo. Chamberlain A. M. in the same Letters, Feb. 13 after. I take the first for the Man clearly.

He was a very learned, sober, and charitable Man in the worst of Times, and noted for gathering Contributions towards the Polyglot-Bible, and other Loyal and Worthy Designs. He hath several Things extant, one entitled White-Salt, or Sober Correction, &c. Another of the *Pope's Infallibility. He died in 1663. He was in the Letters Mand. for D.D. July 28, 1660.

Tho. Sclater, A. M. Fellowship.

He was afterwards Knighted. He died Dec. 10, 1684, Ætat. 68, and was buried in the College-Chapel, and was a Benefactor to the Buildings of the College. I find one Tho. Sclater, A. M. who had been of this College, created M. D. at Oxon, in 1649. He was made a Bart. by Charles II. and was Sheriff of Camb. and Hants the 23d. of that King.

Charles Wheeler, A. M. Fellowship.

He was afterwards Sir Charles Wheeler.

This Gentleman, together with Dr. Meridith, Mr. Marshall, West Sen. Chamberlain, Willis, Barrey, one of the Cooks, Cowley, Arundel, Stacy, Cane, Apaleby, and Nichols,; were all ejected Apr. 18, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester. He was Son and Heir to Will. Wheeler of Martin-Hussingtree in Worcestershire Esq. and one employed in carrying the University Plate to the King. Aug. 11, 1660, being then a Kt. he was created farther to the Dignity of a Bart. and, for some part of the long Parl. 1601, was one of the Representatives of this University. In this Reign he was also Col. of a Regiment of Foot, and Governour of the Lec-ward-Islands.

islands. He died at his Seat of Lemington-Hastang in Warwickshire Aug. 26, 1683, Ætat. 64, being interred in the said Church, whose Grandson, Sir Will. Wheeler is the present Bart.

Abraham Cowley, A. M. Fellowship.

This most Celebrated Wit, was born in London, and elected to this College from Westminster-School. After his ejectment here, he retired to 't. John's-College Oxon: But quitting that University sometime before the Surrender of that Garrison to the Parl. he went to France; where he was received into the Family of the Lord Germin (afterwards Earl of St. Alban's) who afterwards defigned for him, the Mastership of the Savey; but was disappointed In this Exile he continued ten Years, partaking of the Sufferings, and Solliciting the Affairs of the Royal-Family. In 1656, he turned into Fngland, and was for fometime under Trouble; but at length complying with fome in Power, he got an Order to be created M. D. (as he after was) at Oxford. After which, he returned into France, and there continued to the Reftoration, when he came back into England, but was never rewarded for his Service. Whereupon he retired to a small Estate at Chertfey in Surry, given him by the Earl of St. Alban's, where he died in 1667; but his Relicks were brought to West minster, and lodged near to those of the famous Geoffing Chancer, Aug. 6, Æ at. 49.

Geo. Parish, A. M. Fellowship.

He occurs not in the List at the end of the Querela; but I am otherwise informed, that he was ejected, and his Name is added by Dr. Babington, together with his own, and that of Mr. Samways in a Copy of the Querela. One Geo. Parish, D.D. was Dec. 11, 1661; Collated to Wetstew, Prebendary in the Church of York; and was after Prebend also of South-

Southwell and Rippon. The Day before his Collation to Welflow, he was Collated to the Sub-Chancellor-ship at York, which he held to his Death in 1689, and lies buried at Wheldrake in that County, of which Place he was Rector.

Humphrey Babington, A.M. Fellowship.

The Names of the last three, are not in the List at the end of the Querela, but I am otherwise informed, they were dispossessed of their Fellowships. Dr. Babington, (for so he was afterwards) the last of them added his Name &c. (as before) in his Copy of the Querela, which was in the Possession of the late Mr. Baker of St. John's-College.

As for Dr. Babington, he survived the Usurpation, was restored to his Fellowship, became Vice-Master of the College, and a Writer against Poperv in the Reign of K. James II. and died in the College many Years after. I much doubt, whether he was the same as the Sequestrated Rector of Keyworth Nottingbamsbire, taking the Rector there to be Dr. Babington; hinted at by Dr. Walker in his Appendix to the Letter B. and Bp. Kennet calls the Rector there Dr. Babington. This Humphrey was only now A.M. unless ejected for the Engagement; and then he must B.D. However this, Jan. 11, 1660; he was admitted to the Rect. of Boothby-Paynel in Lincolnshire, on the Promotion of Bp. Saunderson, and died Yan. 4, 1691; Ætat. 75, and lies buried in the College-Chapel, to which he was a confiderable Benefactor.

Giles Holdsworth, A.B. Scholarship.

His Name is not in the Querela, as neither that of any other Scholar of any House. He was born in Gloucester, hire, and elected Scholar from Westmonster-School, in 1639; and was dispossessed a tew Years after. In 1646, he occurs Rector of Burton on the Hill, in his own County, and was the fame Year created A.M. at Oxford. He feems to have been confiderably read in the Fathers, and other old Authors, and to have been Honest, Loyal, and a Zealous Stickler for the Establishment of of the Church of England.

N. B. None of the foregoing Fellows, were under the Degree of A.M. and many of them B.D.

_____ Leech, ____ Scarlet, ____ Chaplainship.

I find, as to this College, that Nov. 7, 1645; it was ordered by Parl. that Mr. Harrison, Mr. Culverwell, Mr. Croydon Jun. and Mr. Bradshaw; should be made Senior Fellows of this College, and that the Master and eight Senior Fellows, should proceed to elect Fellows out of the Scholars capable to be chosen; or else to make up the Number elsewhere; St. John's and King's, to have the like Power; and Jesus and P. ter House, without presenting Names to any Bp. &c. for all which an Ordinance was directed to be brought in.

As fo lit le Notice yet appears of any of the Scholars, I observe, that Tho. Shawberry of this University, having called Mr. Pynnne, King Pynnne, and Rascal &c. he was sent for, as a Delinquent, fined 100l. to the King, and committed to the Gate-house, till he could pay the Fine; and Dr. Eden was directed to write to the University, that he might not be admitted to any farther Degree; this was Mar. 15, 1641; but May 10 after, he was ordered to Bail, this mighty Monarch, Mr. Pynnne, having been graciously pleased to forgive him.

By the above Account it appears, that Mr. Shaw-berry was already a Graduate.

I much wonder amongst the rest, no Notice should be taken amongst the ejected Fellows, of Bernard Hale, who was certainly one Cashiered among the rest, and observed, as an intimate Friend of Mr. Gunning of Clare-Hall, Mr. Barrow, and Mr. Aucher of Peter-House, Mr. Berwick of St. John's, and Mr. William Chamberlayne, and with these, amongst the first, in the Letters Mand. to be D.D. June 21, 1660; and on Sep. 22 following, he was Installed Archdeacon of Ely, and Prebend of the second Stall there; which last he resigned the next Year, having, Nov. 5, before, been chofen Master of Peter-House, and died Mar. 29, 1663; and lies buried in the Chapel. — He was a noble Benefactor to his College, having given 1001, to the Library &c. and by his Will, left them Lands 10 the Value of 7000l. to augment the Mastership, for the Organist and seven Scholarships, and to the successive Masters Gift, the Rect. of Glayston in Ruland-(bire, and the Rect. of Knapton in Norfolk.

There is a Memorial, now in the Paper-Office, given in by Dr. Nevile Master here, Entituled Reasons why the late obtained Grant for Westminster-School is thought to be inconvenient unto this College, touching the Election both of Scholars and Fellows; which has the following Paragraph:

Within the Suggestor's Remembrance, besides Doctors in all Faculties, to the Number of at least 60, Deans to the Number of 11, Public-Professors to the Number of 10, the two Archbishops of Canterbury and Tork, the most Rev. Fathers Whitgift and Hutton, and 7 other Principal Prelates viz. Fletcher of London, Still of Bath and Wells, Babington of Worcester, Redman of Norwich, Rudd of t. XV. EMANUEL-COLLEGE, 1584.

HIS College was built upon the Scite of the Monastery of the Preaching-Friars, of the Order of St. Dominick, commonly callced Black-Friars, first founded and endowed about A.D. 1280, by the Lady Alice Countess of Oxford, Daughter and Heir of Gilbert Baron of Stamford, Hereditary Lord Chamberlain to the Queens of England, Lord of Great Hormead in the County of Hertford and Weodburne in the County of Bedford; and Wife 19 Rob. Vere Earl of Oxford. After the suppression of Monasteries &c. by K. Henry VIII. the Friars being turned out, it became the Dwelling-Flouse of one Mr. Sherwood; of whom Sir Walter Mildmay Knt. formerly a Student in Christ-College, and a Benefactor to the fame; Chancellor and Treasurer of the Exchequer, Privy-Councellor to Q. Elizabeth; having purchased the said House, and obtained of the Queen a Licence or Charter of Incorporation, tounded Emanuel-College in this Place, to the Giorn of God, A: D. 1584, placing therein a Master, 3 Fellows, and 4 Scholars; to be maintained out of the Revenues he had endowed the faid College withal; who being a l'atron of the Puritans, defigned his College as a Nursery for that Party, and it was fo plentifully flock'd with them during the Great Rebellion, when the Loyal-Heads, Fellows, and Scholars were dispossessed, as to send out Colonies for filling almost half the University at that Time; but this Leaven has been happily purged out a good while fince. The Founder did little more than lay the Foundation, faying therefore of it; he had fet an Acorn, which in Time, as he hoped, might become an Oak.

REFORMATION A. D. 1643. There is nothing to be done.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Rich. Holdsworth, D.D. Mastership.

Deanry of Worcester, Margaret Professorship.

Archdeaconry of Huntingdon,

Divinity Reader at Gresham-College,

Rector of St. Peter's-Poor in London.

And

Another Living (the Name of which I cannot learn) given him by the Earl of Rutland.

He was born at Newcastle upon Tyne, (where his Father was Minister) A.D. 1590, He was bred in St. John's-College in this University; of which he was Scholar, Fellow, and Master; he had been some time Chaplain to Sir Hen. Hobart, Lord Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas; and had a Living given him in the West-Riding of Yorkshire, which he exchanged for the Rectory of St. Peter-Poor abovefaid, where he became a noted Preacher and much followed, more especially by the Puritans. And indeed he seems to have been the most Celebrated Preacher of his Time. Whilft he continued difcharging the Offices of a most faithful Pastor, at his Rectory of St. Peter-Poor, the great Sickness happened in 1625; which, however, could not drive him from his Pattoral Charge: And during his Residence there, he was chose Divinity Reader at Gresbam-College; afterwards Master of St. Fobn's-College in this University; which he quitted for that of this College; and was, said (Old Dr Chaderton, who had resigned that Mastership some time before, but still living in the College) The only Master he ever faw in that House. So excellently well did he Discharge that Government, as he did afterwards that of Vice-Chancellor for near three Years together, but was not suffered by the then Power, to continue out his last Year, but forced to leave the University, and retire, first into the Country, thence to London, where he lay concealed for some Time, and endeavouring to retire thence again, was feized and brought before the Parliament, who committed him Prisoner, first to Ely-House, and afterwards to the Tower, where he was detained near four Years at a vast Expence. Whilst he was thus Imprisoned, this University unanimously chose him to the Lady Margaret's Professorship, in the Room of Dr. Ward, then dead. While his Majesty was at Holdenby-House, he requested that this excellent Dr: might be allowed to attend him, among the other Divines whom he then fent for; but this was utterly denied; Yet he was afterwards permitted to wait on his Majesty at Hampton-Court, where he conferred on him the abovefaid Deanry, which he accepted (altho' he forefaw he could reap no Benefit by it) notwithstanding he had some Years before refused the Bishoprick of Bristol; however I think, the Times allowed him not to be Installed. After this the King again defired that he might attend him at the Isle of Wight, but it was not granted. But the Murder of his Sacred Majesty so deeply affected this Loyal and excellent Person, that he never enjoyed himself, or his Health after; but by continual Prayers, Fastings, Tears, and Grief, contracted a Black Jaundice, which ended with his Life the August following, Ætat. 58. In a Word, he was a Person of unspotted Life, which he passed over in a Chaste Celibracy; and was thereby enabled to Bequeath his Estate to Pious uses, and his Books to his College.

This worthy Doctor was also Prebend of Lincoln, and there too a Sufferer, (which Dr. Walker Query's) He was not duly Elected Master of St. John's, Dr. Beale, Master of Jesus, carrying away the Election from him. He exchanged his Living in

2ork-

Thire for St. Peter the Poor about 1625; chosen Divinity ready of Gresham-College in 1630; and May 21, 1642, was one of the few out of the Episcopal Clergy, who was nominated for a Place in the Affembly of Divines, in which however hardly any of them thought fit to fet. Feb. 2 after he was ordered to be fent for up, at his own Charges, for Licenfing Dr. Fernes Book, entitled, Rejolves in Cafes of Conscience. June 10, 1643, a Committee for the University having been appointed, they were directed among other things, to enquire into the State of Emanuel-College, and the behaviour of Dr. Holdsworth the Master, by what means he came in, and whether, in his behaviour fince, he had not forfeited the Place; to confider likewise of his Delinguency in Licenfing Books to the Scandal of the Parl. &c. And of a Sermon preached by him at Ely-House (where he was then Prisoner) on Sunday was Sen-night; and of his Letter touching the Archbp. of York's Books, bestowed by him many Years since on St. John's-College; and likewise what Governours of the Colleges had fent Plate to the King: On which they were to meet two Days after in the Exchequer Chamber. Off. 2 after, it was ordered he should not be admitted Margaret-Professor, till farther Orders, &c. and, for the better securing his Person, that he should be removed to the Tower, this Order was renewed on the 6th, and the Lieutenant of the Tower specially required that none of the Officers of the University might be admitted to him, to give him the Oath for admittance into that Office. Off. 27, 1643; the Order passed for his Sequestration at St. Peter the Poor, and John Sticland B. D. appointed there his Successor; he was not released till Oct. 31, 1645. when he was still ordered to be Confined within certain Limits, and to give Security, not tod o any thing, by Word, Advice, or otherwise, to the Prejudice of the Parl. He died Aug: 22, 1649, Ætat. 58; and was buried in the Church of St. Peter the Poor, where fee his Monument.

He was succeeded in his Headship by Mr. Tuckney; whom Dr. Pierson in his Lite of this most worthy Divine, calls a Boston Minister

Rob. Soresby, B.D. after D.D. Fellowship:

He was born in the County of York, and in 1661, was made Præcentor of that Church, and dyed Aug. 15, 1683, Ætat 74; buried in that Carhedral. He is remembred among the Benefactors to the New Chapel of this College.

Will. Sandcroft, A.M. Fellowship.

This Great and most excellent Person, was born at Fresing field in Suffolk Jan 30, 1616; and in his tender Years gave many Proofs of his future Greatness, in a very early Piety, and extraordinary advances in Learning. In what Year he was fent to this College, or became Fellow of it, I cannot find; but his Progress in Classic Learning, as well Greek as Latin, was fo furprizing, that it made him very much taken Notice of, and at last recommended him to the Knowledge of all the learned Bps. of the Age; Bp. Cozen more especially, who singled him out, not only for his Chaplain, but for his Friend and Confident; and bestowed on him, as I suppose, a Prebend of Durbam; to which he was admitted in 1661. But before that Time he had fpent some Years in France and Italy, among the most learned Men of those Countries. Soon after his admission to the Mastership, he was advanced to the Deanry of York, and in 1664, removed to that of St. Paul's; and in 1668, to the Archdeaconry of Canterbury. He had likewise the Restory of Houghton in the Spring, in the County of Durham. In 1677, he was unexpectedly advanced to the Archiepiscopal-Chair of Canterbury, without the least Inclination of his own. June 8, 1688, he was with fix other Bps. fent to the Tower, for refuling to order his Majesty's Declaration of Indulgence, &c. to be read; but acquitted with the rest, the 20th of the same Month. In Dec. the same Year, he concurred with the Lords, the Mayor of London, &c. in a Declaration to the Prince of Orange for a Free Parl. and due Indulgence to Protestant-Dissenters; but when that Prince was declared King, he refused the Oaths, and was by Act of Parl. deprived of his Bishoprick. After which he lived in the utmost Retirement, at the Place of his Nativity, where he died and was buried as aforefaid. was a Man of fingular Prudence and Integrity, a very Wife and good Man; and one of uncorrupt Sincerity. He had a vast Multitude of Papers and Collections, and therein more perhaps wrote by his own Hand, than any Man, either of this or the last Age, ever did write, faith Mr. Wharton, in his Preface to the Tryal of Archbp. Laud. He had made a most valuable Collection of Books, which he defigned for the Library at Lambeth; but afterwards gave them to this College, to which he was a great Benefactor.

I find also Mr. Holbeche, Mr. Wright, and Mr. Hall of this College, pronounced Non Socii by the House of Commons, in 1642, for being Superannuated. If that Sentence had no more Justice in it; than most of the rest of their Votes and Resolutions had, these Gentlemen ought to be look'd on and incerted as ejected Fellows of this House; of the first of these,

Tho. Holbeche, B.D. Fellowship:

And

Epping Vicaridge.

He was born, if I mistake not, in Warwicksbire, and sometime Beneficed, as I have heard, in OxB b fordsbire, fordshire. He was admitted to this Vicaridge Mar. 16, 1641; and dispossessed of it about Oct. 1643, by the House of Commons. Upon the Return of his Majesty, he was, as I guess, Restored to it. In Aug. 1660, was made Prebend of St. Paul's, and in Aug. 1662, the Dean and Chapter of that Church gave him the Rectory of St. Augustine's. (See Masters.) The second, Ezekiel Wright, B.D. Fellowship.

He was born at Dunnington in Suffolk, became B.D. Rector of Thurcaston in Leicestershire, and was Father to the late excellent Lord Keeper. The last of them, Nich. Hall, D.D. Fellowship.

Loughborongh Rectory, in Leicestershire.

He was a very worthy Man, born at Newcastle, of a very good Family; being by the Death of his Brother, a Baronet. Perhaps he became D. D. after his ejectment; or it may be after the Restoration, if he Surviv'd it; Quære.

Concerning the three last mentioned Fellows, observed by Walker to be pronouced Non Socii by the House in 1642. These things appear from the Parl. Journals; Mar. 22, 1641, Mr. Wright, Hall, and Holbeche (so placed in order) were declard by Vote to be Superannuated Fellows, and so to have no Vote themselves in the Election of Fellows, this appears done in order to exclude Mr. Hodges from a Fellowship, who had been elected by their Votes.
On the 29th of the same Month, they were all Voted Non Socii, on the Statute de mora Sociorum, notwithstanding any Dispensation; and the Master and Fellows were required to fill their Places by a new Election at the same Time. John Worthington was Voted Fellow in Opposition (no doubt) to Mr. Hodges before mentioned, and was after Master of Jesus-College. Aug. 8 after, it was moved, that, to the Bill about this College, the Word Suspension should be added, and Mr. Holbeche, Harris, and Hall inserted, and the Order to extend to Superannuated Persons for the Time to come, all which was affented to. June 10, 1643, Mr. Hall was fent for, as a Delinquent, for not obeying the Order of the House of Mar. 29 before, which declared him non Socius. From this Account, and what appears elfewhere, it feems, the College did not think fit to conform to these Orders, as Mr. Wright had after the Rectory of Thurcaston, and Mr. Hall that of Loughborough, (both in the College Gift) from which he was Sequestraed after, if the same Person with Nicholas Hall, D.D. as in Walker, which he doubts. Mr. Wright had been presented by the King to Dunnington Rectory in Suffolk; (the Place of his birth) April 3, 1637; but this took not effect, as Lyonel Gafford B. D. Fellow of Jesus-College, was presented thereto the same Year, and after there Sequestrated. He was Father to Sir Nathan Wright, late Lord Keeper, whose Heir is George Wright of Gothurst in Bucks, Esq; and Member of Parliament for the Town of Leicester. As for Mr. Holbeche, he was the fame, plainly, as Vicar of Epping, and there Sequestrated by Vote October 30, 1643. July 28, 1660, he was in the King's Letters to be Created D.D. the same Year Prebend of St. Paul's, and March 9, 1675, Elected Master of his College, and died in Ostober 1680.

Mary's-Church, being then Erected.

It was Founded by the Lady Frances Sidney, Countels of Suffex, (the Daughter of Will. Sidney made Kt. Banneret at Flodden-Fight, and Steward of the Houshold to K. Edward VI. Sister to Hen. Sidney Kt. of the Garter, and Lord President of Wides, Aunt to Philip Sidney, Baron Sidney, Vifcount Lifle, Earl of Leicester, Lord Chamberlain to Q. Anne; and Widow to Tho. Radcliffe, third Earl of Suffex, who dying in 1589, without Issue; by her Will, bearing date Dec. 6, 1588, left 5000l. besides her Goods unbequeathed, to be laid out in Founding a College in the Town of Cambridge, by the Name of the College of the Lady Frances Sidney Suffex. Her Executors, were, Hen. Gey, fifth Earl of Kent, and her Nephew, Sir John Harrington, (afterwards Lord Harrington) of Exton in the County of Rutland; whom she appointed for the Purchasing competent Lands for the Maintenance of one Mafter, 10 Fellows, and 20 Scholars. But if in Case the Legacy was not sufficient for Erecting and Endowing such College, then the same should go towards the enlarging of Clare-Hall in Bb 3

the said Town of Cambridge, and for Maintaining so many Fellows and Scholars therein, who were to enjoy the same Liberties, Customs and Privileges, as the Fellows and Scholars of that Foundation. She also appointed John Whitgist, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Gab. Goodman, Dean of Westminster, Overseers of her Will.

These Executors, in Order to Perform the Trust reposed in them, Purchased of Trinity-College, a Parcel of Ground, with some ancient Buildings thereon (formerly called the Grey-Friars) given that College by Henry VIII. after the Dissolution of Monasteries; procuring the same to be passed unto them in Fee-Farm by Act of Parl. and thereupon they began the Foundation, May 20, 1596, and sinished the same in three Years; endowing it according to the Will of the Donor, and added much of their own Generosity thereto. But sinding that what was left of her Legacy (after Purchasing, Building, and other Expences) was not a sufficient Maintenance for so many Fellows as were at first intended; they reduced the 10 Fellowships to seven.

CURIOSITIES.

CURIOSITIES.

The CHAPEL, which was formerly the Dornitory of the Grey-Friars, as do plainly appear by the Cavities in the Walls, where the Friars used to repose themselves. Another Observation on this Chapel is, that, (contrary from all others I ever saw) it stands North and South; and it is said, that Mass was publickly said here in the Time of K. James II.

The LIBRARY, is a pretty Apartment, and well filled with useful Books.

The HALL, is a very spacious Room, and was wholly Repaired and Beautified within these two Years, and is a Grand Apartment.

The Lodge, hath many neat Rooms, with a praty Flower Garden adjoining.

The Fellows Garden &c. is a most delightful Place, having a Noble Bowling-Green, a fine Alcove, and Spacious Gravel-Walks.

REFORMATION, A. D. 1643

Dec. 30, We faw nothing there to be amended.

A List of the ejected Loyalists.

Samuel Ward, D.D. Mastership, Archdeaconry of Taunton, Prebend of Ampleford in the Church of York, Margaret-Professorship of Divinity,

And

Much-Munden, R. in Hertfordsbire.

He was born at Bishops-Middleham in the Bishoprick of Durham, of an ancient Family. He was first Scholar of Christ's, afterwards Fellow of Emaxuel, &c. He was Chaplain to the King, had served ved in Convocation, had been Chaplain to Bp. Montague, one of the English Divines at the Synod of Dort; and being esteemed a Puritan, was Nominated one of the Committee for Religion, which fat in the Ferusalem-Chamber in 1640; as likewise one of the Assembly of Divines; but he never vouchfafed them his Company. On the contrary, upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he joined with the other Heads of the Houses, in sending the College Plate to his Majesty. He was likewise in the Convocation-House, when all the Members of the University, there Assembled (many of them 60 Years old and upwards) were kept Prisoners in the Public Schools, in an exceeding cold Night, till near one in the Morning, without any Accommodation for Food, Firing, or Lodging; and to compleat this Outrage, it was done on Good-Friday, whence it may be supposed they went with empty Stomachs, and all this for no other Reason, but because they could not in Conscience comply to contribute any thing to that Detestable War against his Majesty. After this he was Plunder'd and Imprison'd, both in his own, and St. John's-College. During this Confinement, he contracted a Difease, which put an end to his Life, in fix Weeks after he obtained his Liberty. He was a most Excellent Governour, and an exact Disciplinanian in his College; which Flourished so much under him, that 4 new Fellowships were Founded in his Time, and new Buildings erected, and the Scholarships augmented; and 'twas currently reported, that he died in great Want.

He was, with Dr. Brownrigge, Master of Katherine-Hall, April 23, 1642; approved of for the two Divines in this University, to be consulted with in the Business of the Church. (See him among the Masters.)

R.b.

Rob. Bertie, A.M. Fellowship.

Of whom I find this Note, Regis Mandato Admissus, Temporum Injuria Pulsus. He was ejected by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 8, 1644. He was third Son to the Earl of Lindsey, and Kt. of the Garter, the Kings General at the Battle of Edge-Hill, in which he nobly lost his Life, and had, as some say, taken Arms for his Majesty; but a Relation of his said, that was a Mistake. He was a Charitable good Man, and died in 1708.

Seth Ward, A.M. Fellowship.

He was born at Bunting ford in Hertfordshire, and became Servitor to Dr. Ward the Suffering Mafter of this House; who being much taken with his Parts and Industry, got him in upon the Foundation. When he was ejected, he was invited to Refide at feveral Places; but he Preferred that of Ralph Freeman's, Esq; at Aspendenin his ownCounty, where he continued off and on, till 1649; about which Time, being with the Lord Wenman at Thames in Oxfordsbire; Mr. Greaves the Astronomy-Professor in Oxford, laboured to get him for his Successor in that Lecture, after he himself had been turned out, which was accordingly effected. But it must not be concealed, that Mr. Ward, had, at that Time, very much degenerated from his former Principles, and even taken the Engagement. He was some Time Chaplain to Bp. Brownrigge, who Collated him in 1649, or 1650, to the Chauntery of Exeter; as also to a Canonry and Prebend in the same Church in 1660. In 1654, he proceeded D. D. at Oxford, after which he was elected Prefident of TrinityTrinity - College in Oxford, but was forced foon after to quit it to the right Owner. Afterwards he had St. Laurence-Jewry Conferred upon him by his Majesty. In 1661, he became Dean of Exeter, and about the same Time F. R. S. In 1662, Nominated to that See, and in 1667, Translated to Sarum. He was also Chancellor of the Garter. and procured that Honour to be annex'd to that See. He was a most Charitable Man; built and endowed a noble College for ten Clergy-Mens Widows, in the Close at Sarum: He also built an Hospital at the Place of his Nativity, for ten Poor aged Men, with a Stipend of 101. per Annum each; and Founded 6 Scholarships at Christ-College at Cambridge. He died Fan. 6, 1688; and was buried in his Cathedral.

John Lawson, A.M. Fellowship.

He died in College, not long after his ejection; being presented to the Living of Bramsburten in Yorkshire, but lived not to be Inducted.

Sam. Pawfon, A. M. Fellowship.

He was pluck'd from the Communion-Table as he was ready to give that Holy Sacrament, before the Solemn Election of a Master of this College, and thrown into Prison. He was also dispossessed of his Fellowship; afterwards, notwithstanding this outragious Treatment, he submitted to the Plunderers; and was rewarded for it with a Fellowship* of St. John's-College. So that he scarce deserves to be mentioned here.

Fuller allows him to be a Poet in all Things, except his Wealth. Queen Elizabeth was his Godmother; and his Father, for carrying a Letter to that Princess (before she was Queen) was Imprisoned 12 Months in the Tower. His Mother also, being Servant to the Princess, was Sequestrated from her, and his Father injoined not to keep keep Company with her; so that on both Sides he was endeared to that Queen. ———— Besides a Volume of Epigrams, he published an excellent Translation of Ariost. Orlando Fuaioso, Dedicated to the Lady Elizabeth, afterwards Queen of Bohemia.

William Bates, D.D. Minister of St. Dunstan's in the West London; and might have had any Bprick in the Kingdom, if he would have Deserted the Cause and Principles which he espoused. He published the Lives of several eminent Persons in Latin, which being Valuable and difficult to come by, he put them in one Volume which he Entituled, Batesij Vitæ Selestæ. He died at Hackney, A. D. 1699, and left behind him some Sermons.

See Pembroke-Chapel.

ceffors, as far as it could be done; that John Herwardflock, and Robert de Littling, might have Leave to Settle on them one Messuage with its Appurtenances, in Cambridge, which had been the Habitation of the Bretheren of the Penance of Jesus Christ, held of the King in Capite, in Burgage, and by the Service of one Penny per Annum, and also that Richard de Aylsham and John de Felmingham (both Norsolk Gentlemen) might Settle in like manner, one other Messuage, on the said College in Perpetuity, to be held by them without any Danger from the aforesaid Statute; the accustomed Services, &c. due to the Crown, and chief Lords, being reserved.

May 15, 1629, 5 Charles 1. The King fetting forth, in his Directions to this College, that having been certified by the Bps. of London, Winton, Ely and Norwich; to whom the Petition of the Students in the faid College, more than once made to his Majesty, had been Referred for Examination; complaining concerning a certain Statute in Chapter the 12th of their Statute-Book, Entituled A Statute published by the unanimous Confent of John Warkworth, Master of the said College, and the Fellows of the same, for putting an End to the Partial Affection for any particular County, which had never been found of Benefit, but to the great Damage, not only of the College, but also of many of his Subject throughout the Realm; being defirous therefore to provide for the College safety, and the greater increase there of good Letters, he did then therefore, by his Royal Authority, Constitute and Ordain, that, in the Elections made by the Master and Fellows, they should be no ways bound for the Future, to the observance of the lai Statute, but that, in its Place, as to all the use and effect thereof, should be substituted a fit and equal Change and Modification of the fame in this Form, viz. which were, or should be thereafter Elected, should be divided into two Parts, one confined as to Birth. to the Counties of Westmorland, Northumberland, Cumberland, Durham, York, Lancaster, Chester, Derly, Stafford, Nottingbam, Leicester, Lincoln, Salop, Worcester, Warwick, Rutland, Northampton, Norfolk, Bedford, and Huntingdon, with the Welsh Counties of Anglesey, Carnarvan, Flint, Merioneth, Montgomery, and Denbigh; the other Part to the Counties of Cambridge, Suffolk, Effex, Hertford, Middlefex, Bucks, Oxon, Gloucester, Hereford, Dorfet, Monmouth, Cornwall, Devon, Smerfet, Wilts, Southampton, Berks, Surry, Suffex, and Kent, with the Welfb Counties of Pembroke, Carmarthan, Cardigan, Glamorgan, Radnor, and Brecon. But if, by the King's special Dispensation, any one of the Scotch Nation, should be found at any Time amongst the Fellows of the said House, or any Foreigner, the King appointed, whoever was first admitted, or should be, that he should have Place in the first Division of the Counties, and the next in the fecond, and so alternately from Time to Time, that no Confusion might arise, from the admission of any such, in this Ordinance for the Partition of the Fellows. Moreover, that it should not be Lawful to have more than two Fellows for any one County at the fame Time; except in Cambridgesbire, with the Isle of Ely, whence the College received the greatest Part of its Rents and Profits, and for Middlesex, with the City of London, whence it had its chief Support for the Education of its Scholars; for both which Counties, there might at the same Time be four Fellows. Commanding in the last Place, that this his Constitution and Modification of the above Statute, in its Room and Place, in all Elections, as well of the Master as Fellows, should by them, according to the Tenor of an ancient Statute in the tenth Chapter of Cc 4 their Cardinal Pole, Archbishop of Canterbury and Chancellor of both Universities, having been thought by some of the Romish Zealots, more Remiss than he should have been, in burning and perfecuting the poor Protestants, as had been done by Bonner Bp. of London, and some other Bps. would however shew his Zeal in burning the Bodyes of some that were Dead, if he spared those that were Living. For this Purpose he Resolved on a Visitation of this University, partly to rectify the Statutes of it, but principally to Exercise some more than ordinary Rigour on the dead Bodyes of Martin Bucer and Paulus Fagius, the first of whom had been Divinity-Professor, and was solemnly Interred in the Church of Great St. Maryes, the other Hebrew-Professor, and buried in the Church of St. Muchael. In order to this Visitation, he Delegated his Power to one Ormanet, an Italian, the Pope's Datary,

Datary, Dr. Cuthbert Scott, Master of Christ, and Bp. of Chester, Dr. Thomas Watson, Master of St. John's, and Bp. elect of Lincoln; John Christopherfon, Master of Trinity-College, Bp. elect of Chichester; and Dr. Hen. Cole, Dean of St. Paul's, and Provost of Eton, with whom were joined as Commissioners, Dr. Hen Perne, Master of Peterbouse, and Vice-Chancellor, some Drs. in Divinity, Sir Fames Dver, Knt. Serjeant at Law, and then Recorder of Cambridg, with certain others in the Name of the King and Queen. The Commissioners arriving at Cambridge Jan. 9, 1556, when the rest there were ready to receive them; the next Day they interdicted the Churches abovementioned for daring to entertain the dead Bodyes of fuch desperate Heretics, on this Occasion a Speech was made by Stokes, the University Orator, to which Bishop Scott returned the Answer; the Latin Sermon being Preached by Mr. Peacocke, (the fame, no doubt, as Matter of Queen's) against Sects and Heretics. to which he added a folemn Mass, by way of beginning to this weighty Business, the Preparation being over, a Petition is presented to the Delegates in the Name of the Vice-Chancellor, and Heads of the University, for taking up the Bodyes of the faid Martin Bucer, and Paulus Fagius, that some Legal Proceedings might be had against them, to the Terrour of others, in Regard to the many Dangerous and Heretical Doctrines by them formerly taught. The Petition being granted, and Orders given accordingly, a Public Citation is fet up at St. Maryes Church, the Market-Place, and the common Schools, Requiring the faid dead Persons, or any other in their Names, or Behalf; to appear before the Lords-Commissioners on Monday the 18th, to Answer to such Articles, as then and there should be objected against them; on the Day set, neither the

the Dead nor Living making any appearance, their Crimes might be taken pro Confessis; but the Court (to proceed impartially) was willing to proceed by Witnesses, and for this End, took the Depositions of feveral Persons, touching the Doctrine taught by the faid Heriticks; and then upon mature Deliberation, Condemned them of Herely, ordered them to be taken out of their Graves, Degraded them from all Holy Orders, and delivered to the Secular Magistrate. Of all this, an Account is given to the Cardinal-Delegate, who is defired to take fome Courfe, that the ordinary Writ de Comburendo Heretico, might be taken out, and fent to the Mayor of Cambridge, in order to the Execution of the Sentence; the Writ being come down, on Saturday the 6th of Feb., the Coffins being carried on Men's Shoulders to the Market-Place, under a Guard well Armed, for fear of an Escape, they were chained to two Posts, the Fire put to them, and the Bodyes burned, together with as many of their Books, as could be gotten, which were cast into the same Flames; however, foon after the Accession of Q. Elizabeth, they were publickly Restored to their former Honours, a folemn Commemoration of them being held in the University, Mr. James Pilkington, Malter of St. John's, and soon after Bp. of Durban, Preaching the Sermon, and Mr. Ackworth, the Orator Pronouncing the Panegyric, who spared no part of a good Oration, in setting forth their due Fraises, and deserved Commendations.

1. SIR Thomas Smith, L. L. D. 1542; Fellow of Queen's, he was after Chancellor of Ely, then knighted and made Secretary of State, next Provost of Eton, and in 1546 Dean of Carlisle, when, 'tis probable, he resigned here.

"Of all who acknowledge my " Authority, let none dare to give Sounds according to his " own private Judgment, different from the Custom of the " present Age, to Letters either Greek or Latin." University Printers.

RINTING had not been long used in England before it was brought hither, but by whom it is difficult to ascertain, tho' it may be supposed that Caxton, (who is faid to be the first that brought this curious art into England, and was a Cambridgesbire Man, born at Caxton in that Countty, from which he takes his Name) might Erect a Press at Cambridge, as well as at Westminster, under the Care of one of his Servants; (for it is Conjectured, he brought several from Germany with him) The first Book we find an Account of, that was Printed here, is a Piece of Rhetoric, by one Gull. de Saona, a Minorite; Printed at Cambridge 1478; given by Archbp. Parker to Bennet College Library. It is in Folio, the Pages not Numbered, and without ketch Word, or Signatures.

There was one John Sibert, a Printer at Lyons, in the Year 1498; who Probably was the John Siberch, that Settled here, and stiled himself the First in England. that printed both Greek and Latin. He was acquainted with Erafinus, who mentions him in a Letter, dated Dec. 25, 1525.

I find feveral Books, Printed by the faid Siberch in 1521 and 1522.

No Books were Printed here from 1522, till the Year 1584; when

Thomas Thomas, A. M. formerly Fellow of King's College, fet up and followed the art of Printing here, and was Printer to the University, as well as an Author; he lived in great Esteem for many Years, and died in 1588. He was buried in Great St. Mary's Church, Aug. 9, the same Year.

I find many Books Printed by him in the Years 1584, 1586, 1587 and 1588; he was by Martin Marprelate, stiled the Puritan Cambridge Printer.

John Legate, 1589; Citizen and Stationer of London, succeeded him as University Printer. He married Agatha, daughter of Christopher Barker, Esq; the King's Printer, by whom he had a Son who followed the same business in London, before and after his Fathers death.

Legate, in an Edition of Thomasius's Dictionary, expressing the great Care the Author took to perfect it, says, he took such pains as ill suited his Health; so wholly imploying his Thoughts thereon, as to spare neither his Time, Fortune, or Himself; with which great Care and Eagerness, for the service of Learning, he threw himself into so grievous a Disease, as carried him off the Stage.

Legate continued in this Office till 1607, (when he refigned) and was the first that used the Impression of the ALMA MATER CANTABRIGIE, and round it. HINC LUCEM ET POCULA SACRA used ever since.

In the Year 1626; John Legate aforesaid being lately Deceased; Licence was granted to John his Son.

He was buried Nov. 16, 1688, in Great St. Mary's Church.

John Field, 1654; and in 1655, built the large Shop or Printing-house now in use, the University having (for that purpose) taken a lease for a Term of Years of Queen's College, of the Ground whereon the said shop, the Dwelling-house thereto

^{*} Thomas Cronwnfield had been now Printer upwards of 8 years, yet Hayes was still Printer also, (for according to the Statutes of the University, they are allowed to have three) and from 1696 to 1707, when Hayes died; we find they had two, and two seperate Printing-houses, that now in use, where Hayes Printed, and the Anatomy School and Elaboratory, where Crownfield Printed, and was built in 1696 See Copy for that Purpose, and so continued till Hayes died, when Crosunfield removed to the other, (and from that Time, this new Printinghouse became the Anatomy School, &c,) From which Time they have had but one Printing-house, tho' for many years after, they had two Printers and Jonathan Pindar, who died in 1743, went under that Denomination, and had a yearly Stipend as such to his death, but as no body has fince been chosen to fucceed him; we may suppose the University intend to contique but onc.

fucceeded Hayes as sole Printer in 1707, (when Hayes died) he died in 1742, and lies buried in Crownfield died not till 1742, and continued in the Printing-house till then, his fuccessor was chose in 1739, faid Crownfield being so Infirm as to be incapable of doing the Business) born at Ely, and Free of the Stationers Company. He is allowed by all good Judges to be as great a Proficient in that Mystery as any in England; which the Cambridge Common Prayer Books and Bibles, lately Printed by him, will fufficiently evince.
